

Disney Signs Scotch Lass To Long-Term Contract

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD — To a green-eyed Scot beauty named Janet Munro goes the honor of being the first adult actress to be signed to a long contract by Walt Disney.

Except for an occasional moppet, the females have been largely neglected at the Disney studio. Look at Minnie Mouse. What movies has she had in the last 10 years? Or Clarabelle Cow, for that matter?

Walt is apparently taking steps to end this discrimination. And he seems to have made a good choice for his starter. Janet is a talented 23-year-old who strikes you as an auburn-haired June Allyson. Her bright eyes blink at you with the same innocent gleam, then crinkle into an all-out smile.

She's here now on her first trip to Hollywood, playing the female lead in the leprechaun lark, "Darby O'Gill and the Little People." This summer, she goes to Switzerland to appear opposite James MacArthur in "Banner in the Sky." She is under contract for a yearly picture in the next five years.

How did she get here?

"By airplane," she replied.

"No, no, no. How did it all happen?"

"Oh," she said. Then she explained that she had been seen by a casting agent in an English TV drama called "Pick Up Girl"—an un-Disney subject as you could imagine. She was interviewed by Walt when he went to England to scout for Irish types. A show biz veteran since the age of 2, she easily handled the brogue. Walt noted the resemblance to Allyson and offered a test. And now she's here.

She has become acclimated to our life, has even taken in a baseball game of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"It was great fun," she enthused. "I yelled like mad, even though I didn't know what was going on. It's quite different from our cricket matches, where the fans clap politely and remark, 'I say, good show!'"

TV Star Seems Destined To Life Of Bachelorhood

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP) — Followers of the Bob Cummings Show should be informed that there are no immediate prospects of his helpful assistant Schultzy corraling our hero in matrimony.

On the other hand, neither is there much likelihood that one of those beautiful girls who drift through the show will be corralled by Cummings.

The authority for saying this is one who certainly should know: Paul Henning, writer and producer of the program.

Henning, a highly successful writer of comedy who began his apprenticeship with the old Fibber McGee and Molly radio program, gave an interesting insight the other day into how the series was conceived.

"I've long been an admirer of Bob Cummings' acting," he said, "and in a comedy role I especially visualized him as an ineffectual single man."

"At first I thought Cummings might be a commercial artist, but not many people know exactly what a commercial artist does. Then it occurred to me that everybody knows what a photographer is. So why not make him a professional photographer who makes pictures of beautiful girls?"

"But I wanted to balance his career as a bachelor existence with family responsibilities — though not to the extent of marriage. The wise course seemed to be to fence him in with a widowed sister to whom he had obligations, and with a woman assistant who would make sure there wasn't any hanky-panky with the beautiful girls around his studio. So the idea of Schultzy was conceived, a nice girl who's in love with him and wants to protect him."

Henning says that the viewing public is constantly pulling for Schultzy, played by Ann B. Davis, who this year won an Emmy Award for her handling of the role.

While Henning won't say that Schultzy never will get her man, one can see that this just can't happen too soon without the series losing its perpetual motion. By perpetual motion we mean: (A) Cummings chasing pretty girls, and (B) Schultzy chasing Cummings. If anybody ever catches anybody, the perpetual motion machine will break down. It would be a different show.

And Henning likes to quote a wise line uttered by Lucille Ball when somebody wanted to change the "I Love Lucy" show: "Don't fool around with success."

LAKEVIEW — Two of the 34 seniors at the University of Oregon elected last Thursday night to membership in Phi Beta Kappa were Arlene Clark and James Lynch, both of Lakeview. Phi Beta Kappa is the national liberal arts scholastic honorary.

Arlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark, was also selected the previous Monday as one of three senior women to be given a leadership award by the Associated Women Students organization. During her years at the University she has been active in campus service and social activities and was elected to Kwama, Phi Theta Upsilon and Mortar Board. She is a member of Alpha Phi sorority and a major in sociology.

Lynch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Con Lynch of Lakeview, recently achieved a national level when he was named by the U.S. Army Quartermaster Association as top military student in the nation. He has held the ROTC cadet rank of lieutenant colonel. At the graduation review on May 29 of the Air Force and Army ROTC cadet corps he will be awarded a Quartermaster Scholastic Key. He has served as student body president during the past year, which is a climax to class leadership during the previous three years. His college honorary list includes Phi Eta Sigma, Skull and Dagger, Druids, Scabbard and Blade and Friars. He is a major in business administration and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.
