HANK THOMPSON, right, accompanies three of his Brazos Valley Boys in a specialty number. Hank and his band will be at the Old Armory on Saturday night.

Western Group Appears Here Saturday

Hank Thompson, known to millions by his many hits on Capitol records, will be appearing at the Old Armory on Saturday night with his famous western swing band, the Brazos Valley Boys.

This is one of the most colorful and entertaining organizations in the country. Each year it tours every state in the nation and all the provinces of Canada, playing in leading ballrooms, parks, auditoriums, night clubs, fairs and rodeos. The past few years Hank has been the feature attraction at such outstanding events as the Cheyenne, Wyoming, Frontier Days Rodeo; Calgary, Alberta, Fair and Exposition; New Mexico State Fair; California State Fair; Fort Worth Fairstock Show; Texas State Fair (for five straight years); and many others.

Each year Hank and the band travel over 150,000 miles in their custom-built 29-passenger bus. It is completely air-conditioned and has an individual radio for each man. It is equipped with complete wardrobe lockers and outlets, so the boys can rehearse on the bus while traveling. It also has fold-away bunks, a refrigerator, and lavatories with hot and cold running water.

During the past five years Hank Thompson has had over 35 of his songs on the western "Honor Roll of Hits," and he consistently places among the top 10 favorites in the country and western music field. Don't miss this great attraction, presented by Baldy Evans, Saturday night.

They will also draw attention to the second annual Fleet Days Celebration, to be held at Winchester Bay's famous Salmon Harbor June 20-22.

The planes will carry groups of Port Umpqua drum beaters who will pass out literature on their area's attractions and give away free salmon to local officials. All cities to be visited are within two to three hours flying time of the Port Umpqua area. Visits to each will be limited to 30 minutes. If weather is prohibitive, the promotion stunt will come off June 7-8.

Some six to 10 privately owned planes will fly in here Saturday as part of the first annual Fleet Days Air Tour, put on by residents of the Port Umpqua area communities of Reedport, Gardiner, Winchester Bay, Scottsburg and Lakeside.

The visiting planes and others will land in cities of three states with the objective of promoting lake, river and ocean recreational facilities of the Port Umpqua area.

Scribe Says Week's News Was Both Good And Bad

By CHARLES M. McCANN United Press Staff Correspondent The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: The French political drama dominated the world news stage this week.

The question whether Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government was to retain power or to be supplanted by an "authoritarian" regime under Gen. Charles de Gaulle remained to be decided.

Pflimlin's chief hope of continuing in office was to regain control of the army in Algeria, which demanded that De Gaulle be made France's leader.

De Gaulle announced at a press conference that he was ready to assume power. But he said he wanted it by legal means and he implied strongly that he had no intention of becoming a dictator.

The next move came from the National Assembly, controlling house of parliament. In an unusual display of unity, it gave its backing to Pflimlin by voting 473 to 93 to renew his emergency powers to fight the Algerian rebels.

The attitude of the army in Algeria, under Gen. Raoul Salan, was puzzling.

The generals remained openly defiant of the government. But they had been disappointed by the moderation of De Gaulle's statement and it was reported persistently that Salan was secretly working with Pflimlin.

Pflimlin decided to send Gen. Orville, chief of the general staff, to Algeria to negotiate with Salan. With Pflimlin's unofficial approval, Antoine Pinary, a Conservative leader, drove to De Gaulle's country estate to ask him to help get the Algeria generals in line.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave a new and broadened interpretation of the "Eisenhower Doctrine" on the Middle East. Dulles said this doctrine did not, as commonly supposed, limit United States military support to a country which was attacked by a nation "under the control of international Communism." He thus left open the possibility that this country might, if necessary, help Lebanon against the rebels who are trying to overthrow pro-American President Camille Chamoun.

Despite denials, Lebanon insists the rebellion was fomented by President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The Lebanese government announced it would appeal to the United Nations Security Council against United Arab Republic interference in its internal affairs.

Communist leaders of Soviet Russia and seven other Red-ruled

European countries met in Moscow to discuss party, economic, diplomatic and military questions.

President Tito of Yugoslavia, who is under heavy attack by Russia and its satellites for his persistent independence, was not represented.

It was reported that moves against Tito would play a big part in the meeting.

BPW Accepts New Slogan

WEED — The year's theme, "Let's really shine in '58," and the goal, "strength through membership and activity," was accepted by members of the Weed Business and Professional Women's Club at the meeting held May 15 at the Y-Cafe Mrs. Hazel Cates, newly installed president, conducted the meeting and named her appointed committees to initiate the forthcoming year's program.

Mrs. Emmeline Ganim, program coordinator and vice president of the Weed club introduced the two guest speakers for the evening, Randolph Collier, state senator, Yreka and Ralph Leavers, Montague. Both men are candidates for election to the Senate seat.

Mrs. Gee Strother reported on the recent Susanville Northern District Conference of BPW Federated Clubs and was elected as the Weed Club delegate to the state convention in San Francisco in June.
