

Ike Backing Of Restrictive Labor Bill Pleases Some Republicans, Angers Others

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's advocacy of a more restrictive labor control bill cut a political pattern today that some Republicans found pleasing. Others didn't.

Eisenhower apparently has put the party on record as favoring more drastic action than most Democrats are willing to support to curb the kind of labor abuses exposed by the racket investigations.

The administration is demanding changes in a compromise bill drafted by the Labor Committee under the sponsorship of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

The most immediate effect of Eisenhower's course will be felt in this year's contest for party control of Congress.

The Senate now is scheduled to take up the labor bill Thursday, and perhaps complete it this week.

Regardless of whether Congress finally enacts any bill, Republican candidates will be tagged with the contention their party wants more regulation of unions than labor will accept.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), running for governor of California, and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), seeking reelection, were highly pleased with the position taken by Eisenhower.

Both had fought to include many provisions opposed by labor leaders in an earlier Senate bill to regulate health and pension plans.

GOP candidates who have indicated similar views included Sens. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Frank A. Barrett of Wyoming, John D. Hohlitzel of West Virginia, John J. Williams of Delaware and Arthur V. Watkins of Utah.

More in the middle of the road were GOP Sens. Charles E. Potter of Michigan, William A. Purtell of Connecticut, Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia and Edward J. Thye of Minnesota.

Four GOP candidates who aligned themselves against Knowland included GOP Sens. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, William Langer of North Dakota, George W. Malone of Nevada and Frederick G. Payne of Maine.

Goldwater told reporters he regards Republican support for a more comprehensive bill as "the only issue we have in this campaign."

Sen. Irving Ives (R-NY) criticized Goldwater and Mitchell for what he said was an attempt to "make a Republican thing out of this bill."

Air Force Planner Backs Off Moon Shot Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of Air Force space planning says he was speaking only of planning dates in saying the Air Force will attempt to fire its first rocket toward the moon in August.

Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, director of Air Force research and development, told a news conference in Milwaukee yesterday that three moon shots will be attempted this year—in August, September and October.

He was promptly challenged by the Pentagon's space boss, Roy W. Johnson, director of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency. He said no final decision has been made on the firing dates.

Anderson declined, through an aide, to comment on Johnson's statement. But on his return to Washington last night, he told newsmen he had explained "in Milwaukee he was speaking only of a planning date."

Money Returned To Gator Pit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A boy who took a nickel from an alligator pit at the risk of his life has returned the money.

The unidentified youngster mailed the money with a note saying he was very sorry.

Anderson also didn't clarify disagreement between him and Johnson whether the Air Force will try to hit the moon on its first try or merely come near it.

But Johnson said: "No attempt will be made to achieve direct contact with the moon in the projects now assigned." He added: "There will be no attempt to make a direct impact. They will try to orbit the moon at best. At worst, they hope to go around the moon once."

Religion Still Going Strong In Russia Despite Violent Soviet Attacks

MOSCOW (AP)—Religion is still attracting young and old in the Soviet Union.

Trud ridiculed its meek Ukrainian letter writer's suggestion that religion is harmless. The Bible, it said, is full of words like "destroy," "annihilate," "smash" and "set afire."

The reason, the Soviet press says, is that the nation's educators and propagandists are falling down on the job of "countering religious propaganda with antireligious propaganda."

Trud ridiculed its meek Ukrainian letter writer's suggestion that religion is harmless. The Bible, it said, is full of words like "destroy," "annihilate," "smash" and "set afire."

Two leading Moscow newspapers, Trud and Soviet Russia, recently assailed religion on the same day. Both demanded a stepped-up campaign to stop what Soviet Russia described as "the insidious spread of religious propaganda which is drawing young people into its net and poisoning their minds with wild prejudices."

Trud published a letter from an 87-year-old Ukrainian Baptist who suggested timidly that as a general rule a believer was more kindly disposed than a nonbeliever and after all what harm could he do to communism?

"The teachings of communism are incompatible with religion," Trud retorted.

"Are these words of peace?" it asked. As for the Baptists, Trud said, Rockefeller—a bad word in the Soviet Union—is a Baptist.

Soviet Russia said similar arguments are reported by readers throughout the country. Religion, it said, will not die out by itself. It must be rooted out, and the struggle against it must be waged without letup.

Sarcastically, the paper noted that some propaganda organizations in the Soviet Union "seem to think that freedom of conscience (officially sanctioned by the So-

Greek-American Soprano Sings Before Royalty

LONDON (AP)—Maria Callas triumphed last night as Queen Elizabeth II and a glittering society audience celebrated the 100th anniversary of Royal Opera House, Covent Garden.

The fiery, Greek-American soprano won six curtain calls and rave reviews for her singing of the mad scene from Bellini's "I Puritani." Without her "the operatic side of the proceedings would have been doleful indeed," the News Chronicle critic wrote.

"I've never had such a wonderful reception," she told reporters amid joyful tears. "I shall never forget this night. Just think—the Queen was there while I sang."

London's Times described the gala as "equal in glory to those of Queen Victoria's golden days." The program of opera and ballet also included Covent Garden's pride, Dame Margot Fonteyn, and the other ballerinas of the Royal Ballet in a special "birthday offering" and American mezzo-soprano Blanche Thebom and Canadian tenor John Vickers in the love duet from Berlioz' "Trojans at Carthage," the house's most spectacular production of recent years.

The opera house management Irish in its decoration of the royal box, with two huge harps of Kelly green on each side, a canopy of violet green stripes, the front of the box splashed in green and a green carpet, Elizabeth, entering to a fanfare from 20 trumpets, were peacock blue faille embroidered in sapphire blue and rhinestones.

"Wonderful performance," the monarch told Miss Callas at the backstage presentation.

MEDICINE TO THAILAND LONDON (UPI)—Moscow radio said Tuesday night that the Soviet Union will fly a shipment of medicine to Thailand to help fight the cholera epidemic in that southeast Asian country. The broadcast said the serum was offered by the Soviet ambassador in Bangkok.

Professional Crook To Die

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In the 22 years of Richard Allen Siles' life he has been arrested 23 times.

The charges: rape, theft, burglary and murder.

Siles' first 22 arrests didn't result in a single conviction. But yesterday, a Jackson County (Kansas City) Circuit Court jury found him guilty of first-degree murder.
