Group Plans Pictures Of South America

A set of 260 slides "Off the Beaten Paths in South America" with tape recorded commentary will be shown at the Klamath Camera Club tonight at 8, upstairs in the county library.

The photographic trip starts at Panama, crosses the Panama Canal to Columbia, continues south across the equator to the headwaters of the Amazon River. While there the photographers visited Dr. William Ferguson, who is working on cancer research.

A big feast was held for the natives and they were able to photograph them in their finery during tribal dances.

The caravan then flew south to Lima, Peru, crossed 5,000 miles of desert and visited the Guanas Islands for bird-life photography. There are many colorful pictures of the Inca Indians high on the Andes Mountains included in the series. The photographic party crossed Bolivia and flew very close to volcanic peaks in Chile. By bus and steamer they crossed Argentina and Paraguay. The trip ends at Rio De Janeiro, Brazil. Animal, insect and plant life of the regions have been recorded on the beautiful color slides. Visitors are welcome to this program.

COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

Editor's Note — This is the fifth in a series of articles discussing the need for a community hospital.

By BILL DECKER

The Hill-Burton funds which would pay one third of the initial construction costs of a new hospital here in Klamath County if our priority could be established would not come without rigid stipulations attached. Definite standards for construction are set forth which require that certain specifications be met in regard to the site chosen, materials used, floor space provided and equipment installed.

Some sources have informed this writer that the requirements for Hill-Burton aid raised the initial construction costs to such an extent that the grant was of no benefit. Others have insisted that as a result of building under the federal stipulations they were assured of the best possible construction. By accepting the Hill-Burton grant a hospital obliges itself to live up to certain regulations in regard to administration, personnel, accounting and policies. All of these should be thoroughly investigated and understood before application is made. While certain flexibility is allowed for in planning, construction and equipment in hospitals built with Hill-Burton aid the regulations are specific about minimum requirements for construction and equipment, maintenance and operation.

The cuisine of Trinidad in the British West Indies is a mixture of British, American, Continental and Creole cooking, with Indian and Chinese dishes also in evidence.

Whether or not the community wants to apply for Hill-Burton funds can only be decided after intensive study by whatever committee or group is assigned the job of the preliminary survey and planning. Their decision will depend upon many factors which are at this time unknown, and whether or not we can meet the requirements. Keep in mind the fact that our priority has not yet been established and that we do not yet know whether or not we can qualify.

nual operating costs about one-third of the cost of initial construction of an institution. Of this salaries and wages of personnel account for about 60 per cent. Working in round figures: If we decide to survey our community's hospital needs and find that we must build a 100 bed facility the total construction cost will be about two million dollars. If we can establish our priority for Hill-Burton aid we will have to raise two-thirds of that amount twice over: the first for construction and the second for operating the institution for the first two years.

NASCAR PROVED new blue Chevron Supreme is the big step ahead in gasoline

NASCAR Certificate of Gasoline Performance

NASCAR-certified laboratory tests, proved on the road, show that new blue CHEVRON SUPREME is unsurpassed in the combination of performance qualities needed by today's cars for every kind of driving:

1. BLUE AVIATION ANTI-KNOCK FLUID vaporizes deposits that cause engine "ping" and reduce power. Valve and ring life are lengthened up to 40%.
2. HIGH-OCTANE AIRCRAFT FUEL ELEMENTS meet the octane needs of today's high-compression engines for full power, quick acceleration, safe passing, smooth cruising over varied terrain.
3. DETERGENT-ACTION COMPOUND cleans carburetors during engine operation to increase gas mileage and end stalling in stop-and-go driving.
4. CONTROLLED BLENDING OF GASOLINE COMPONENTS provides quick starting and warm-up under the most critical conditions.
5. CLIMATE TAILORING—to match seasonal changes by areas—insures that this gasoline meets performance specifications and provides vapor-lock protection throughout the West.

CARS AND ENGINES USED in the NASCAR-Sanctioned tests were representative of 1958 and other late model engine types and compression ratios. Certified on April 17, 1958.
