School Facts

Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of informative articles pertaining to the Klamath Falls schools and their budgets. The presentations are under sponsorship of the Klamath Falls chapter of the Classroom Teachers' Association. Questions pertaining to the schools and their budgets may be directed to Marilou O'Connor, 133 Grant Street.

By MARILOU O'CONNOR
The Klamath Falls public school system, the school systems of the nearby communities of Medford and Tulelake, and the Klamath County public school system face similar problems of teacher salaries. All pay on a single salary schedule; that is, the pay of the individual teacher is based on the number of years of teaching experience, and the amount of training of the teacher.

Klamath Falls, Klamath County and the Medford schools all operate under the Oregon law, with its provisions for a tax base and a six per cent limitation, and the basic school support monies. All four systems are interested in securing the best teacher possible. The salary schedule of two of the four systems, Tulelake and Medford, include four steps of training—three years beyond high school, a bachelor degree, five years of training, and masters degree. Klamath Falls and Klamath County add a fifth column for teachers with less than three years of training.

The comparative teacher-salary schedules for the districts are as follows:
BACHELOR DEGREE—Tulelake, $4,500 to $5,850; Klamath County district, $4,200 to $6,000; Klamath Falls city districts, $4,200 to $5,700; and Medford, $3,900 to $5,700.

MASTERS DEGREE—Tulelake, $4,850 to $6,500; Klamath County district, $4,400 to $6,400; Klamath Falls city districts, $4,600 to $6,300; and Medford, $4,300 to $6,300.
On the basis of the schedule, teachers having bachelor degrees receive the best starting salaries in Tulelake; Klamath Falls and Klamath County are second, and Medford pays the least. The highest maximum pay for bachelor teachers is in the Klamath County School District; with Tulelake second, and Medford and Klamath Falls last.

Teachers with masters degrees receive their highest pay in Tulelake. Second in rank for beginning pay is Klamath Falls, with Klamath County and Medford following. Top pay is highest in Tulelake, with Klamath County second, and Klamath Falls and Medford last. On a competitive basis of hiring teachers just out of college, or teachers with a masters degree, Tulelake has the advantage.

Klamath Falls, in comparison with the other three systems ranks about third. Medford pays the lowest on an average, and yet has an advantage for the teacher in its proximity to a college, making it easier for the teacher to fulfill requirements for advancement.

Each year Klamath Falls loses teachers. Many of these losses are due to normal turnover; some are the result of marriage, or of a desire for other places and other faces. All too many are due to higher pay in other school systems. The Klamath Falls city schools have lost teachers to Portland, Oswego, Riverside and San Francisco in California. Their starting and top pay follows:

BACHELOR DEGREE—Portland, $4,000 to $6,300; Oswego, $4,000 to $6,600; Riverside, $4,300 to $6,220; and San Francisco $4,500 to $6,970.
MASTERS DEGREE—Portland, $4,200 to $6,700; Oswego, $4,300 to $7,100; Riverside, $4,700 to $7,100; and San Francisco, $5,225 to $8,250.

Unless we can meet the starting pay of teachers in other systems, we will have difficulty hiring new teachers each year; unless our top pay is comparable, it is difficult to keep teachers once they are hired.
Much of our modern life is based on competition; so is teaching.

er hiring. The figures for Klamath Falls in this article are those proposed in the revised budgets. Look at them in comparison with salaries paid in other systems, the prospective teacher does.

Braille Marked Ham Radio Creates Brighter World For 13-Year-Old Blind Boy

CHICAGO (AP)—Blinded 3½ years ago, Phillip Horwitz, 13, has created a new and brighter world through the Braille-marked dials of a ham radio set.
"It pulls me through my crisis," Phillip told newsmen. "There is so much to think about and plan and I have gained many friends."
Each day he talks to several people, his mother Mildred Horwitz said. He has contacted operators in 41 states and 17 countries.
Mrs. Horwitz spoke at her son's bedside in Illinois Masonic Hospital, where Phillip is recovering from a third operation seeking to restore his sight. He went blind suddenly 3½ years ago after a brain operation.

he received his set the manufacturer sent engineers to his home to mark the dials in Braille. He speedily passed his operator's test with high grades. His call letters are K9GBS.
Aided by Braille textbooks, Phillip also excelled in his grammar school courses. He is scheduled to graduate with honors from the eighth grade next week.

Crater Park Keeps Busy

A complete tally on Sunday travel into Crater Lake National Park on the opening day could not be completed because of failure of radio service from headquarters to the entrance from Medford. There were 429 cars counted entering the park from the Annie Spring entrance, however, the park rangers reported on Monday.
Normally, travel into the park is heavier from the Annie Spring entrance, coming in from Klamath Falls and Bend, than from the direction of Medford, they added.
The count of the number of persons visiting the park is done by averages and no figures are available at this time.
There is still good skiing during the early morning hours with the surface getting slushy by 10:30 a.m., the rangers said. Several weekend skiing parties from the Rogue Valley are expected before the end of June.
Tom Williams, park superintendent, was moving his family to the park on Monday afternoon for the summer season which opened officially on Sunday. He will continue to maintain his Medford office and will return there to open bids for construction in the park next Tuesday, June 24. Construction of comfort stations, dormitory quarters and a covered entrance to the administration building is part of the Mission 66 program being conducted by the National Park Service.

Withdrawal Of Land Asked

The proposed withdrawal of 54,766 acres of land in the Fremont National Forest was announced today by Virgil T. Heath, state supervisor, Bureau of Land Management, Portland.
The lands are situated in the upper Chewaucan River drainage northwest of Lakeview in Lake County.
The U.S. Forest Service requested this withdrawal as the area contains the Thomas Creek district work center.
The withdrawal, if effected, will preclude all appropriations under the public land laws including mining location but not including mineral leasing.
A 30-day period from the date the notice of the proposed withdrawal is published in the Federal Register is allowed for interested persons to file objections or comments. Any comment for or against the proposal should be addressed to the above named official, 809 N. E. Sixth Avenue, Portland 12, Oregon.

No Farmland To Be Appropriated

WASHINGTON (AP)—No farmland will be appropriated for a Bomarc guided missile base at Camp Adair near Corvallis, Ore., Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore) said Monday.
"There has been considerable concern expressed by farmers in the area who had been led to believe their farms would be acquired by the Air Force," said Norblad.
The congressman said that the Air Force will lease the 175 acres needed for the site from the Army and the state of Oregon.

Youngsters Pack Summer School

CORVALLIS (AP)—A bumper crowd of 1,875 youngsters Tuesday went through the second day of classes at the Oregon 4-H Summer School here.
The boys and girls, who represent every Oregon county, will put in 30,000 hours in the classroom in subjects ranging from health to agriculture before the school ends Saturday.
All are attending the school on scholarships given for outstanding club work in their communities.
