Income Tax Tips

Editor's Note: Federal income tax effects of sickness and accident benefits are discussed in this article presented as a reader service. This is part of a series prepared by the Tax Information Committee of the Oregon Association of Public Accountants, in cooperation with the National Society of Public Accountants.

Did you receive any benefits for accident or sickness, or were your wages continued for the period that you were off work because of sickness or accident?

If so, the amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions, is not taxable income. The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick, is not taxable income up to the first $100 per week you received after the first seven days you were off. If you were in a hospital for any day while you were off sick, then no part of the amount you received, under $100 per week, is taxable. If you were off because of personal injuries, then the seven day waiting period does not apply. If you have received over $100 per week, the excess over $100 per week is taxable income to you.

but only if you did not pay the premiums to the insurance company, or if your employer is simply continuing your wages. If you paid the premiums on the insurance yourself directly, or by having them withheld from your paychecks, then no part of any amounts that you receive as sickness or accident benefits is taxable income.

If you receive medical expense reimbursement, then you cannot deduct as medical expenses the bills that were reimbursed. If you deducted medical bills in a prior year, and this year receive reimbursement for them, then you should include in your income the reimbursement, but only if the deduction in a prior year gave you a tax benefit. Where your W-2 slip includes payments to you which are not taxable because they are benefits for sickness or accident, or are wages paid while you were off work due to sickness or accident, you enter the total amount of your wages on line 5 of the tax return. Then deduct the tax free amount on line 6 (b).

Be sure to attach a detailed statement to your tax return showing how you figured this. When you were off — what happened, if you were in the hospital, etc. Better still, get a form 2440 from the internal revenue service and use it.

KLAMATH FALLS GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Will Blackman, a member of Mt. Laki Garden Club, was the main speaker at the Klamath Falls Garden Club meeting March 3 in the city library auditorium. She spoke on the Narcissus which she stated is one of the oldest known flowers. It was originally a native of Europe, China, and Japan. It was hybridized sometime in the 18th century. In 1950 the American daffodil society reorganized the classifications.

For exhibitions, the form, color, substance, condition, symmetry, proportion, and other points should be considered.

Species of the Narcissus, listed by Mrs. Blackman, were trumpet, small cup, large cup, doubles, triandrus, cyclamineus, jonquils, triandrus, and poeticus. Each class has its special characteristics and suitability to various garden situations as, she pointed out.

Narcissus bulbs should be planted in September. Most of them can be left in the ground for three or four years before they should be dug and divided. Digging time is June or July. They can be stored or planted immediately.

She stated the foliage, which is often a problem to most gardeners, should not be removed until it has died down. However, it can be hidden by planting dwarf sweet william, petunias, day lilies, ground covers, pansies or even annuals. Since the foliage is a problem, bulbs should never be planted in front of the border. Also, they are most effective planted in drifts or patches rather than straight rows. Water does not damage the bulbs so, interspersing plantings of other plants among them does no harm.

Preceding Mrs. Blackman's talk, a speaker from the Toastmistress

Club, Mrs. Floyd Johnson, was introduced by Mrs. Phil Schroeder. Mrs. Johnson gave a five minute talk on the cleanup campaign with pointers to be considered by the club.

After the talk on Narcissus, catalogs were discussed by the group. Mrs. T. B. Watters gave some helpful suggestions on lilies and Mrs. Raymond Hall on gladioli. Suggestions were made on particular shrubs, plants or bulbs and where members had obtained desired specimens.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Oliver Spiker, club president. A recommendation was made to invite those interested in garden club work to be guests at the May meeting.

Three important dates were noted. The National Garden Club meeting or convention will be held in Seattle, May 18-24. The Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs convention will be in Eugene, June 16-18. The Klamath District Garden Club will meet in Alturas on May 3, at which meeting Mrs. Frances Gregg, state flower show chairman, will be the main speaker.

At the landscape group meeting, which met earlier in the day, under the leadership of Mrs. Hugh O'Connor, many useful ideas on what and where to plant were brought out. Those attending made tentative plans for the group to tour each of their own yards at some of the future meetings where constructive criticism is to be offered.
