Quota Club Names Myrtle Wimer 1958 "Woman of Achievement"

A highly entertaining evening was arranged for Klamath Quota Club members, special "Women of Achievement" guests and others invited to the 1958 "Woman of Achievement" Banquet in the Pelican Party Room on February 25.

After Myrtle Wimer of Fort Klamath was revealed as this year's choice for the Quota Club award, the dinner group was treated to a talent packed musical program and a prophetic peek into the years ahead through speaker Bill Graham's dinner talk on "Looking 25 Years Into The Future."

Rotary Ann Dinner Meeting

MONTAGUE: — Highlight of the program presented at Montague Rotary Ann's regular dinner meeting on Tuesday evening, January 27, was a demonstration on flower arranging by guest speaker Mrs. T. H. Dickinson of Yreka.

The musical program featured a trio of local women—each endowed with a beautiful voice and musicianship. They stood up and sang. The simplicity of their delivery and the harmony of their voices brought delighted applause from their audience.

Before showing the demonstration on flowers, Mrs. Dickinson spoke on the American Field Service program, explaining how various organizations in Siskiyou County are helping promote the program by contributing to the necessary funds for exchange students fares.

The Yreka Women's Society of Christian Service, which has been in the process of reorganizing into several circles, recently held an organizational meeting for a morning circle, at the home of Mrs. Cy Vantrease, Yreka.

Mrs. Dickinson with the use of carnations and winter evergreens made several attractive arrangements explaining each step as she proceeded. Each member had been given a slip of paper with the name of a flower on it, and at the conclusion of the demonstration two slips were drawn and the arrangements were presented to the winners.

WEED LODGE GLORIA

Lodge Gloria 1503 of the Grand Lodge of California regular meeting on February 11 was at the Sons Memorial Hall with Mrs. Mary Leporini, venerable, presiding. Plans were formulated for a public card party slated for Saturday evening, March 1, at the hall.

One of the most common eating faults is taking too large bites. Chewing a piece of meat, twice as large as a normal sized bite, offends others at the table. Take small bites, chew them quietly with the lips closed, and don't talk with food in your mouth. If you care about having good table manners, that is.

REFLECTIONS FROM Milly's Mirror

NANCY DREW, a freshman at University of Oregon, was chosen as one of 8 finalists in the Pershing Rifles "Little Captain" contest. Nancy, the striking brunette daughter of Greer and Faye Drew, was put into the contest arena by her sorority, Alpha Phi. She's a KUHS graduate, Class of '57.

ALSO FROM KUHS IS U of O Junior in speech, Jim Dutcher, son of Marita and Jack Dutcher. Jim made the front page of the Emerald last month in a picture representing students holding down part-time jobs. Don't know whether Jim was actually at work cooking hamburgers in the Emerald pit or whether it was just a SUPP-posed I DO know that he was EX-posed at an early age to the professional method of building that popular American "sanch." That was some years ago, when his parents were partners in the Lake of the Woods Resort operation. He was young enough that a kitchen catastrophe like "no cook . . ." and the dining room's crowded with customers . . . was nothing but the open door of Opportunity for young Dutcher—an "open sesame" to the inner culinary circle where he could pinch-hit for a grown-up at the stove instead of the monotonous "same old stand" at the same old mountain of dishes in the sink. Anyway he looked professional in the photo—chef's cap 'n all.

THE PHRASE — "Words can't express it" is a lot more right than I realized before perusing a little pamphlet on origins of English words. In fact, when I say "curfew" I certainly don't mean "cover-fire." But "curfew" began as "couvre-feu" — French for cover-fire. It's upsetting to me to learn that when I say "canary" — I refer not to a bird—but "dog." All because what we call canaries were so named because they were first taken from the Canary Islands. But the Islands were named from their large dogs ("canis" in Latin). I finally learned to say "Beware of the dog" in high school Latin—and naturally associate "canine" with the language of Latin—but to me "A canary ain't nuthin but a bird" and always will be.

THIS SATURDAY'S appearance of the Lewis and Clark College A Cappella Choir at First Presbyterian Church brings a former resident of K Falls to town as one of the choir members. Richard Schuber (Dick) Arnold, son of Lillian and Wilbur Arnold, who lived here for many years before moving to Medford, is a tenor in the college choir and a sophomore music education major at L & C. Since music brings him here—and music is his career—it's worth noting that besides continuing with his study of the piano, Dick's a member of the college band and sings in the Portland First Christian Church Choir. Also, he is affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha, men's national music honorary. And final note—is that under the competent and inspiring leadership of Stanley Gloorum, the choir members are enthusiastically planning a summer tour of Europe in 1959. That's next summer . . . and will be a timely bit of good advertising for Oregon in several foreign countries.

DUNSMUIR WOMEN'S CLUB

"Family Counseling" was the topic presented to the Dunsmuir Women's Club by Howard Jones, attorney, at the monthly luncheon meeting in the Hotel Dunsmuir on Tuesday.

Progress on the redecorating of the library was reported at the meeting. The walls and furniture have been repainted and help from the city will be sought in retiling the floor.

Mrs. Jack Peterson presided at the meeting, as Mrs. Lee Clark, president, is ill.

Mrs. Adelaide Lee, a guest at the meeting, was honored as a representative of the teaching profession. Washington's Birthday provided a decorative theme with pictures, silhouettes and patriotic colors used on the luncheon tables arranged by Mrs. Leonard Smith.
