

Klamath County Budget Final Action Expected To Be Taken On Monday

Final action is expected Monday on Klamath County's 1958-59 fiscal budget, according to County Judge Charlie Mack.

Klamath County Budget Board will begin its final deliberations in the morning, taking up where it left off last month at preliminary budget meetings.

Original requests from various county agencies for the coming fiscal year totaled $2,654,132, compared to an actually approved budget of $2,628,438 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958.

The current request figures however, do not include a proposed boost in the county's share of welfare funds, notification of which was received here earlier this

MRS. ELODIE MOCHETTAZ

Mother 97, To Be Feted

Court Klamath of this city, in observance of National Communion Day for the Catholic Daughters of America, honored Mrs. Elodie Mochettaz, who is nearly 98 years old as honored mother. Mrs. Mochettaz whose 98th birthday comes in June was seated at the breakfast in her honor, with her daughters, Mrs. Angelo (Theresa) Doveri, Miss Ida Mochettaz; and Mrs. Angelo (Pat) Doveri Jr., all members of the local court.

Nearly 150 received Holy Communion in a group at 8 o'clock Mass at Sacred Heart Church before the breakfast at the Willard Hotel.

A short program during the breakfast hour included a welcome and dedication of the group by Mrs. Lynn Roycroft, grand regent. "Bring Flowers to the Rarest," was sung by the guests with Mrs. Mary Tennant at the piano. Mothers and daughters of the court, other mothers and daughters and special guests were introduced. A solo, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine," was sung by Jeannet Rochon Sanders accompanied by Doris Heffley.

ROBERT BUELOW

Tutor Writes For Magazine

An article by Robert Buelow, business teacher and El Rodeo adviser at Klamath Union High School, was featured in the May issue of Photolith magazine. Photolith is a national magazine for college and high school yearbook staffs and advisers.

The illustrated article, entitled "A Short Course for Next Year's Staff," brought out original ideas in yearbook layout and design.

KU's 1957 El Rodeo was rated "A" by two yearbook rating associations. Several features of that book prompted N. S. Patterson, Photolith editor to write Buelow requesting him to submit an article about how things are done at KU in producing the yearbook.

Buelow has taught at KU four years. He holds B.S. and M.A. degrees in business education from the University of Iowa. A native of South Dakota, he taught four years in Iowa before coming to Oregon.

Junior Lodge Of IOOF To Be Instituted In Klamath

The forthcoming institution of a local Junior Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows has just been announced by Larry Baraboo, vice grand of Klamath Lodge 137, and adviser for the juniors.

The object and purposes of Odd Fellows Junior lodges, which exist across the nation, are officially formulated as follows:

"To develop a generous, healthful and fraternal relationship among the members and promote an understanding of the higher purposes of life, a true knowledge of government and a genuine patriotic spirit.

"To encourage physical and mental development, and foster higher education among their members."

These aims are implemented by conducting the local lodges along parliamentary lines, and by intensive participation in sports activities, which will probably include bowling and baseball in Klamath Falls.

Twenty-two local boys have already signed up for the new lodge, and meetings are being held on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock at the Odd Fellows Hall, Fifth and Main streets. The next meeting will feature a sports film.

Formal institution of the charter and first initiation of the new lodge have been tentatively scheduled for June 14. Any boy signing up before this date will become a charter member of the lodge. The institution ceremony will be open to the public.

Membership in the Junior Lodge is open to any male of the white race, age 12 to 18. The boys' parents will be welcome to attend any activity of the Junior Lodge whether or not they are themselves affiliated to the Odd Fellows.

The new organization is sponsored by the joint youth service committee of the local Odd Fellows lodge, which includes Charles Lieb, noble grand of Klamath; Frank McCormack; and Alec Tilton. The assistant adviser is Roland Tuter.

4-H NEWS

LEADERS ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Klamath County 4-H Leaders Association was held at the Merrill Grade School recently with 13 members in attendance. C. E. Merritt, president of the association, presided, and he asked those present to evaluate the Spring 4-H Club Fair held recently, and to offer suggestions for improvement of the fair.

It was suggested that the contest division be enlarged to offer classes for those who do not at present have an opportunity to compete in contests other than demonstration contests. It was specifically suggested and approved by those present that a hemming contest be held using cotton material, so that younger clothing club members could gain experience in this type of contest before they are eligible for the wool sewing contest.

Another suggestion was to offer a contest for electricity club members, as there is at present quite a large number of electricity club members who might be interested in entering contests. It was decided to bring this matter up before the electricity club leaders prior to the next spring fair.

The annual Junior Livestock Show will be held the latter part of August and the leaders association will again serve hot lunches to club members and those attending the fair. However, it was decided this year to serve these lunches in Joan's Kitchen rather than under the grandstand as in past years.

Lillian Hoffman, 4-H agent, called attention to 4-H summer projects available to those interested, particularly in food preservation and camp cookery. It is hoped that more interest can be aroused in both of these projects. More leaders are needed to lead these clubs and it is enough interest is shown, a leader's training meeting will be held at an early date. Information regarding this can be obtained by calling Miss Hoffman at TU 4-8151.

Francis Skinner, 4-H agent, gave those present the new 1958 Handbook on National Awards and gave an explanation of the National Awards program. He had with him the acknowledgment record of Martha Tubach who was a state winner from Klamath County chosen to attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in 1957. He pointed out the various sections of the record and explained the requirements which are to be met in applying for state and national awards. Any club member who is 15 years old and has completed three years of club work is eligible to compete for a county award and the winners in the coun-

OLENE DAIRY CLUB

The Olene Dairy Club held its meeting May 4 at the home of Eric and Laila Wakkuri. The main feature of the meeting was a very interesting report given to the club's members by Wilbur Reiling on the subject of milk marketing. Mr. Reiling pointed out the advantages given to the dairymen in the pooling of their milk, and also told the members something about the marketing of this milk. The methods of pooling and marketing, which he explained, are used in Klamath County by local dairymen. The remainder of Mr. Reiling's speech will be given to club members at the next meeting.

A dairy judging tour is scheduled to take place later in May. The Olene Dairy Club will act as host and the Midland and Merrill dairy clubs are invited to attend.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Wakkuri served homemade cookies, punch and coffee to the members and their parents.

Canada Goose Brood Shows Gain

Canada goose brood counts were made last week on May 12-13, according to word from Tom Garratt, Game Management Agent in Klamath Falls. Ten more broods were counted this year than last year.

The count was made on five areas within the Klamath Basin, the work being done along tracts established in 1953 and run annually since that date. No refuge lands are included in the count which takes in Spring Lake, Alkali Lake, Sprague River, Klamath River and the Klamath Marsh.

Water levels varied by tracts, Klamath Marsh is considerably above normal, said Garratt and Sprague River, due to recent warm weather in the high country, is out of its banks. This is often the case during May and nesting loss from flooding appeared to be comparable with former recent years. Fluctuation of Spring and Alkali lakes and the Klamath River is little and not detrimental to nesting efforts.

On the five areas 977 adult Canadas were observed, 361 on Klamath River, 235 on the Klamath Marsh, 226 on Sprague River, 106 on Alkali Lake and 49 on Spring Lake.

Taking part in the count were Al Hofmeister and Jim Mohr, Oregon State Game Commission; Bill Rush, Oregon State Police; Bob Norris, Game Management Agent and Garratt.
