Death Takes Victim Of Accident

SPOKANE (AP)—Lt. Thomas Vrana 23, the public relations officer who was run over by a 24-ton bulldozer while taking pictures of the ground breaking ceremonies at Fairchild Air Force Base, died Thursday night.

The young Pittsburgh, Pa., lieutenant was badly mangled in the lower part of his body when the heavy machine, operated by the base commander, Col. Willard B. Atwell, pinned him to the ground after he slipped off during ceremonies marking the start of a four million dollar base housing project Wednesday.

Vrana had jumped up on the front of the bulldozer to take a picture of Atwell and slipped when the machine started to move. The regular operator leaped up after the engine stalled and eased it back off the officer's body.

The sudden accident horrified a small crowd watching the ceremony and shocked the 9,000 men at Fairchild, a prime installation of the Strategic Air Command.

Dozens of officers, enlisted men and even Mrs. Donald Hillman, wife of Col. Donald Hillman, commander of the 92nd Bomb Wing at Fairchild, lined up to donate blood.

So did the grief-stricken Col. Atwell, the popular commanding officer, Atwell had been at the hospital almost continuously since the accident.

Vrana suffered compound fractures of both legs, internal injuries and deep shock. He was spared instant death when his head and the rest of his body fell between the tracks of the dozer.

Fight Flares Over Church Controls

NEW YORK (UPI)—A simmering feud between two factions fighting for administrative control of a Brooklyn Episcopal church flared into open violence Thursday.

The leader of one faction was cut by a saw and was reported to have been knocked down during the melee outside the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. Cameron Readle, the senior warden of a vestry supporting ousted supply priest Howard Melish, was treated for a cut hand. The wound was believed to have been inflicted accidentally.

The disturbance began when the Rev. Dr. Howard L. M. Cowan, assistant rector at the church, and Leroy Peterson, a vestryman, tried to enter the church, which has been closed since July as a result of a dispute between two warring vestries. Finding the entrance chained and padlocked and the door locked from the inside, they attempted to cut through the chain with a hacksaw.

Beadle and two other pro-Melish vestrymen then appeared and challenged Cowan's right to enter. Cowan in turn produced a Supreme Court order, dated June 22, 1957, giving the anti-Melish forces authority to take control of church property.

Beadle, however, noted that the order carried the name of the Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener, who succeeded the Rev. Mr. Melish as rector of the embattled church, and not that of Cowan. The Rev. Mr. Melish was ousted because of his alleged left-wing philosophies. With a crowd looking on, a scuffle ensued, during which Beadle was cut by the saw and knocked down.

SWEEPSTAKE

PORTLAND (AP)—The grand sweepstakes award in the Portland Rose Festival was won Thursday by Dr. J. M. Burkhardt of Olympia, Wash.

It is the second year in a row that he won the top prize in Oregon's biggest flower show.

His winning bloom this year was a Sam McGredy.

Dr. Burkhardt also won three other trophies in the show, 70th annual one here.
