County School Board Studies 1958-59 Budget

By JOHN GUERNSEY Members of the Klamath County School Board are considering a 1958-59 budget of $2,000,137, or approximately $158,000 more than the amount budgeted for operation during the now ending school year. The amounts do not include the $90,000 serial levy revenues used for school building purposes. The bulk of the increase is found in the teacher salary category where a total increase amounting to $120,000 is being considered. Although the board will not definitely accept or reject the plan until its final budget meeting next Thursday, the membership expressed agreement with the proposed teacher raises. Under the plan the less than three-year teachers would begin at $3,800 and attain a maximum of $4,800 after eight years of experience. They presently begin at $3,425 and end at $4,325. The three-year teachers would begin at $4,000 and attain a maximum $5,000 annual pay after 10 years experience. They presently begin at $3,575 and peak off at $4,775. The bachelor teachers would begin at $4,200 and level off at $6,000 on the 13th experience step. The present low-high span is $3,800 to $5,400. The five-year teachers would begin at $4,300 and attain $6,200 at the 14th experience step. The present span is from $3,900 to $5,675. Also, under the proposed plan the master teachers would begin at $4,400 and reach a maximum of $6,400. The present master scale is from $4,000 to $5,900. The plan being considered calls for $200 increments during the first five experience steps in the bachelor, five-year and master categories, and for $200 increments during the first two experience steps for teachers with less than bachelor credentials. The salary proposals will affect approximately 235 county system school teachers. Members of the budget board are also considering placing the 17 principals within the county system on a ratio method of determining administration pay over and above teacher salary. If effected, incorporation of the system would result in principal raises averaging about $269 annually, and would increase the combined principal cost by about $3,699 annually. The boards are also studying raise proposals for bus drivers, janitors, cooks, maintenance personnel, and other non contractual school employees. Other portions of the proposed budget reflect slight increases, with one of the larger hikes being from $104,000 to $125,000 in the capital outlay division. Addition and alteration of buildings and furniture costs account for the larger share of the projected increase. In discussing the proposed teacher increases, members of the board and School Superintendent Carroll Howe agreed that the anticipated higher teacher cost is the major factor in the budget increase, and that the competition for school teachers throughout the country is making sizable increases necessary. They pointed out that if new teachers are to be attracted to the system, and if present experienced teachers are going to be retained, they are going to have to be paid salaries comparable with those paid in other areas. The board also heard Superintendent Howe point out that the district is currently in a good financial condition, having on hand the money to pay for all building alterations and new construction anticipated during the current fiscal year and during the upcoming year. However, it was pointed out that additional serial levy funds will be necessary for the building and modification needs of the district during upcoming years. To indicate the present expansion trends within the district, Howe explained that between last May and January 1 of this year the enrollment within the district increased by slightly more than 300. The serial levy for the county schools has raised $90,000 annually during the past five years. However, the now ending 1957-58 school year is the final year of the levy life. The board anticipates that $190,000 annually will be necessary to meet the district building needs and alterations during the next five years. On the basis of present assessed valuations, the amount could be raised with a 5.5 serial mill levy. Expressions from the board appeared to favor the serial levy method of raising funds over the bond issue method, with it being probable that a proposal for a five-year $190,000 serial levy will be on the May 3 school election ballot. The mill assessment required for the county school operation during the now ending school year was 33.6 mills, including the 2.6 mills for the $90,000 serial levy. If the preliminary budget is approved as proposed, with the $90,000 expiring and not being affixed during the upcoming year, the 1958-59 levy would be 35.6 mills, or an increase of two mills over the present levy. If the $190,000 serial levy is introduced and approved, the upcoming mill levy for the school operation would be 41.1 mills. The school district has not been able to get definite information concerning how much the district will receive in state basic school support funds during the coming year. However, Howe has been given a "shotgun" estimate from the state level that the district may be able to anticipate something in the way of $50,000 property tax relief as a result of special session Legislature which increased the basic school support fund from $85 to $105 per census child. Howe further explained to the board that the overall amount for teacher salary increases may be notably reduced inasmuch as fewer teachers will probably be required than was anticipated when computing the budget needs. He explained that additional teachers were anticipated at Keno and other areas, but that present indications are that a lesser teacher number increase will be required than projected.

Former Basin Resident Dies

TULELAKE - Mrs. Sarah Welch, 75, widow of the late Dr. Thomas William Welch, one of the first doctors to practice in Tulelake, died March 13 at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. R. (Donna) Roberson in Beaverton, Oregon. Mrs. Welch, who had been in ill health for the last three years, suffered three heart attacks. With her family, she arrived in Merrill in 1928 where Dr. Welch practiced his profession and, assisted by his wife, operated a drug store. In 1931 the couple home-stayed in the Tulelake district and Dr. Welch continued his practice. Later Mrs. Welch became editor of the Tulelake Reporter, serving in that capacity for several years. She was city treasurer in Tulelake for five years, a member of Holy Cross Catholic Church, a member of the Tulelake Business and Professional Women's Club, served as secretary of the auxiliary of Tulelake Post No. 164, American Legion, for many years, and was an early day president of the Tulelake PTA. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Bill (Natalie) Macy, Tulelake, and Mrs. Roberson of Beaverton; sons, Neil Welch, Fresno, and George Terrill, Barstow, California; also several grandchildren. Recitation of the Holy Rosary is to be held at 8 p.m.

Boy Knocked Down By Auto

Impulse or whim was attributed Friday morning as the reason Ricky Olson, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Olson, 2444 Kane Street, darted out in front of a pickup truck while waiting for a school bus. According to investigating officers of the Oregon State Police, the boy was standing on the corner of Kane and South Sixth streets near his home, when he suddenly ran out into the street and was hit by the truck. Officers added that the boy said he was uninjured and wished to continue on to school, but was taken instead to the Klamath Valley Hospital by Peace Ambulance. Hospital attendants said that Ricky was under observation. He suffered only cuts and bruises.

Juvenile Crime Plan Suggested

UTICA, N.Y. (U) - An Oneida County grand jury suggests a novel way to curtail juvenile delinquency: visits to the county jail by high school pupils. In a report handed up in Supreme Court, the jurors said that, "due to the number of youthful offenders involved in cases brought before this grand jury, we respectfully recommend that arrangements be made for high school juniors and seniors to visit the Oneida County Jail as a possible deterrent to juvenile delinquency."

Leopold Rests After Fast Ride From State Prison

CHICAGO (U) - Still shaky after a fast automobile ride from Stateville Prison, ex-convict Nathan Leopold today spent his second day of freedom in Chicago, scene of the crime for which he served 33 1/2 years. Leopold, probably the world's most publicized convict, remained in the Gold Coast apartment of Abel M. Brown, real estate man and his onetime classmate at the University of Chicago. Leopold, a diabetic, became sick at least six times during a fast 40-mile ride to Chicago after his release from Stateville Prison near Joliet. The automobile halted frequently and the 33-year-old Leopold staggered to the roadside, ashen and nauseated. Unless his condition improves, Leopold is expected to remain in the Brown apartment until arrangements are completed for his departure for Puerto Rico, where he is to serve his parole working as a $10-a-month lab technician in a small mission hospital in the mountains near the town of Adjuntas. The ride was the fastest Leopold had ever taken. A friend who picked him up at the prison gates drove the car at speeds reportedly up to 80 miles an hour in an effort to shake off pursuing newsmen. Leopold, who was met by a group of newsmen, photographers, and radio and television personnel when he walked out of the prison, read a prepared statement in which he pleaded for privacy. He appealed for newsmen and "society at large" to "agree that the only piece of news about me is that I have ceased to be news." Under conditions of his parole, he said, he was to grant no interviews. Stanley Hill, a parole officer who is handling Leopold's case, went to the Brown apartment after Leopold's arrival to make what he termed "a routine check." "If he plans to spend any time in Chicago, we want to know how he plans to spend that time," Hill said. It was not known definitely when Leopold would leave Chicago but Hill indicated plans were being made to arrange a direct flight to Puerto Rico. Leopold and his companion Richard Loeb were sentenced to life and 99 years for the 1924 thrill slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks. Loeb was slain in 1936 during a prison fight.

Local School Studies Eyed

City school department heads and supervisors appeared before the elementary school board Thursday to outline the functions of their departments and to point out which portions of the programs could be deleted with the least damage to the school system if it were found necessary to curtail operations for cost reasons. The board took no curtailment action after hearing the presentation of Andrew Loney Jr., music department director; Miss Vivian Education director; Miss Vivian Aloward, library service; Forest Hawley, special education program, and by principals Jim Scott and Florence Ollmann who explained how any changes would affect the school system. A delegation of coaches was on hand and was principally interested in recent budget board statements that the after school elementary athletic programs might not have the required participation to warrant continuation of the programs on Saturdays. Budget board member Joe Mercer explained to the group that he was neither in favor nor opposed to the programs, and that he didn't know whether the participation warranted continuation of the work. However, Mercer repeated his stand that he had not talked with all the coaches, but that some of them with whom he had talked said they felt that scant participation did not justify the programs. He said the coaches he talked with had particular reference to the fall and winter months, when it is often difficult to get the student team members for Saturday competition because they are hunting with their parents. Coaches, on the other hand, maintain that no member of their ranks has indicated that the programs should be discontinued. Mercer said he is in no way interested in personalities, and that his statements are voiced as a member of the budget board with an eye to operating the schools efficiently at the least possible cost.

Friends Visit Jail Inmates

Three Beatty residents wanted to see some friends in the county jail about 3 o'clock Thursday morning and they accomplished their goal after kicking out seven windows in one area of the building. Facing vagrancy charges, and confined in the jail where they can visit with their friends continually, are Harold L. Davis, 31; Jo Ann Reed, 22, and Dollie Hodges, 18. After the three had been refused entrance to the jail Thursday morning by Jailer Louis Bogart, they apparently became angered and began kicking out the jail windows facing the street. "They were probably a little hot," quipped Sheriff Murray Britton, "but they're now being cooled off in the blue room." The trio will appear before District Judge D. E. Van Vector.

Men Placed On Probation

Jerry D. Giffin and Richard L. Giffin, two Klamath Falls men facing charges of burglary not in a dwelling involving 1957 thefts and burglaries in the Basin, received five-year probationary terms Friday morning when pleading guilty before Circuit Judge Charles Foster. The judge is temporarily sitting in place of Judge David R. Vandenberg. Also receiving a five-year probationary term was Jack S. Giffin Jr. However, the latter Giffin was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary Thursday by Judge Vandenberg on another burglary charge. In placing Jerry and Richard Giffin on probation, Judge Foster specified that the men would serve the first three months of the probationary sentence in the county jail where they will be schooled by Sheriff Murray Britton in the requirements of probationary life, and instructed in how best to comply with all stipulations of the probation.

After the luncheon meeting, the elective officers for the coming year were voted on. Mrs. Clifford Wood was elected president; Mrs. R. L. Heggis, first vice president; Mrs. M. K. Strantz, second vice president and Mrs. Joe Hicks, treasurer. Three new board members were also elected, Mrs. Reuben Larson, Mrs. Virgil Koehn, and Mrs. Ted Sullivan. It was voted to continue the study of "Know Your County" as the local current agenda item for the coming year. A "koffee klatch" will be held at the home of Mrs. Reuben Larson, 5013 South Etna Street, on Wednesday, April 16. New members and guests are invited to this orientation meeting.

House Committee Seeks To Cut Knight's Budget

By JAMES C. ANDERSON SACRAMENTO, (UP) - A group of legislators or the Assembly Ways and Means Committee readied today a last ditch effort to cut Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's budget by eight million dollars. Climaxing six weeks of hard work, the committee scheduled a vote on a 2 per cent across the board budget slash and then planned to send the largest spending program in the state's history out to the Assembly floor for full-scale debate next week. Up for consideration in the committee was a proposal by Assemblyman Thomas M. Erwin (R-Puente) to slash the budget figures for all state agencies by 2 per cent. "This would save eight million dollars and I think it is basically a sound and reasonable proposal," Erwin said. "The lush boom times are over and it's time state agencies realized they simply will have to quit spending so much." As submitted Feb. 3 by Knight, the state budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 totaled $1,984,000,000. He also asked for an additional 72 million dollars for the Feather River Project, which boosted the grand total to more than two billions of dollars. As retolled by the Ways and Means Committee, the budget went to the floor stripped of the FRP funds. That issue will be debated next week by the Assembly and also in Senate Finance Committee. Approximately 17 million dollars was trimmed by Ways and Means from the general fund expenditures. The biggest cut voted by the committee was to veto a proposed 3 per cent pay raise for 103,000 state employees. That would have cost 12 million dollars. Another major cut voted by the committee was to take four million dollars out of the fairs and exposition fund and transfer it to the general fund. Other developments: Eel River: The Assembly Ways and Means Committee was on record favoring spending two million dollars to study the feasibility of the Eel River in the North Coast area as a source of water for Southern California. The study, if approved by both houses, will include a coastal route to the southland, bypassing the Delta Area. Recession: Knight asked the Legislature to consider enacting a 200 million dollar state building bond issue which he said would be "positive action to expand employment in our state." Knight said the bond money should be spent to expand state colleges, prisons and mental institutions. Fluoridation: Ways and Means Committee first agreed to put into the budget funds to fluoridate the water at four state institutions for children, the changed its mind and deleted the item after Dr. Marshall Porter, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene, said it was too controversial an issue to be handled by a budget amendment and should be debated in the 1959 session. Porter first testified at the hearing that he strongly favored fluoridation. Tuna Boat: A lower house committee killed a special session proposal to cut personal property taxes on tuna boat clippers by 70 per cent. The measure was introduced by Assemblyman Frank Luckel (R-San Diego) but ran into a stone wall of opposition from the supervisors and assessors associations and the teachers lobby who claimed it would reduce the local and school tax base. Teachers: By a vote of 12-11, the Ways and Means Committee defeated a proposal to give 3,000 academic and administrative employees of the state colleges a 10 per cent pay increase. Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-San Jose) proposed the budget amendment which, if adopted, would have cost $2,795,000.
