4-H Girls Show Sewing Skill At Meeting

TULELAKE — Thirty Tulelake 4-H girls displayed their ability as seamstresses to an interested audience of nearly 100 parents, 4-H leaders and 4-H members in the Home Economics Building at the Tulelake Fairgrounds June 7.

The occasion was the second annual Tulelake leaders meeting of the Basin, assisted by Bob Savage, Madoc County farm adviser, and Bill Rudiman, Siskiyou County farm adviser.

The girls modeled garments they had made in their 4-H projects during the past year.

Winners of the dress revue were Anna Davis of the Lava Beds 4-H Club, who won the Tulelake Grange Dress Revue trophy; Johnella Takacs, also of the Lava Beds 4-H Club, who won the dress revue medal for the "Make Clothes More Quickly" group; Marsha Chambers of the Homestead 4-H Club who won the dress revue medal for the "Cotton Separates" group, and Susan Christy of the Homestead 4-H Club who won the dress revue medal of the "ABC's of Clothing" group. Judges for the dress revue were Lillian Hoffman and Ruth Gustavson, home demonstration agents from Klamath County.

All the clothes modeled by the girls were judged earlier in the day by a committee of 4-H Clothing Leaders from the Basin's 4-H clubs. Ribbons were awarded on the basis of quality of construction by 4-H leaders, Nellie Takacs, Betty Baghott, Eleanor Carman, Mildred Dingler, Esther Seus, Frankie Porterfield, and Dorothy Hartley.

The awards presented to the girls during the day were all donated by the Tulelake Grange.

Girls participating in the dress revue were Robbie Rogers, Beth Prenger, Fay Spangler, Carol Lewis, Susan Christy, Julie Hartley, Karen Haynes, Lena May O'Keefe, Susan Crawford, Helen Hundley, Judy Prosser, Susan Kline, Rita Williams, Judy Workman, and Peggy Bolesta in the "ABC's of Clothing" group; Diane Dingler, Marilee Rinabarger, Barbara Roberts, Donna Seus, Wilma Price, Linda Woods, Jeanne Carman, Rita Hundley, Barbara Darrow, and Marsha Chambers in the "Cotton Separates" group; Sharon Baghott, Johnella Takacs, Anna Davis, Katy Porterfield and Jeannette Pettigrew in the "Make Clothes More Quickly" group.

Touring Australians To Visit In Klamath Falls

Sixty Australians, on a good will tour of the United States, will be the guests of Klamath Falls from June 28 to 30, O. K. Puckett, president of the local Rotary Club, has announced.

The party consists of 37 Rotarians, 23 of whom are accompanied by their wives, who recently attended the Rotary International Convention in Dallas, Texas.

Their tour is taking them to such other principal American cities as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Washington and San Francisco. They are not, however, hitting every principal city in the country—the omission of Detroit and Denver can be noted on the itinerary—so local residents can assume that Klamath Falls' reputation for hospitality and scenic attractions has made some impression in Oceania. (Last year, nine visitors from New Zealand were the guests of the local Rotary Club.)

However that may be, Puckett wishes to emphasize that the tour is not an official Rotary affair, but that the Australians are coming here as private citizens. He
