

Shine-Verling Vows Said In Lakeview St. Patrick's

LAKEVIEW — In a double-ring ceremony and Nuptial Mass, Laura Verling became the bride of John Shine in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Lakeview, at 10 a.m. on Saturday, February 15, the Rev. James O'Connor officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick W. Fitzgerald of Lakeview and Shine is the son of

The bride's gown was previously worn by her sister, Mrs. Jeremiah Fitzgerald of San Francisco, who was matron of honor for this occasion. The basic floor-length skirt of white satin was covered with two full skirts, one of net and another of silk tulle. Underneath the layers of tulle was an apron panel of Chantilly lace.

Shine was best man for his cousin. Ushers were Tom McCarthy of Klamath Falls, another cousin, and George Verling, also of Klamath Falls, a brother of the bride.

Closest family representative for the bridegroom was his sister, Mrs. Richard Kelly of Plush. She wore a gray silk brocade suit with white accessories, and an orchid corsage.

wedding cake, and Mrs. William Verling, the bride's sister-in-law, circulated the guest book.

For her going away costume Mrs. Shine wore a champagne colored suit with collar of mink. Her shoes and bag were in the brown tones of the mink, with hat and gloves of pink. She wore an orchid corsage.

The couple headed south with San Francisco as the focal point for a 10-day wedding trip. They are now at home, 24 So. H. Street, Lakeview.

Following her schooling in Lakeview, the bride attended Armstrong's Business College and has been employed as bookkeeper by the Fremont Sawmill Company in Lakeview. Her husband is a rancher and stockman in Warner Valley.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Fitzgerald from San Francisco, out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. Doherty of Burns.

The sooner you send a wedding gift after receiving an invitation the better. The gifts that arrive early are the ones the bride has time to enjoy mentally "placing" in her new home, showing to friends, etc. Gifts that arrive just before the wedding often find the bride too busy and rushed to thoroughly appreciate each individual gift.

PAST PRESIDENTS, Mrs. Bert Hawkins, second from the right, and others left to right, Mrs. Raymond Dunn, Mrs. Cliff Kenyon, Mrs. Wallace Westin, Mrs. T. J. O'Hara and Mrs. John Putnam, pouring, were honored at a Founders' Day tea in the Mills School auditorium on February 12.

After the program tea was served by members of the executive board with past presidents pouring. The lace covered table was centered with an arrangement of red tulips, red and white carnations and acacia.

Harried Hostess Is Not Happy One

The harried hostess is all too familiar to all of us. She greets her guests looking tired and it's obvious that she's cleaned the whole house for the party. In addition to cleaning, she has cooked all day or perhaps two days. The joy has gone out of the occasion for her and, most likely, for her guests, too, when they observe her weariness.

There's only one solution to this: sufficient rest. And this, in turn, can only be accomplished by planning. Planning will permit you to take two half-hour naps the day of the party.

This may not seem much but you'll be surprised at the difference they'll make in skin and eyes. They'll restore the shine to your eyes and the freshness to your skin and, most important, will cushion your nerves and give you a chance to enjoy your own party right along with your guests.

Gloves were designed to wear. So don't crush them in one hand or dangle them limply. But them on—and look smart.

the late Mr. and Mrs. John Shine of Newmarket, County Cork, Ireland. Mr. Fitzgerald escorted the bride to the altar.

The red and white valentine theme was chosen for church decorations with arrangements of red and white stock on the center altar and baskets of white stock on each side of the sanctuary. Red tulips were on the side altars, and all arrangements were framed with large bows of red ribbon.

The close-fitting bodice and full-length sleeves were of lace, with scallops of the lace framing the neckline. A coronet of seed pearls held the fingertip veil, and the bride carried a white prayer book with streamers of stephanotis.

The honor attendant wore a red ballerina length frock of tulle with matching coronet and red satin slippers. Her bouquet was of candy-stemmed carnations.
