QUEEN MELVA JEAN ANDERSON, left, and Princesses Phyllis Ashcraft, center, and Joyce Barry, right, were selected to rule over the annual Lakewick County Roundup and Fair during the Labor Day weekend in September. The girls were chosen out of a field of nine and judged on their horsemanship and public appearance at a program arranged by the Lake County Roping Club on May 18.

Rotary Hears Indian Group

H. (Zack) Zakoji, education official with the Klamath Indian Tribe and younger members of the Klamath Falls Rotary Club Friday noon.

Zakoji introduced Mike Ochoa, Johnny Cole and Norman Jack Ochoa, speaking for the younger generation tribal members, pointed out that there are both benefits and drawbacks to Indians under the present status of the reservation and that there will be after termination of federal trusteeship. He said that Indians wished to assume obligations as all other citizens, and asked that they be judged and accepted as individuals.

Zakoji gave a resume of Klamath Reservation history and the influences on Indian living since it was set up, along with high points of Public Law 567 and its education provisions with which he is connected.

Tom Watters, Rotarian and a management specialist for the Klamath Tribe, was chairman of the day.

Mill Wastes Under Study

Initial benefits will be reaped from a recently completed study of air pollution problems resulting from sawmill waste burners when Oregon lumbermen attend a half-day briefing session in Springfield June 12 to hear conclusions of the survey team.

The $15,000 study was launched last June by the Oregon State College engineering experiment station in cooperation with the state air pollution authority and the U.S. public health service. Project engineers have completed 19 intensive measurements of eight typical "wigwam" type waste burners in an attempt to determine methods for better control of smoke and other emissions.

Carl E. Green, air pollution authority president, said the study has proved some burners are doing "an excellent job" of consuming waste products. Measurements showed others "are serious offenders" in contributing to Oregon's air pollution problem, he said.

The June 12 meeting is being jointly sponsored by the experiment station, the air pollution authority, and the city of Eugene. Attendance is expected to include representatives of many lumber mills, state and local health and related agencies, and observers from the state of Washington.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Willamalane Park and Recreation Building, Eighth and A Streets, Springfield.

Driver Tests Available

A state driver's license examination will be on duty in Merrill Tuesday, June 10, it was announced by Bob Dow, Klamath Falls driver examiner of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The examiner will be at the Merrill Fire House between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. He will handle new licenses or permits, appointments for which should be made well ahead of 4 p.m. Renewals of existing licenses will also be available.

Because of the Merrill service on June 10, the Klamath Falls office will be closed on that date, Dow said.

NEW PRESIDENT CHOSEN

YREKA — At the dinner meeting of the Yreka Rotary Annex, Mrs. Rod Baumbach was chosen as the new president for the coming year to succeed Mrs. Allan McMurray, who presided at the meeting. Mrs. Ivan Swickard was elected to serve as secretary-treasurer for the new term.

Summer Job Scarcity Seen

Lack of orders for high school student employees at the Klamath Falls office of the Oregon State Employment Service indicates that local young people will have more difficulty than usual finding summer jobs, Guy Barker, local manager, says.

Work permits issued during the first week of vacation were 50 per cent below the number issued during the corresponding period in 1957, Barker reports.

"This area lacks the type of work found in small fruit and vegetable growing areas," according to Barker. "More recreation facilities are necessary to give the youngsters something to occupy their time when berry picking is not available."

Shasta Group Meeting Held

MONTAGUE — Major portion of the meeting of the Shasta Valley Community Club Tuesday evening, June 3, at the Montague Auditorium, was devoted to completing plans for the seventh annual junior rodeo and barbecue to be staged at Montague on Sunday, June 15.

Mrs. Hilda Cooley, president, announced that the barbecue committee has been selected, with the barbecuing of the beef to be placed in the hands of George Solus who is noted in Siskiyou County, for his cookery in the field of barbecue.

Since none of the committee members of the Recreation Park Planning Committee was present, no reports were given relative to the construction of the tennis courts.

Jim Dow, who is in charge of the public address system, asked that the club consider the purchase of a new amplifier, since the one the club has been using is not sufficient to give a good enough performance during a rodeo. After purchase an amplifier and phonograph, which will be partially paid for from funds derived at the rodeo, with a $25 contribution from the Montague PTA who has had use of it for its annual spring productions. Also the Siskiyou County Farm Bureau has offered to contribute $25 towards its purchase.

Parade chairman Norman Sears reported that he has lined up several riding groups and 4-H Clubs for floats for the parade, which will spark the opening of the junior rodeo on Sunday morning, June 15.

Mrs. Cooley also announced that the music for the junior queen dance will be furnished by the Tip-Toppers. The winning girl for the junior queen will be announced at midnight of the dance, June 14.

SA Chief To Change Posts

This is the last Sunday that Maj. and Mrs. Hjalmar Anderson will be in charge of the Salvation Army's meetings in Klamath Falls.

The Andersons will be leaving this week to return to Portland, where they have their home. They will be succeeded by Sen. Capt. and Mrs. M. Lewis Kendall, who will arrive here from Eureka, California, with their four children, later in the week.

Major and Mrs. Anderson wish to thank all the residents of Klamath Falls for their kindness and cooperation during their stay here.

The public is cordially invited to attend today's Salvation Army meeting at 400 Klamath Avenue. Times are 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

School OK's Local Student

Jimmie Dean Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Jackson, Klamath Falls, has been accepted for admission to the University of Oregon Dental School, Portland, and will begin his studies fall term, 1958.

Jackson took his pre-dental studies at Oregon State College.

The dental school offers a four-year curriculum leading to the degree of doctor of dental medicine, and a graduate program offering additional training and the master of science degree to dentists who wish to specialize in certain fields.

Chamber May Change Frame

DUNSMUIR — Reorganization of the Dunsmuir Chamber of Commerce was planned at a breakfast session at the Travelers Hotel recently.

James Lockart, chamber vice president, presided and asked Don Sirinani, J. (Bud) Lachenmyer and Don Warner to serve as a nominating committee. At the June 26 meeting they will suggest a replacement for Armand Brunel, who resigned as president.

Brunel, who was present at the meeting, said he would like to devote his time and energies to securing conferences and small conventions for Dunsmuir rather than continue in an administrative capacity. The terrific spontaneous response to Dunsmuir by Rotary conferees should encourage the city to become a convalesce headquarters, Brunel said. He cited 25 letters of endorsement from one Rotary Club alone plus many similarly unsolicited "thank you's."

A secretary to continue the correspondence program of the chamber will also be sought this month. Mrs. Armand Brunel has answered nearly 1,000 inquiries on recreation, housing, employment, small business opportunities and other matters in the past 18 months.

The Ski Bowl opening September 1 and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen convention in October are the two large projects the chamber will support this fall. Don Sirinani was named to arrange for the chamber float in the Railroad Days parade.

Polio Training

MONTAGUE — Special agent instructors of the FBI will conduct the annual peace officer training during the week of June 23-27 at the Siskiyou County Sheriff's Office, from 8 a.m. to noon daily. It was recently announced by Sheriff Al Cottar. The Siskiyou County Sheriff's Office is the sponsor of the training program.

HARRAH DAVIDSON (Here to congratulate Harold Davidson on his outstanding record of sales of Handymen Jacks during the last four years and to establish him as Pacific Coast distributor of the line was Bloomfield Mfg. Co., Bloomfield, Ind., which makes the Handymen Jack, Kam-Slam doorcheck, tea wagons, trouble lights and does custom manufacturing of hydraulic cylinders for checks. . . . now getting into the manufacture of trips for vending machines to make them fully automatic. The Handymen Jack was invented and patented by Harrah's grandfather, the late P. J. Harrah, who established the manufacturing firm of which Jack Harrah is a third generation executive. . . . the company makes more than 50,000 Jacks a year and it is an approved item with General Service Administration which purchases for governmental agencies. . . . Adm. Byrd took several to the South Pole during Operation Deep Freeze. The plant has been working a minimum of five days a week (45 hours) and has started on a six-day week (34 hours) . . . sales each month since last October have been up at least 50 per cent over the same month the year before. . . . until May, 1957, Harrah said. . . . he gives credit for the success to aggressive selling, advertising and the versatility of the product. . . . the company policy has been to expand production so that the retail price can be held down because of volume sales. . . . products carry a one-year guarantee and export business extends to 10-15 foreign countries. Harrah is concentrating on the Pacific Northwest and Alaska on this trip, but will make a stop at Reno to see Bill Harrah of Harrah's Club. . . . the two men know of no relationship, but Jack has a set of cocktail glasses, ash trays, etc., from Harrah's Club and Bill Harrah has been given a Handymen Jack for his shop as he is an antique car fan.

Joan Bingham started last week as secretary to Howard R. Perrin, Klamath Falls architect at 1121 Main St., replacing Mrs. Philip (Frances) Lee, secretary for the last two years who will move to Portland later this year after they sell their home on Portland St. . . . Mrs. Lee has lived in Klamath Falls since marrying her husband (19 years ago) and setting up housekeeping here to raise a family of four. . . . Mrs. Bingham is the wife of Howard Bingham, coordinator of secondary education for Klamath County schools. . . . she came with her family from England six years ago and moved to Utah where she met and married her husband. . . . they have lived in Klamath Falls for a year and this is her first job in town.

Guest speaker at the American Short Line Railroad meeting at Eugene recently was Ed Greene of Oregon Agricultural Chemicals, Tulelake, who illustrated his talk on chemical weed control with slides of the short line operation on the Pacific Northwest. . . . most of the lines are using an Oregon Ag Chemicals weed and brush control program. . . . the company has extended its weed and brush control to encompass power companies' lines from Eureka to San Jose and through Washington and into Alaska, for railroads, highways and power companies to the north.

Oregon Tech has a new water tank, W. D. Purvine, OTI director, reported during the week. . . . the new 300,000-gallon water tank has been put up by the Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, with Richard Tachell as foreman on the job. . . . the big tank replaces the old leaky one and has been constructed according to specifications of American Water Works Assn. . . . final interior painting and filling of the tank is slated for early this week.

May receipts at Klamath Falls Post Office totaled $24,331.09, according to Postmaster Chester L. Langstief. . . . an increase of one per cent over May, 1957, he said.

Another newcomer to Town and Country Shopping Center is Ken's Fish Shop, 3725 So. 6th (behind the new Town and Country branch of the U.S. National Bank). . . . moved from 4615 So. 6th. . . . owner and operator is Ken Wallin who has been in the "fixing" business here for two years. . . . his main specialty is sharpening lawnmowers, but the shop does all sorts of grinding and sharpening, small motor repairs and welding of all types, including aluminum.

Carrollyn Davis, student nurse from the University of Oregon School of Nursing, will soon complete two months field experience with the Klamath County Health Department. Public health is an area of training for the students at the University of Oregon School of Nursing in addition to other basic services such as surgery, pediatrics, medical nursing, and orthopedics. When Miss Davis finishes this period of training in public health nursing, she will have completed the four year program and will receive her bachelor of science degree on June 12, 1958. Upon writing the necessary examination, she will be ready to perform as a graduate nurse. Miss Davis is the second student to spend a two month period with the local health department, although many students from other schools of nursing in Oregon have spent one week periods of observation. Cooperative participation in student nursing programs not only enables the student to gain a broader aspect of the field of nursing but also provides opportunity to recruit additional workers in the vital field of public health.
