Day Camp In Lake County In Operation

LAKEVIEW — Actual camping conditions under tents pitched on the Youth Center grounds are being observed at the annual Browne Day Camp which opened at 9 o'clock Monday morning under the supervision of Mrs. Hazel Van Cleave.

The girls assume living conditions in the tents with rest and eating periods designated under a camping format. Hikes "off-ground" and swimming under supervision at the municipal pool are part of this year's recreation program. A hot meal is served at noon and the girls are required to furnish only fresh fruit. The only other requirements for each girl are a permission slip to take part in campus and off-campus activities, a towel for swimming, and a heavy towel or small blanket for the rest period.

The week will be concluded on Friday with a potluck lunch at Booth Park. Mothers with cars are needed for transportation and are asked to get in contact with Mrs. Van Cleave at her home or the Youth Center.

Mrs. Helen Harbison, training leader, has announced some changes in personnel for the week. Mrs. Velma Newcombe will assist Mrs. Harold Kuempel with musical folk games; Mrs. Janet May will replace Mrs. Janet Wood as one of the leaders; and Lorna Toner will replace Susan Julier as senior girl.

THAT'S A GOOD-SIZED BIKE for Bruce Wallaert, 5, but his brother Steven, 7, seems to think he could handle it if they'd let him on the saddle. Bruce is being steadied by Harvey Boardman, assistant manager of the Payless Drug Store, 808 Main Street, which donated the bike as a prize for the entry judged "most outstanding" in the Kiddies Parade, to be held June 28. The Wallaert boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Knowles, 130 North Eldorado Avenue.

Fort Creek Motel Sold

FORT KLAMATH—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Reese have sold their Fort Creek Motel property, located two miles south of Fort Klamath on Highway 62. Poor health is given as the reason for selling.

New owners are Mr. and Mrs. Duane F. Wood, Culver City, California, who took possession on June 10. They will be assisted in managing the business by their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gale M. Wood, also of Culver City.

The property consists of eight rental cottage units with adjoining garages, a service station and a building which was used by the Reeses as living quarters. The Wood family plans to open a restaurant in this building in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese have owned and managed the business for the past seven years.

Although their future plans are indefinite, Mr. and Mrs. Reese will leave this week on a trip to the Oregon Coast, which they have never visited, and their itinerary includes stops at Roseburg and Portland. They plan to return to Fort Klamath in a week, when they will take to the road with their trailer home.

Fire Destroys Crescent Lake Home

CRESCENT—The Henry Pulliam home in Crescent was completely destroyed by fire Saturday, June 14. The fire started in the attic shortly after 5 o'clock in the afternoon and in less than an hour was burned to the ground. The Forest Service Fire Department was called to the scene of the fire, but was unable to extinguish the fast spreading flames.

Adding to the intensity of the fire was a huge pile of cord wood in back of the house. There was no insurance.

Kiddies Parade Slated As Big Event In Celebration

All residents of the Klamath Basin and a lot of people from outside, are looking forward to the annual Basin Celebration, which will reach its peak over July 4 and 5. The annual affair is noted for its variety, and most of the events hold appeal for people of all ages.

This is especially true of the Kiddies Parade, which not only affords the younger element a chance to get into the act—and their mamas and papas a legitimate opportunity to put their offspring on display—but also is a "natural" for spectators of all sorts and conditions.

The parade will be held Saturday, June 28, and is sponsored by the Venture Club of Klamath Falls. Beginning at Wright Field at 11 o'clock, the parade will swing down Main Street to end at Veterans Memorial Park, where there will be free ice cream for all participants.

Prizes will be awarded for the best float or group, the best girl entry, the best boy entry, the smallest entry, pets, the best decorated bicycle, the best decorated bicycle, the best doll buggy, and the most outstanding entry. The Kiddies Parade will be the kickoff of a big day of celebration. It will be followed by the Timber Jackaroo, and the day will end with the Queen's Ball.

Participants in the parade must be at Wright Field at 10:30 sharp; no advance registration is necessary.

Lake 4-H Teams Visit Wheat Show

LAKEVIEW — The 1957 4-H home economics and livestock judging teams from Lake County last week attended The Dalles Wheat League Show and enjoyed a trip through some Portland manufacturing plants with Mr. and Mrs. Al Haselbacher.

Both teams entered the livestock judging contest in The Dalles and the livestock team, made up of Sharon Ashcraft, Phyllis Ashcraft and Welthy Warner, took third place in the contest involving 38 teams. Sharon Ashcraft was also the seventh highest judge for the contest, in which 215 4-H'ers were entered. The home economics team of Mary Jean O'Connor, Helen Odegaard and Mary Lee Seaville, took part for experience.

The group spent one afternoon on a guided tour of The Dalles Dam, and then drove to Portland where they toured Swift and Company packing plant, Jantzen Knitting Mills and White Stag Manufacturing Company. The automobile for transportation was provided by Dr. Vic Hill. Both the Lakeview Rotary Club and the Lake County 4-H Leaders Association helped finance the trip.
