

Video's Special Effects Group Gets Tough Jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — Rain, snow, fog, cobwebs, magic lamps and several hundred other things cannot be bought in a store around the corner, yet television viewers take them quite for granted on the home screen.

All those acts of nature and super-natural feats of the imagination you see when viewing CBS-TV programs from New York are the legdemain of a special department entitled, appropriately enough, Special Effects.

In the words of C. Huntley Rylander, head of the department, "Give us money and time enough and we'll create the desired special effect."

How about a little snow—just in the studio, please?

That's easy for Special Effects. Its technicians merely want to know if you wish wet snow or snow that falls and can be packed into snowballs. Exactly how they do it they decline to say. It's a trade secret. But it sure enough looks like snow.

Then there's fog—two kinds. Aerial mist is created with oil and thin heat. Ground fog is created by using carbon dioxide with steam introduced.

U.S. Movie Actress Raps Import Of Foreign Stars

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Foreign sirens, go home" is the blunt cry from domestic beauty Elaine Stewart, who argues Hollywood producers should ignore the Loretas and Bardots and give American girls a chance.

"What's the matter with our own girls?" asked Miss Stewart.

"There are hundreds of girls around Hollywood who have just as much beauty, talent and chest expansion as those foreign dolls," she said.

"The producers don't have to go looking all over the world for actresses; they can find them two blocks from the studios."

"What is the advantage of getting all those foreigners? To help the foreign film industries? They wouldn't do as much for us. You don't see them hiring Americans. I suppose producers think having foreign stars will help their pictures in foreign countries. That's silly. The foreigners don't care about their own stars; they want to see Americans."

"American beauty is what made Hollywood movies great. Think of Lombard, Loretta Young, Lana Turner, Ginger Rogers. The studios aren't developing anyone like that today; they're going abroad for girls."

Elaine isn't complaining for herself. But she feels for her fellow actresses; she claims they're adding to the ranks of U.S. unemployed.

Country Club Takes Action

John West, a member of the Oregon Golf Association for 18 years, will represent Reames Golf and Country Club at its annual meeting to be held in Portland March 7 at the Riverside Golf and Country Club.

Dick Marks, Merrill, will understate West through 1958 and take over the OGA directorship in 1959. Marks has also been selected by the Reames board to act as chairman of the rules and handicap committee for 1958 according to West.

Other action taken by the Reames board at a recent meeting include new house rules for opening and closing hours and rental fees were set for the use of the clubhouse. Chairman of the house committee is Ralph Hemmich with Don Hutton in charge of the bar and dining room.

Jim Gilliland, who heads the golf committee, announced that Reames will be represented in the pro-president tournament to be held in Portland April 11 at the Riverside Golf and Country Club.

New members of Reames include James Inglesby and Andy Kaudson, Klamath Union High School; Dick Wendt, Car-Ad-Co; and Barney Cavanaugh of Smith Bates Printing.

Club members are reminded of the dance to be held at the clubhouse March 8. Officers and their wives stationed at Kingsley Field are in charge of the dance which promises to be "out of this world" according to the invitations mailed last week.

New Sack Look Praised By Buxom Screen Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Paris' new fashion look — the sack and the trapeze — found a champion today in the last person one would expect — an amply-endowed starlet.

So far Hollywood, where bosom is queen, has not adopted the look that tries to hide the fact that girls are girls. But blonde Julie Helling is all for it.

"I came to Hollywood two years ago from Branson, Mo.," she declares, "and all I have done since is take drama lessons and pose for cheesecake photos. I couldn't get a part in a movie until the House of Dior made sack dresses."

Julie is quite a dish. She has legs like Betty Grable and a bosom line like Jayne Mansfield. She's pretty too.

"Every time I went on an interview at a studio, I always got the same answer: 'Honey, this is a serious role, not a comedy. You're just too much for the part.'"

She speaks the truth. Movie producers look upon the voluptuous girls only as comedienne, especially if they're blondes. Academy records show that a girl with a 40-inch bosom or larger has never before been nominated for an Oscar.

"I'm not a comedy type girl," Julie moans. "I study serious dramatics."

So far she has helped pay for her lessons with walk-on bills on the George Gobel and Steve Allen TV shows.

"All I have to do is walk across a stage in a brief costume while the comic ogles me. I get more laughs than he. It's horrible."

Julie wore a sack dress a few months ago.

"My agent called me in a restaurant and told me to be at Columbia Studios in 15 minutes to read for a party in 'Cowboy' starring Glenn Ford and Jack Lemmon. They wanted sexy-looking party girls for a brawl scene in a Chicago hotel. I didn't have time to change into a revealing dress so I wore my sack."

It was about her 50th movie interview — all without much success — but the casting director took one look at her and said: "Honey, the part's yours."

Since then her sack dress has gotten her roles in such pictures as "The Helen Morgan Story," "Darby's Rangers" and "The Deep Six."

Critic Feted By Actors

NEW YORK (AP) — An old Broadway tradition — theater people should display only malice to the newspapermen who review their efforts — was cracked last night.

Leading lights of the legitimate theater gave Brooks Atkinson, drama critic of the New York Times, a good notice.

One hundred and thirty of them showed up at a restaurant to pay him tribute. Since 1922, with time out for a tour as a war correspondent, Atkinson has been the Times' theater critic.

Atkinson's wife, Oriana, led him to the restaurant. He thought it was to drop in at the anniversary of producer Lee Strasberg and his wife.

Atkinson received a tray autographed by the guests. In a short speech he predicted he will "never get over this" and summed up his critical efforts by saying: "I have tried to be on the level."

Police Guard Church Official

BOSTON (AP) — Police maintained a guard over Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing today after a telephoned threat against him.

A man who telephoned police yesterday said: "I'm going to kill the Archbishop. I'm also going to blow up the Cathedral."

Despite the threat, the Archbishop kept speaking engagements in Chelsea and Lowell. In both cities he was under heavy guard.

Ex-Steel Head, Senator Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lawrence C. Phipps, 95, an associate of Andrew Carnegie in the steel business and a former U.S. senator from Colorado, died Saturday night.

He was 18 when he joined the Carnegie company in Pittsburgh as a millhand. When it merged with U.S. Steel in 1900 he was one of its top executives. He was only 38 when he retired to Denver as one of the largest individual stockholders in the newly formed giant of the steel industry.

He was elected to the Senate in 1918, reelected in 1924. Since 1931 he had devoted himself to his business investments.

Surviving are his widow; three sons — Lawrence, Allan and Gerald Phipps, all of Denver; and three daughters, Mrs. William White of Haverford, Pa., and Mrs. Van Holt Garrett and Mrs. Donald Bromfield of Denver. Funeral services will be conducted in Denver Wednesday.

Soviets Blast 'Demon Booze'

MOSCOW (UP) — The government organ Izvestia printed a seven-column attack Saturday against the demon vodka, which is becoming Russia's "Public Enemy No. 1."

The article, signed by a Dr. Lidia Bogdanovich, proposed the formation of a Soviet "Alcoholics Anonymous" to "conduct propaganda for the people's hygiene."

The Izvestia piece was the latest development in a campaign that began Jan. 2, when the government increased the price of wines and liquor 30 per cent to discourage excessive drinking by "a small segment of the population."

Party Secretary N. S. Khrushchev followed up with a speech in Minsk three weeks later, warning that moonshiners and those "who get people drunk" will be punished.

Dr. Bogdanovich said 70 per cent of Russia's crimes and 50 per cent of its accidents are due to drunkenness.

She said Moscow liquor dealers are selling vodka illegally to minors, while some parents give their sons wine to make them "real men." She denounced this latter practice in particular.

"One would think that our public, the trade unions and the youth movement would declare a decisive and constant struggle against the old custom, which inflicts huge damage on the people's health," she said.

She also denounced movie and television producers for showing people sitting around tables "with bottles always in front of them."

Indian Land Grab Charged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A member of the newly formed League for American Indians asserts that proposed legislation to free the Indians from federal supervision look like attempts to grab Indian lands.

"It looks like they're (proponents of the bill) trying to get the land on the tax rolls and away from the Indians by tax default as quickly as possible," Erin Forrest said Sunday.

Forrest agreed the Indians want ownership rights to the land but he said many of them would not be prepared to support themselves and pay taxes on land presently tax free.

Other speakers suggested a $750,000 government-held fund could be used for loans to business and provide housing and scholarships.

Another speaker, one of the many representatives of 113 Indian reservations meeting with the league, said the Indians are "tired of having to defend ourselves against others' plans for our future."

Loyal Brother Dies In Bus

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Ousley died fulfilling his duty.

His frantic cries for his 8-year-old brother Dallas probably will haunt the younger brother the rest of his life.

Little Dallas could not answer. His mouth was filled with water as he struggled out of a fast-sinking school bus.

Dallas was one of 21 youngsters who escaped from the bus that careened into Levisa Fork of Big Sandy River last Friday. James Ousley, 15, was one of 26 who drowned with their driver.

Dallas, his father explained in an interview, had changed schools just this year so he would be where James could look after him.

Coal miner Orville Ousley, father of the boys, said James "could have been saved if he had not held off getting out of the bus because he was looking for Dallas."

"Dallas heard Jimmy calling to him but he couldn't answer. He had gotten out into the river and his mouth was full of water."

James' body was the first one of 15 found when the bus was finally pulled from the river.
