

Close Air Call Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capital Airlines said today an Air Force jet bomber narrowly missed colliding over Ohio last night with a Capital airliner carrying 19 persons.

Capital identified the bomber as a B-57. There was no immediate comment from the Air Force. The Capital plane, a Viscount jet propellered safely at Baltimore about 1 1/2 hours later with its crew of 4 and 15 passengers.

The incident occurred a day after a Maryland Air National Guard jet fighter rammed a Capital airliner near Brunswick, Md., killing 12 persons.

Capital headquarters here confirmed a report from Cleveland that a near collision had occurred over northwest Ohio about 40 miles south of Toledo.

Airline officials said Capt. Jesse Bradford of Baltimore reported his airliner was flying east toward Washington at 19,000 feet when a B-47, apparently dropping down to land, suddenly crossed within 500 feet of his plane.

"Bradford radioed the Civil Aeronautics Administration in Cleveland and asked that a formal protest be filed," airline officials said.

The officials said the airliner, a Vickers Viscount similar to the one involved in Tuesday's collision carried a crew of four.

The airliner was en route from Chicago to Washington and Baltimore.

New Interpretation Of Ike Doctrine Made By Dulles

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has given a new and important interpretation of the "Eisenhower Doctrine" on the Middle East.

Under this interpretation, the joint congressional resolution authorizing American military aid to a Middle Eastern country against foreign aggression is not limited to action against an aggressor which is "under the control of international communism."

The effect is to put teeth into a declaration which has often been criticized as somewhat meaningless.

Dulles gave his interpretation of the Eisenhower Doctrine, as it is popularly called, at a press conference in Washington in discussing the rebellion in Lebanon. "Lebanon has accused the United Arab Republic of fomenting and supporting the rebellion."

The United States has sent a quantity of "police arms"—largely small arms and tear gas equipment—to Lebanon to aid against "rioters." It is sending a number of tanks.

There has been some confusion over the applicability of the Eisenhower Doctrine to Lebanon. The reason for the confusion is the provision authorizing aid against an aggressor under the control of international Communism.

Though Egypt and Syria are receiving arms and other aid from Soviet Russia, the United Arab Republic certainly cannot be held to be under Soviet control.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser has denied aiding the Lebanese rebels. He says the rebellion was planned and is being carried out by pro-United Arab Republic Lebanese.

Dulles agreed that the congressional resolution specified aid to a country menaced by Communist aggression. But he added: "That doesn't mean, however, that there is nothing that can be done."

"There is the provision of the Middle East resolution which says that the independence of these countries is vital to peace and the national interest of the United States. That is certainly a mandate to do something if we think that our peace and vital interests are endangered in any quarter."

Dulles pointed out that this provision was inserted in the Eisenhower Doctrine by the Senate.

Police Believe Spouse May Have Had Date With Man

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP)—It's a quiet country crossroads called Harmony.

A young wife and husband met there by accident Tuesday night in a roaring, flaming rendezvous that ended in the husband's death. And yesterday police said that at the end of the road there may have been another man, a man waiting for a date with 19-year-old Mrs. Vera Wright. She kept him waiting.

Mrs. Wright, critically injured when the car she was driving smashed broadside into her husband's auto, was still in Bridgeton Hospital today with a possible skull fracture. Her condition was listed as good.

The husband, Lester, also 19, was dead 10 minutes after being pulled from his blazing auto.

Police, meanwhile, were holding Walter Robinson, 36, of Newfield, owner of the car that Mrs. Wright was driving.

State Police Sgt. William R. Conway said his office was looking into discrepancies between statements made by Robinson and Mrs. Wright.

Conway quoted Robinson as saying he had been the woman's boy friend for about a year and that Wright knew and apparently did not disapprove of their relationship.

He told police the Wrights had quarreled on the night of the accident because Mrs. Wright wanted Robinson's car to drive home. She had used it earlier to take a road test for a driver's license.

According to Robinson's statement, he and Mrs. Wright had made a date for later in the evening. The date had been arranged in Wright's presence, he said.

Mrs. Wright was going home to change her clothes, the statement said, and was to have returned to Robinson's gas station. Husband and wife drove off at the same time.

Conway said Robinson will be charged with allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car, while a mandatory charge of death by auto will be made against Mrs. Wright.

The woman's version of the affair, police said, was that her husband drove off angrily after the argument and that she borrowed Robinson's car to follow him home.

She said nothing of the reported date or of any relationship with Robinson.

Regardless of which version is correct, Conway said, the couple "might have been more or less racing" to their Bridgeton home.

He said each car could have taken one of several routes, adding: "They happened to meet at one of the country crossroads."

Britain Cuts Bank Rates

LONDON (AP)—Britain today cut its bank rate another half per cent, reducing the Bank of England's rate for lending money to 5 1/2 per cent.

It was the second reduction in nine weeks in the fight to bolster the British economy. The rate was cut on March 20 from 7 to 6 per cent.

The bank rate is the control valve on the nation's economy. It had been sent skyrocketing last September to 7 per cent—highest in Britain since 1921—in a fight to tighten credit and steady the value of the shaky pound sterling.

The second reduction this year was seen as a further sign of Britain's growing confidence in its economic position despite recession reports abroad.

The news of the reduction had an immediate buoyant effect on the London stock market. Brokers were delighted.
