

Trujillo Jr. Says He Is In Love With Actress Novak

HOLLYWOOD — Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. says he is in love with actress Kim Novak. The head of the Dominican Republic's air force broke his long silence on his personal life last night on a television program. He said of Kim: "She's a nice girl. She's very sincere. And I like the way she is."

When interviewer Paul V. Coates asked him if he was in love with her, the uniformed, beribboned general paused; then said: "Yes."

He said that he and his wife Octavia formally separated last December, and that he started divorce proceedings in March. He said that Octavia will retain custody of their six children.

Trujillo said the United States had never sent money to his country, where his father is the strong man. U.S. aid has been in the form of materials, he said.

"I like to spend money," he said. "And I spend my own money." He said it came from sugar refineries and ranches owned by his family.

Trujillo, 28, said he met Miss Novak, 24, at a Hollywood dinner party. The expensive car he gave her was "a surprise," he said. He said the costly gifts he gave Zsa Zsa Gabor were just presents "to an old friend." In fact, he said, he had given cars to three other friends — his secretary, an aide, and a countryman who was a fellow student at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Trujillo said he would leave for Ft. Leavenworth today.

He said he would return to the Dominican Republic in July — probably from Los Angeles, and probably in a yacht.

Asked Coates: "Will this be a honeymoon trip?"

Replied Trujillo: "You never can tell."

Trujillo said he was introduced to Zsa Zsa four years ago by a polo-playing pal from the island republic, Porfirio Rubirosa. He said that since his name hit the headlines from Hollywood he had received a cable from Rubirosa who is in Paris. He said it read: "My God, you have replaced me."

Knight Seeks Tax Defeat

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Knight says he is opposed to an initiative measure which would repeal the property tax exemption of nonprofit private and parochial schools.

The governor, in a statement yesterday, said Prop. 16 on the November ballot is "discriminatory in effect and an unnecessary tax burden on all Californians."

He said the nonprofit schools in California educate 340,000 pupils each year who would cost the taxpayers an additional 120 million dollars if they were placed in public schools. The exemption is less than two million dollars, he said.

Knight said: "If we in any way limited these schools' functions and forced the state to undertake the education of an additional third of a million students, we would be doing ourselves a disservice and displaying unwise economic judgment."

Gravedigger Still Waiting

WALPOLE ST. ANDREW, England — For two long decades Walter Hammond, gravedigger and custodian of the New Cemetery, has been waiting patiently for his first customer.

The cemetery was laid out in this Cambridgeshire village (population now 207) in 1838. There seemed to be a need. For years residents had been getting themselves buried in the jampacked churchyards of neighboring parishes.

The Rural Council erected a fancy fence with wrought iron gates around the acre of ground, put Walter in to run the show, and sat back to await business. They, and Walter, are still waiting.

Each day Walter tramps the lonely road to his cemetery, opens the wrought iron gates, and does a little caretaking. On the side he grows a truck garden in the spaces where the graves ought to be.

In desperation the Council advertised in the newspapers last February that new cemetery "is now available for burials." No response.

"Maybe," said Council Clerk Ronald Dixon, "people insist on being buried where their parents and grandparents are buried. We have done all we can. It's a lovely little cemetery."

Walter, sadly weeding his onions, radishes and lettuces, said he sometimes despairs of ever making a start on his life's work. "You know," he said, "I think once one person is buried here others will follow.

"The trouble is, nobody seems to want to be first."

Local Girls In College Show

Two Klamath Falls girls, Carol Biehn and Virginia Martz, recently appeared in the annual Kappa Gamma variety show at Lewis and Clark College.

Sponsored by the Alpha Gamma sorority and the Kappa Phi Alpha fraternity, this year's show was inspired by the film "Around the World in 80 Days." Entitled "Hobo's Holiday," it told the story of two hobos who took a trip around the world as stowaways on a ship.

Miss Martz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Martz, Route 2, appeared in the Austrian scene as a member of the group of dancers in the Viennese Waltz.

Miss Biehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Biehn, 1605 Eldorado Avenue, appeared in the Hawaiian scene and was in charge of costumes for the production.

Bureau Sees Work Hikes

SACRAMENTO — The State Department of Employment predicts a continued rise in California farm employment through early summer.

The department, in a report to the State Agriculture Board yesterday, said cotton chopping and thinning and hoeing of sugar beets and tomatoes will create an increasing need for workers that should carry over into summer.

The number of persons at work on the state's farms jumped by 73,700 or 19 per cent from mid-April to early May, but the 457,000 employed was still 21,000 below the same time last year.

The report said the strawberry harvest and fruit thinning along with sizable increases in vegetable work accounted for the big increase this month.

EPIDEMICS

DACCA, East Pakistan — A total of 19,161 persons have died in 4 1/2 months of twin epidemics of smallpox and cholera in East Pakistan. Local health authorities aided by 24 American epidemic experts and Russian and Afghan doctors are now busy fighting the epidemic, which is spreading throughout the province.

Reds Say Young Diplomat Unwelcome Inside Russia

WASHINGTON — The State Department said Monday a young American diplomat who had been attending Moscow University has been declared unwelcome inside Russia.

The Department said the ouster of John A. Baker Jr. was protested without avail by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

A spokesman was asked whether a Soviet diplomat had been ordered out of the United States in reciprocity. He replied, "No, not up to this point."

Baker was accused by the Soviet Foreign Ministry of having "systematically violated the norms of behavior for diplomatic representatives."

Baker, on leave in London with his wife and infant child, denied the accusation.

The State Department said Thompson sought Saturday to get an explanation for the action from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, but Gromyko refused.

Baker was the only U.S. diplomat in Moscow ever permitted to attend regular classes at Moscow University, the State Department said. He had been attending classes in Russian medical history.

Both Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Mike Mansfield (Mont.), assistant Democratic floor leader, criticized the Soviet action.

Knowland said the ouster of Baker contrasted sharply with the treatment of Soviet representatives in this country, including Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. He said Menshikov is allowed to "travel around this country, making talks to American groups."

In a statement from London, made public here, Baker said he had been friendly with some of his fellow students, had some as guests in his home, dined with them at public restaurants and went with some of them to U.S.-Soviet athletic contests, including basketball staged under the U.S.-Soviet cultural agreement of last Jan. 27.

Department officials said that three Soviet Embassy employees in Washington attend regular classes at George Washington University and seven diplomatic officials in New York attend classes at Columbia University.

Department officials said Soviet diplomats simply apply to the schools, and, if qualified, are admitted. Baker, on the other hand, had to get permission from the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Baker, 30, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker Sr. of Westport, Conn. His wife, Sally, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bragg of Cambridge, Mass.

SCHOLARSHIPS

MOUNT SHASTA — Two graduating students from Mount Shasta High School this June will be given scholarships to some accredited college by the Mount Shasta Rotary Club. Value of the awards is $250. Selection for the awards will be made by a scholarship committee. The basis upon which the choices are made will be scholarship, ambition and need for aid. Mount Shasta Rotarians make an annual gift of the scholarships.

KEYS TO BETTER CALLING

— how we improve service and keep your out-of-town calls low in cost

Today, your long distance calls can go through in seconds where it once took minutes. Why? In most cases, operators like those in the top picture speed your out-of-town calls straight through with push-button dialing. Or perhaps you live in a place where you dial them direct yourself. And today's fast long distance phoning is yours at low cost, too. We've made it that way with radio-relay and cable networks that carry thousands of calls at once. With tiny transistors that cut down space and power needs. These improvements have helped us make long distance phoning a pleasure anytime. A pleasure, as the box at the right shows, that's priced right for everybody.
