Car Buyer Turns Out To Be Thief

A prospective used car buyer apparently turned out to be an auto thief at a South Seventh Street lot yesterday.

Police were told a man strolled onto the lot and became interested in "purchasing" a 1953 sedan.

He asked if he could take it on a "demonstration" drive and salesmen said okay, go right ahead.

The car had not been returned by this morning.

TROOPS LEAVE

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar says the 17,000 troops which the Russians promised to pull out of Hungary early this year have already left. He did not say how many remain. Western estimates put the number between 50,000 to 100,000. The Soviets now say they are going to withdraw another division, from 10,000 to 13,000 men.

Soviet Russia Lays Plans For Intense Peace Move

By CHARLES M. McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Soviet Russia has laid the basis for an intensified "peace offensive."

The basis was laid at a meeting in Moscow of the eight Communist-ruled members of the so-called Warsaw Alliance, which Russia organized in answer to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A communique and a declaration issued at the end of the meeting formally announced conditions for a "summit" conference of heads of governments on world issues and offered the Western Allies a 25-year treaty of non-aggression.

They also restated Russia's sponsorship of the Rapacki Plan, announced by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki, to ban nuclear weapons bases in Poland, Czechoslovakia and West and East Germany.

In addition, the documents announced reductions in strength of the armed forces of Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania.

As is cuustomary in such Communist pronouncements, the documents were blatant in their propaganda.

The Western allies, and especially the United States, were denounced as aggravating world tension while Russia and its satellites were struggling for peaceful co-existence.

There was nothing startling, or really even new, in the Communist documents. But they laid down a broad program for cooperation in the name of the eight Warsaw Treaty countries.

The documents indicated that one big reason why Russia called the meeting was to try to build up the prestige of its east European satellites, to make them appear to be the equals of the members of NATO, in preparation for a summit conference.

The declaration said that the Warsaw Treaty members "regard a heads-of-government conference as a major means to protect mankind from war disaster."

It said that the United States had brought pressure on its allies to reject a Russian proposal for a summit conference with "broad representation."

In view of the allied opposition to "broad representation," the Communist document proposed that three or four countries on each side take part in the conference.

Pope To Name New Cardinal

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The death of Samuel Cardinal Stritch has renewed speculation that Pope Pius XII soon may call a consistory to bolster the diminished ranks of the college of Cardinals.

Possible U.S. candidates in any list of new appointments would include Archbishop Richard Cushing of Boston and Archbishop John Joseph Mitty of San Francisco.

There has been no official word on a consistory, the gathering of cardinals which seconds the Pope's nominations to their ranks, and there will be no official word until the date for the meeting is announced, together with the names of the prelates who will be elevated to the princedom of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pius XII has held only two consistories during his 19 years on the papal throne. In 1946 he named 32 cardinals, the largest number ever elevated at once. Seven years later he named 24 more, including the first cardinals from India, Ecuador, Colombia and Yugoslavia.

The Pope said then he was considering an increase in the number of cardinals, set at 70 by Pope Sixtus V 400 years ago, when the population of the world was estimated at only 360 million people. Today Roman Catholics alone number nearly 500 million—a fifth of the world's expanding population.

Since the 1953 consistory death and the toll of the years have weakened the college, whose members now average 72 years and shoulder burdens of administration far heavier than those of the days of Sixtus V.

The death of Cardinal Stritch, 70-year-old archbishop of Chicago, cut the membership to 55 cardinals and left 15 places vacant. There are 18 cardinals from Italy and 37 from other nations.

Weed Girls To Vie In Contest

WEED—Two Weed high school girls, Lorna Andreatta and Rita Cross have been selected to represent Weed at the Siskiyou Dance and Pageant to be held in Yreka June 7 and will vie for coveted honors of "Miss Siskiyou" with competition from neighboring communities.

Two contestants have been named from each community this year and will be judged at the dance and pageantry for the honor. The winner will represent Siskiyou County at the State Fair in Sacramento and compete for the "Maid of California" title.

The special dance and pageantry will be at the arts and Crafts building at the Siskiyou County Fairgrounds on the June 7 date and tickets may be purchased locally at Santini's Apparel Shop.

The "Miss Siskiyou" contestants will be judged by a point system, 80 per cent face; 10 per cent poise; and 10 per cent personality. The judges this year will include Herbert Eaton and Marvin Pratt, directors of the Bridgebay summer theater; and Coleen Hope, dance and modeling teacher of Medford.

The annual "Miss Siskiyou" contest is sponsored by the Coordinating Council of the Chamber of Commerce organizations of Siskiyou County. Charles O'Donnell, Yreka is serving as the contest manager this year.

Expert Views Shasta TV

MONTAGUE—After testing various sites for the proposed installation of an Adler Television system, John Newton, field engineer of the Industrial TV Corporation of Los Angeles, announced "that the outlook is excellent for TV coverage for all of Shasta Valley."

Newton arrived in Montague on Friday evening, May 23, to meet with the Board of Directors and other interested parties of the Nor-Sis Television Coporation at the Montague auditorium.

On Saturday and Sunday, Newton together with Jim Dow, Wilson Grazier, Chet Barnett, Bill Swigart and Darold Crawford, scaled various mountain peaks and hills, testing where the best signal was obtainable. With the use of pickups and three jeeps, power equipment and other testing equipment were transported to the highest peaks of Shasta Valley to measure strengths of stations in Northern California and Southern Oregon. Results showed excellent reception from Channels 2, 5, 7 and 12, respectively located in Klamath Falls, Medford, Redding and Chico.

Newton stated, "More important than this, however, was finding sites for retransmitting these clear strong signals to the majority of viewers in the Shasta Valley."

Newton agreed with Dow, Grazier and Barnett that best coverage could be achieved by using two different sites — transmitting from Humbug eastward could provide excellent coverage for Montague, Yreka, Grenada and Little Shasta, east in the valley. Simultaneously another installation located in the vicinity of Weed would conveniently cover Gazelle, Weed and Mount Shasta as well as intervening areas.

With the additional installation to gain full coverage of the larger area, rather than the limited coverage of a smaller area, as first considered, the cost of installations will be somewhat higher, due to the fact that it would entail the installation of power and construction of roads.

Jim McAdams, president of the Nor - Sis Television Corporation, stated that the "next step was to raise the necessary funds for the two installations, and it is up to each of the local areas that do want this new television service to demonstrate that desire by purchasing their share of the expense involved in obtaining such a wide coverage."

Air Take-Off Rocket Revealed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fighter planes can be sent aloft without runways—hurled into the air by rocket motors.

The Air Force disclosed how it could be done in a demonstration that rocketed a big F100D fighter into the air from a mobile launcher.

In time of war, said the Air Force, fighter planese could be dispersed in rough, desolate terrain, then fired into the air like missiles when needed.

The Super Sabre launched in the recent test was postponed on a mobile launching rig at Edwards Air Force Base with Al Blackburn, a North American aviation test pilot, at the controls.

Next Legislature Facing More Difficult Problems

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.

SALEM (AP)—State departments and legislative interim committees are busy dealing with problems for the Legislature, which meets here next Jan. 12.

It already is certain that the next Legislature will have more and tougher problems than ever before. The list should be enough to discourage even the most optimistic lawmakers.

The most difficult problem is balancing the budget. There just won't be enough revenue during the 1959-61 biennium to finance current state activities.

The agenda being prepared by the departments and interim committees calls for greatly added costs of government.

For instance, the State Board of Control will ask for 19½ million dollars for institution buildings. The State Board of Higher Education probably will want 20 millions for college and university buildings, plus more millions to take care of the increasing enrolment.

The Highway Commission wants to increase gas taxes one cent a gallon and add $5 to the annual $10 cost of license plates. The commission says it must have this increase to finance Oregon's share of the interstate highway program.

Oregon employers are certain to get higher payroll taxes. The tax now isn't large enough to pay the jobless benefits.

The public school lobbyists will demand an increase in the basic school support fund.

Those are the more expensive items facing the 1959 Legislature. Costing many millions of dollars, they make talk of a state tax reduction sound rather futile.

But there are some other big problems being considered now for presentation to the Legislature.

These include putting the state into the power business, how to help people over 45 years old get jobs, elimination of many boards and commissions, abandonment of Oregon Technical Institute, combining the fish and game commissions, reform of the courts to speed up justice, and establishment of state junior colleges.

There are many more controversial issues than that, such as what to do about the rural school law which is causing hardship in some districts.

It seems as though all the issues faced by Legislatures in the past 20 years, plus some new ones, are being dumped into the next session.

The State Board of Education might have news at its June 12 meeting to make the school children and the farmers very unhappy.

It will consider a recommendation by a committee of school administrators and teachers that the schools maintain school for at least 180 days a year. The requirement now is 170 days.

Generally, the board accepts the recommendations of its professional committees.

The problem in the Willamette Valley is: How should the extra days be added?

If extra time is added at the end of the year, the strawberry growers object. They need the school kids to harvest their crops.

If school is started earlier in the fall, the bean growers are hurt.

Spring vacation could be eliminated. But many schools have their spring vacation during the state high school basketball tournament. The kids who go to tournament would take a dim view of cutting out that vacation.

The school administrators heard all of these objections before they made their recommendation. They feel that the schools should be open longer to provide more education.

Tear Gas Breaks Up Panty Raid

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Authorities broke out tear gas and fire hoses and turned them on boisterous University of Georgia students last night after a panty raid got out of hand.

"We had to disperse them," Police Chief J. H. Porterfield said. "They just got out of hand. We got the fire department out to wet 'em down and had to use a little tear gas."

The chief said between 2,000 and 3,000 students were milling around at the height of the trouble. He said he arrested 8 or 10.

Doubt Expressed On Who Killed Lana Turner's Lover

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Doubt over who killed Lana Turner's lover, Johnny Stompanato, was expressed today in an amended $750,000 damage suit on file in superior court.

The amended action, brought on behalf of Stompanato's 10-year-old son John Stompanato III, now living in Hammond, Ind., was filed yesterday by Atty. William Pollack.

Pollack's new version of an original suit naming Miss Turner, her 14-year-old daughter, Cheryl, and the girl's father, Stephen Crane, expressed doubt as to who might have stabbed Stompanato to death last April 4.

The new suit contended that the boy's guardian, television producer Jack Harris, didn't know exactly what happened the night Stompanato was stabbed in Lana's Beverly Hills home. It said:

"For that reason he (Harris) is in doubt as to whether it was defendant Cheryl Crane or defendant Lana Turner who did the actual stabbing or whether the one assisted the other therein."

"Because of said doubt," the complaint went on, "plaintiff alleges that both of said defendants did inflict the said stab wound in the body of John Stompanato."

A coroner's jury ruled that the slaying of Stompanato, handsome ex-body guard of former mobster Mickey Cohen, was "justifiable homicide" after hearing testimony that Cheryl did it to protect her beautiful, blonde mother.

Cheryl was made a ward of the court and placed temporarily with her grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Turner. A final hearing to determine the girl's future is scheduled for June 26.

Attorneys for both Miss Turner and Crane filed actions last week asking that the original damage suit prepared by Pollack be thrown out.

The amended complaint dropped allegations that Stompanato was lying down when he was stabbed.

Gas Stations Open Friday

The man most frequently sought out by tourists for information—the service station attendant — will be well primed to do his duty, at least in Klamath Falls.

The chamber of commerce is going to make certain of it.

Chamber men will soon call a meeting of gas station owners and attendants. The whole problem of supplying information to out-of-towners—where to go, what to do, where to eat, sleep, etc.—will be discussed fully.

Then the gas station men will each receive a 14-page booklet, prepared by the chamber, which has all the answers to questions tourists most frequently ask.

This is the first concentrated effort to arm the service station men with facts and figures, the chamber says

It is being done through the cooperation of the bulk petroleum distributors and retail dealers association.

Along the same lines, the chamber itself will keep its offices open all day Saturday and Sunday during the tourist season to supply information.

Traffic Death Toll Declines

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll, for the sixth straight month, dropped in April and highway deaths in the first four months this year were the lowest for the comparable period since 1950.

The National Safety Council said the four-month traffic toll this year of 10,330 was 8 per cent below the toll of 11,200 in the first four months of 1957.

The April highway deaths totaled 2,600, a decrease of 12 per cent from the 2,950 killed in April last year. It was the biggest decline for any month since October 1956, the council said, and the 16th in the last 17 months in which deaths were the same or less than in corresponding months of the previous year.

The council said the continuing decline in the traffic death toll cannot be attributed to less travel. Latest available figures show that motor vehicle mileage for the first two months this year was up 2 per cent.

A mileage death rate (number of traffic fatalities per 100 million miles of motor vehicle travel) of 5.2 for the first two months this year was a record low for the period. The rate of 5.1 for February alone was the lowest for any month in the nation's history, the council said.

"The downward trend can no longer be regarded as a flash in the pan," the council said. "We believe it reflects improved traffic behavior by drivers and pedestrians, better traffic enforcement and engineering and increased efforts by public officials on all levels, by automobile manufacturers and by many organizations working for traffic safety."

Cops Apprehend Suspected Thief

MOUNT SHASTA—A young man who is suspected of burglarizing the safe of the D. A. Sheldon and Sons Feed Store in Mount Shasta on May 16, was apprehended this week in Roseburg. Richard A. Connlly, 26, was arrested in Roseburg on a traffic violation, and the arresting traffic officer noticed evidence in Connlly's possession which was listed on teletypes sent out by the Mount Shasta Police Department in connection with the robbery.

Officer Gilliam of the Mount Shasta Police Department left for Roseburg on May 28 to pick up the suspect and return him to Mount Shasta.

Chief Barnum of the Mount Shasta Police Department stated that Gilliam should be commended on his work on the case in the crime laboratory of the Siskiyou County Sheriff's Office. Gilliam spent approximately 40 hours in the laboratory going over evidence left at the scene of the crime and was instrumental in bringing about the apprehension of the suspect.

Sheriff Al Cottar and his deputies and other personnel of the Mount Shasta police department are to be commended for their work in helping to break the case.

The Mount Shasta police department signed a burglary complaint in the Mount Shasta Justice Court for the above suspect.
