

UAL Head Sees Federal Air Agency As Right Step

The proposed legislation for creating an independent Federal Aviation Agency with unified control over air traffic, represents an essential first step toward solving the airway traffic control program, stated W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, testifying in Washington, D.C., before the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Patterson said his first concern is for the welfare of the seven million passengers carried annually by his company and the 3,000 flight personnel who operate United planes, as well as the 50 million passengers on all of the na-

Beach Closed To Negroes

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Eight Negroes swam at the all-white municipal beach yesterday and minutes after they left, the swimming area was ordered closed.

City Manager Ross Windom said the beach would remain closed until City Council decides what it wants to do about the properties.

Signs were posted and guards stationed in the beach area which adjoins the city's long municipal pier jutting into Tampa Bay. Also a part of the swimming area is the spa pool.

The Negroes walked to the pool, demanded entrance and were granted admittance. They dressed in the locker room used for pool bathers but did not use the pool itself. Instead, they walked onto the beach.

"There was nothing else I could do," said John Gough, manager of the spa.

There was no disorder. A police captain stood by while the Negroes were on the beach.

The U. S. Supreme Court ordered the city's swimming facilities integrated in a decision stemming from a case originating in this city.

Since that time there has been talk the pool and beach area either would be sold or leased to private operators.

Link Politico With Mobster

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) says he has a document setting forth that one of Gov. Averell Harriman's "closest pals is one of the leading racketeers in the United States."

The Democratic governor, informed at home of Ives' statement at a Republican dinner last night, said: "I have no comment on such an irresponsible statement."

Ives said the connection between the labor racketeer and Harriman was a political one. He said that, on the basis of the information he has, there has been nothing illegal.

Ives told the dinner audience of 2,300 persons that Harriman's relation with the racketeer was one of the chief reasons the governor vetoed a labor racket bill passed by the GOP-controlled Legislature.

Pressed by reporters for details after he had completed his extemporaneous speech, Ives said, "I put two and two together. I can't prove it at all."

Ives told the newsmen that a newspaper correspondent in Washington first gave him the information about Harriman orally. Ives said that at his request the correspondent wrote it out, signed it and supplied documentation.

Ives would not name the racketeer or the correspondent.

He said he was checking into the matter further and might bring it up at a meeting of the Senate Rackets Committee, of which he is a member, or during the fall campaign in New York state.

Missile Tested Over New Route

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A Regulus II guided missile has been tested for the first time over a new inland route to eastern Nevada.

The swept-wing supersonic missile was launched seaward yesterday from the U.S. Naval Test Center here. Then, guided by two jet chase planes, the Regulus turned and flew more than 450 miles to Antelope Dry Lake near the Utah border.

The needle-nose missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, is intended for use from submarines and cruisers.

Virginia County Plans To Run Private White School

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Most planning for private education of Virginia children whose public schools may be closed because of integration is in the theory stage.

Of five localities faced with court-ordered desegregation, only in Prince Edward County do citizens appear ready now to try to run private schools for white children.

If similar, well advanced plans exist elsewhere, they are a secret. There have been no reports of planning for private education of Negro students.

The date has not been set for desegregation of Prince Edward County schools. But Arlington County, just across the Potomac River from Washington, and Charlottesville, 50 miles west of Richmond, have been told to desegregate in the fall. The port cities of Norfolk and Newport News will find out shortly if they are in the same boat.

Virginia law calls for the immediate closing of an integrated school.

"I know—we all know—that some Negroes will try to enter white schools in September," said Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. this week. "We'll face that situation when it arises."

Almond hinted that citizens in areas where public schools are threatened with integration should begin planning to use state tuition grants for educating children in non-sectarian private schools. Such schools, however, could handle only a fraction of the public school students.

Gov. Almond said yesterday public school facilities cannot be leased to private groups for segregated education. He pointed to a ruling made earlier by a federal judge that Virginia cannot lease Seashore State Park for private, segregated operation. The state shut down the park several years ago because of a desegregation lawsuit.

Could the public schools be leased to private groups for integrated schooling? The governor wouldn't comment on this.

Park Director Bob Bonney has made an animal exchange deal with the Portland Zoo which brings five new and beautiful birds to Moore Park for public display.

Received from Portland are a male wood duck, a male Mandarin duck, a male silver pheasant, and a pair of golden pheasants.

In exchange, the director swapped a bull snake and a blue-tail lizard from the Moore Park collection.

Since the Portland Zoo had a surplus coyote pup on hand, Bonney brought that back, too, while on a Portland business trip earlier in the week.

A continuing animal exchange program has been going on between Klamath Falls and Portland for several years, Bonney said.
