Mail Service To Continue

FORT ROCK—Mail service into Fort Rock will be retained without change according to word received by Edwin A. Eskelin, master of Fort Rock Grange. S. G. Schwartz, regional operations director, Portland, made the announcement in accord with the request made through a resolution by the grange. The postal department had proposed, as a cost cut, to drop the star route running from Fort Rock to the Fort Rock Junction at Horse Ranch and return. The Bend mail stage, under the proposal, would have driven into Fort Rock on returning from Silver Lake to Bend. This would delay outgoing southbound mail one day. Senators Wayne Morse and Richard Neuberger and Congressman Al Ullman also notified Eskelin of the decision to continue the present service. Mrs. Floyd Branch received a renewal contract this week. She has carried the mail on the local star route for several years. Mail is distributed in the Fort Rock Post Office by Muriel Hergett, postmaster, and patrons call for their mail since rural delivery stopped some 20 years ago.

Prayers Said For Victims

MIDDLETOWN, N.J.—A citizens meeting called in the wake of the explosion of eight Nike missiles at a nearby installation heard both a prayer and a promise last night. The prayer was for the 10 men who lost their lives in Thursday's disaster. The promise came from the Army, which vowed to do all in its power to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy. Army spokesmen told the 200 residents at the meeting that any future changes in the Nikes will be made with only one of the missiles above ground at a time. Brig. Gen. Charles D. Duff, commander of the 52nd Brigade, said the battery site at his base was not on an alert status when one of the missiles exploded and set off the others. Duff, questioned closely on why so many of the missiles were above ground, said the weapons were in the process of being checked out before a scheduled alert. The general said the new regulations permitting only one Nike above ground at a time would minimize the dangers of such a chain of explosions in the future. He said the regulations are going into effect at Nike bases all over the country. Duff added there would be an effort in the future to station career soldiers instead of draftees at Nike bases. Hercules missiles expected here in early 1959 will not be equipped with nuclear warheads next year, Duff said. Duff said it may be months before experts can determine exactly what set off the explosion.
