

THE CONGREGATION of the Congregational Church, 2154 Garden Avenue, will dedicate the newly remodeled and redecorated sanctuary next fall in memory of four late members of the church, Mrs. Violet (Henry) Moore, Mrs. Lizzie (W. C.) Little, Miss Mary Eckstein and Albert Joens. The chancel platform has been enlarged and furnished with new altar, pulpit and lectern, designed and made in Klamath Falls. Colors of the interior are sandlewood, coffee and cream. The organ speaker has been relocated in an organ loft. Time for morning worship during the summer months is 9:30 with Church School at the same time. The Rev. Marshall A. McKinney is pastor.

Former Mt. Laki Pastor Tells Of Africa

By RUTH KING
Rev. and Mrs. William Ainley, former residents here, now serving in West Africa as missionaries, are having some interesting experiences. Before leaving for their foreign field, Rev. Ainley was pastor at the Mt. Laki Community Presbyterian Church.

In a recent letter they mentioned being present for four vacation Bible schools in Spanish Guinea, held in four different villages. They lived comfortably in mud or bark houses by taking their own food and camping equipment. African boys and girls they say are eager to learn.

They spent an interesting week at Corisco Island on the beach at Spanish Guinea where they accompanied an African pastor, Gustavo, on his quarterly communion trip. This is the island where the work of the Presbyterian Mission in West Africa began.

They write of leaving the mainland at noon in a dugout canoe with a sail, rowing for two hours down the Rio Muni River where they waited until dark to complete their trip, using tide and wind for assistance. By the time they reached the sea it was pitch dark.

The sail was put up by the African crew, a few strokes of the oars, the wind caught the sail and the Ainleys were off for their first night ride in a sailboat. No one had a chance to get sleepy as they spent 10 hours shifting their weight from side to side to balance the canoe.

After arriving at 10 o'clock the next morning, they were banqueted three times a day by the hospitable African Christians. During their week's stay they walked 10 miles to have communion with members too old to walk to church. The oldest of these was a 99-year-old chief, who knew many of the early day missionaries and who is the only Christian chief in Spanish Guinea.

Letters will reach the family at B.P. 18, Ambam, French Cameroon, West Africa.

ADVICE FOR JEWS

PHILADELPHIA — Every modern Jew should have a prayer card on his dresser, says Dr. Samuel H. Markowitz, author of a new book, "Leading a Jewish Life in the Modern World."

Gem Group Plans Dinner

McCLOUD—The Southern Siskiyou Gem and Mineral Society will hold a potluck dinner meeting at the McCloud golf course picnic grounds June 15 at 2 p.m.

Members of the Yreka Rock and Gem Club and the Redding Shasta Gem and Mineral Society have been invited to attend.

A swap table will be set up for exchange items. Plans for exhibits at the Siskiyou County Fair at Yreka and the Lumberjack Fiesta to be held in McCloud will be discussed.

Reports on members' vacations and rock hunts will be given, the club president, Hi Wellman, said.

Sunday School Class Set

Sunday School classes organized at the American Baptist Church which meets in the music room of Altamont Junior High School will be held for the first time Sunday, June 15, starting at 9:45 a.m. Ralph Eads, owner of Eads' Transfer and Storage, will serve as superintendent.

Classes have been formed for older and younger adults, junior high members, intermediates, kindergarten and nursery ages.

The morning worship service will be at 11 o'clock with the message brought by the Rev. Robert L. Runyon.

MIXUP

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Three members of the county Democratic central committee were "elected" to the Republican county central committee at the June 3 election.

The names of the three were written in, but registrar of voters Eber Tarleton explained that committee members must be registered members of their party.

The mixup apparently resulted because there was only one candidate for three vacancies on the GOP ticket. Tarleton didn't say how the situation would be straightened out.

Ten Commandments Is Sermon Theme

The Ten Commandments will be the theme of midweek services to be held each Wednesday evening at Hope Lutheran Church, South Sixth Street and Homedale Road. Services which began June 11 will be at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. H. Edward Hamme, pastor, announced that one commandment will be the subject each Wednesday evening during the summer.
