

Warehouse Unions Join In Battle For New Contracts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Top brass of two western warehouse unions—one run by the Teamsters and the other by Harry Bridges—have agreed to put up a united front in negotiating for separate contract demands.

In a terse joint announcement, Joseph Dillon, director of the Western Warehouse Division, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer of the rival International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said representatives

Three Die In House Fire

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP)—Three small children were burned to death last night when the house in which they were sleeping in rural Mount Pleasant was set afire by a gas furnace explosion.

Glenn McQueen, 7, his sister, Sharon, 5, and their brother, Charles, 3, died in the fire-explosion.

Hospitalized with serious burns were Mrs. Arthur McQueen, 27, her four-month-old daughter, Susie, and her brother, Roger Falaugher, 16.

Police said all of the victims were asleep when the furnace exploded.

A neighbor, Earl Busong, broke a window in the blazing house and carried Susie to safety.

Mrs. McQueen and her children were at the Falaugher house to spend the evening with her brother whose mother, Mrs. Audrey Falaugher, was at work. Mrs. McQueen's husband was at the family home in Mount Pleasant.

Jury Vetoes Damage Suit

EUGENE (AP)—A circuit court jury Thursday night decided against Charles Graves in his $100,000 damage suit against Lane County Sheriff Ed Elder and deputy E. J. Robertson.

The verdict was 10-2 after about 6½ hours of deliberation.

Graves asked damages contending that Elder and Robertson had him remain in one side of a duplex while law officers shot it out with a man in the other side. The shooting affray occurred the night of Feb. 22, 1957.

Albert Lewis Wachsmuth, the man who lived in the other side of the duplex, shot and killed state policeman Charles Sanders in the battle. Later Wachsmuth was sentenced to life in prison.

DOGNAPE
MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Richard H. Smith, faced "dogsnapping" charges today. A watchman found Smith in the city pound with one pooch in his arms and another already loaded in his automobile.

of their unions met yesterday at the Fairmont Hotel for "a full review of current warehouse agreements which are now being negotiated" for 40,000 West Coast warehousemen.

"The two unions saw eye to eye on all issues," the announcement concluded.

The two unions served warning they are not going to be divided and ruled or played off one against the other.

The two unions also agreed neither would make a wage settlement without consulting the other and to hold joint conferences as negotiations continue.

R.A. Snardon, manager of the Distributors Assn. of Northern California, said:

"We now have satisfactory bargaining relationships with both unions. We trust their joint announcement signals the end of the long jurisdictional problems between them."

These began in 1950 when the Teamsters announced they were going to take over Bridges' warehousemen.

The long feud was interrupted early last year in a deal between Dillon and Goldblatt which resulted in a 15 cent hourly wage increase, biggest in warehouse union history.

Reaffirmation of the pact is intended to present a firm front in negotiations now for another 15 cent wage hike with fringe benefits. Minimum pay now is $2.13½ an hour for Teamster warehousemen and $2.12½ for ILWU warehousemen.

The fact could pave the way to a firm truce locally and a possible development on the national level of a working agreement among the Teamsters, the ILWU and the East Coast International Longshoremen's Assn. None of these are members of the AFL-CIO.
