Rustling Case Dropped

Despite the personal appearance of the courthouse of a calf and mother, charges of rustling against two Fort Klamath men yesterday were dismissed in district court.

Judge D. E. Van Vactor ruled on the complaint against Eldon Shafer and Paul R. Wilson did allege unlawful transportation of animals, and thus dismissed it. The district attorney's office, however, was undeterred by the technicality and said a new indictment would be drawn up and the men rearrested immediately.

The prosecution had arranged trucking in of the calf which two men allegedly stole from Chad Adair Johnson last May.

Johnson identified the calf as being to him and the identification was confirmed by State Brand inspectors Everett Malone and Elmer Nicholson, the D.A.'s office.

Road Work Aids Asked

Bids were opened last week by California Division of Highways in Sacramento for applying seal coat on a total of 19.5 miles of paving at three locations in Siskiyou County. The lowest of the three bids for this work, $10, was submitted by Howard Folsom, Sacramento.

S. S. Miles, district engineer Redding, says that the work is seal existing paving from moisture penetration and provide surface that will be less slippery in wet and frosty weather. The proposed sealing operations cover approximately 12.5 miles on Highway 99, including the portion of road from Shasta River Gabelle, as well as the section 4.7 miles south of Yreka to Berlin Road. On State Route 96, between 5.8 miles east of Scotty to Walker Bridge, seal will be applied to approximately seven miles of paving. Work is expected to be completed by mid-summer.

Residents Taking Summer Vacations Urged To Let Police Know Of Absence

Residents of the city planning to take an extended vacation longer than several days were urged by Councilman Walter Fleet, chairman of the police commission, at Monday's council meeting to telephone the police and inform them so that they can arrange to check the residence frequently.

Fleet pointed out that the police patrol the entire city area, and will keep special check on all places where people are known to be on vacation, providing they are aware of it.

The council also opened the only bid received for police uniforms. The bid, submitted by Dick Reeder's Store of Klamath Falls, was accepted later Monday night by the police commission.

The bid called for 24 jackets at $44.50 each, 24 caps at $3.25 each and 24 ties at $1.35 each. Other portions of the bid specified 48 pairs of trousers at $23.95 each and 48 shirts at $14.90 each.

One other bid, opened and accepted by the council was the figure of $7,363.95 submitted by Asphalt Paving Company for the paving of Mesa Street. The figure was $8.10 lower than the estimated cost of the project as prepared by the city engineer's office.

On other uniform figures, it was reported that plans called for the new "meter maids" to be hired to patrol parking meters, to be outfitted in Kelly green uniforms that would be skirt and blouse type.

Councilman Fleet stated positively that the fleet would not be of the new chemise style.

The council postponed a hearing on the off street parking district report of Jack Faustman from June 16 to July 14 at Faustman's request. Faustman has been busy conducting a survey of the Klamath Falls parking picture, analyzing needs and problems.

Faustman indicated that his report would be ready for council perusal in late June.

Action was begun to condemn three cabins owned by Frank Weaver and located along Portland Street adjacent to the SP tracks. It was recommended by the city building inspector Verne Schortgen and Fire Chief Roy Rowe that the three cabins in question be condemned and declared unfit for habitation.

City Attorney Henry Perkins was instructed to draw up the necessary ordinance to complete the condemnation proceedings.

Inspector Schortgen reported that building requests in the month of May totalled $188,561.

A request was granted to license the appearance in Klamath Falls of the West Coast Shows from June 30 to and including July 6. Licensing of the carnival was requested by the Klamath Basin Rodeo Association.

The Venture Club was given permission to stage a kiddie parade down Main Street beginning at 11 a.m. on June 28. This parade would be a part of the Basin Celebration festivities.

It was revealed also that Mayor Lawrence Slater, Attorney Henry Perkins and State Senator Harry Roivin, member of the legislative Interim Highway Committee, will go to Salem for a meeting at 2 p.m. Friday with the State Highway Department on plans for the west side bypass construction.

Target date for the letting of bids for the project has now been tentatively set at July 29. A question has arisen regarding the payment of the cost of relocation of some of the utilities now located in the area to be covered by the bypass.

There appeared to be a possibility that the matter might end up in the courts.

Mayor Slater indicated that he did not propose to obligate the city in any way to get the project underway, but that the meeting was to clarify some other points in the contract which the city would be requested to sign prior to the letting of bids on the long-awaited project.

Slater also indicated that plans for securing a city manager in accordance with the mandate of the voters at the recent primary election have been going forward. Four applications had already been received, Slater indicated, and the city was preparing to advertise in "Western City" and other publications for applications.

He also indicated that it would probably be approximately October 1 before a city manager could be selected and available for service in Klamath Falls.

Bohemia Lumber Firm Bid Wins

ROSEBURG (AP) — Bohemia Lumber Co., Culp Creek, bid $53,730 Monday for 4,200,000 board feet of Umpqua National Forest timber located in the Bohemia Ranger District about 37 miles southeast of Cottage Grove.

The timber was appraised at $46,380. The company bid $17.70 a thousand for Douglas fir and pine appraised at $14.90 and $8.25 for Western hemlock and minor species valued at $5.90 a thousand.

The 61-acre tract includes 2,400,000 feet of Douglas fir and pine and 1,800,000 feet of the minor species.

Firemen On 31 May Calls

The city fire department answered 31 calls in May, Chief Roy Rowe reported to the city council Monday night.

One of the calls was a false alarm. Total value of property menaced by fire during the month in the city was listed as $58,425, Rowe reported, and of this amount, total fire loss was $3,375.80.

Of this loss, insurance covered only $1,503.80. Largest single uninsured loss was one dwelling listed as a $1,300 loss and not covered by any insurance.

Fireman Dewey Mitchell suffered the only injury during the month when he received second degree burns on the neck while fighting a fire at 1102 Adams on May 28.

In addition to the fire-fighting activities of the department, some 186 inspections were made and hazards removed from 29.

Wyatt May Be Named To Court

PORTLAND (AP) — Wendell Wyatt, long prominent in Oregon politics, may be appointed to the U.S. Tax Court, The Oregonian said Tuesday.

The newspaper said Wyatt, a former Oregon Republican Central Committee chairman, is being considered by the White House for the appointment.

Wyatt, an Astoria attorney, was campaign chairman in the May primary for Rep. Walter Norblad, who won renomination in Oregon's 1st Congressional District.

If appointed, Wyatt would fill the term of the late Stephen Rice of Florida. The term expires in 1968. The job pays $22,500 a year.

GUNS — VANCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — People are carrying guns in plain sight here, Old West style, and the police don't know what to do about it. Kentucky law forbids activities of the department, some concealed weapons only. The state attorney general has been appealed to for a ruling.

Municipal Pool Busy Despite Bad Weather; New Classes To Start

Who says swimming's no good in cloudy weather? Certainly nobody who turned up for Monday's opening of swimming at the municipal swimming pool.

The overcast even added to the pleasure of learning to swim. Ella Redkey, pool manager, reports.

"Everybody had a good time, because the water kept them warm," Miss Redkey said.

So anyone bothered by the morning chill, or who simply wants to learn to swim, could do worse than to sign up for this first session of classes.

Classes now going include one for women at 8 a.m., which coincides with workout time for the synchronized swimming (or water ballet) group, open to anyone who swims well enough to meet the requirements.

There are four classes for children, at 9, 9:45, 10:30 and 11:15.

Miss Redkey will also be glad to arrange instruction for men at 7 a.m., if there is a demand. Otherwise, men, or family groups, can be accommodated from 5 to 6 p.m.

There will be special instruction for kids signing up for the swimming team—and also a parent-child class, from 12 to 1.

Fees for all the classes, which operate Monday through Friday, are $2.50 for a two-week session. An exception is made for instruction from 5 to 6 p.m., when regular pool admission charges of 35 cents for adults, 20 cents for children, will also cover the instruction. However, arrangements for instruction at this hour should be made a day in advance.

Signups for the first session of instruction will continue through Wednesday. Those who solve their heating problem by simply staying in bed can take a chance on clearer skies for the second session, which begins June 23.

The pool is located at 1821 Main Street, phone TU 3-3221. It is open for swimming, without instruction, from 1 to 9 p.m.
