Teletype chatter:
A figure in the million-dollar Brink's robbery has been shot to death in Boston.

John Buccelli was found in his car on a Boston street yesterday with a bullet hole in his head.

More teletype chatter:
A friend of executed killer Elmer "Trigger" Burke was shot three times at point blank range in a crowded New York Cafeteria today. His name is Johnny Earle. He is in a critical condition.

The gunman made his escape by walking casually from the restaurant and getting lost on the crowded sidewalk.

Cynical comment:
We don't seem to have too much luck disposing legally of these shady characters who haunt the tenderloins of our big and crowded cities. But, in the long run, a lot of them seem to be finished off by their own disgruntled pals.

Thus justice, in a back alley sort of way, is done.

Still more teletype chatter:
The flag business isn't actively lobbying for the Alaska statehood bill, but an official of one of the oldest flag making concerns in the country says that if the bill does pass at this session of congress and Alaska becomes a state the nation's flag industry will leap from a depression into a BOOM.

How come?
It's simple.
On the day when either Alaska or Hawaii becomes a state EVERY AMERICAN FLAG IN EXISTENCE WILL BECOME OBSOLETE. On that day, the OFFICIAL flag will contain 49 stars. Present flags have only 48.

That will mean a big new market for flags.

Screwball thought:
Suppose something should happen that would cause every dwelling in the United States to become as obsolete as a 48-star flag will be when the 49th state is added to the Union.

What a boom there would be out here in the lumber country!

That suggests a startling thought:
OBsolescence IS THE BIGGEST FACTOR IN MODERN BUSINESS.

For example:
Suppose some bright young inventor should come up tomorrow with a feasible and practical jet engine that would revolutionize the automobile as completely as the first aviation jet revolutionized the airplane.

In that event, every automobile in the country would be obsolete and every owner would want a new one. The now depressed automobile industry would then boom like a gold rush town.

Dance To Be Held Tonight
The first of a series of free summer dances to be sponsored by the City Recreation Department will be held tonight in the Old Armory. Tonight's dance will be a welcome home to returning college students and local young people.

Dancing will be from 8 to 11:30 p.m. to music of the Starlighters' 13-piece dance band with the music furnished by the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry in cooperation with the Klamath Falls Local No. 495 of the Musicians' Union. LaMar K. Jensen, union member, conducts the Starlighters.

Roger Schlickeisen is chairman of the dance committee.
July 11 has been tentatively set as the date for the second dance, August 8 as the third, this dance to honor the Babe Ruthers and concurrent with the baseball tournament in Klamath Falls.

DEDICATION of the new post office in Dunsmuir is slated for 3:30 Saturday afternoon with Congressman Clair Engle, Senator Randolph Collier and Assemblywoman Pauline Davis participating in the ceremonies. Dunsmuir Opens Annual Railroad Days Celebration

DUNSMUIR — A fun-filled, action-packed Railroad Days got under way at noon on Friday with the Kiddy Parade on Pine Street in downtown Dunsmuir. Jerry, KVIP-TV clown, was on hand to help entertain the children and there were treats for all participants.

The Gold Coast Carnival on the elementary school grounds, an extensive model train layout in a downtown store building and pony rides will keep up the festivities in the afternoon.

At 6 p.m. there will be a double-header Little League game at the ballpark with a hot dog and light refreshment concession run by Little League mothers right at the park.

The crowd is invited back downtown at 8 p.m. for a variety show on Pine Street featuring songs, dances, organ music and a professional combo team, the Shastats. At 9:30 street dancing with the crowd.

Golden Rule Still Stalled
WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court Friday refused to lift a ban preventing the crew of the ketch Golden Rule from sailing into the Eniwetok area in protest against nuclear bomb tests.

Douglas refused to upset an injunction issued May 1 by U. S. District Judge Jon Wilg of Honolulu.

The injunction halted plans of the four-man crew to enter the forbidden area.

The justice made no comment, merely noting that he had refused to interfere with the injunction.

Albert Smith Bigelow, skipper of the ketch and his three crewmen were sentenced to 60 days imprisonment by the Honolulu court June 6 for conspiring to sail into the area despite the injunction.

Strip Lessons Come Real High
DETROIT (AP) — Harold Fink is seeking $147 redress for teaching a blonde how to undress.

Fink, 32, says he's got that much coming for giving instruction to Mrs. Marie Tappan in the art of striptease. Mrs. Tappan, 20, uses the stage name Vicki. She is separated from her husband.

Fink filed the suit in common pleas court Thursday. He said he spent $967.83 on costumes. He was so diligent in his instruction, he said, that he almost got fired for missing work days in his railroad clerk's job. He figures his time was worth $750.

Mrs. Tappan was surprised. "Our relationship was social rather than business," she said. "He was just angry because I broke up with him."

AN OLD STEAM ENGINE, now a historical memento in Dunsmuir's park, is being shown by Willie Aldridge, retired railroad engineer, to Mike Kostiz, Little Leagueur, as Aldridge tells Mike about the old days in railroading. The Dunsmuir Railroad Days are now open — today, Saturday and Sunday, and a Scottish bagpipe band, a carnival, street dances and the Old-Timers Picnic are just some of the entertainment planned to make the annual affair memorable. — Photo by Peggy Walsh

Doghouse Break Leads Man To The Jailhouse

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Archie Berkeley is in a legal dog house today charged with liberating his dog from a real dog house.

Berkeley, 47, a steamfitter of Massapequa Park, N. Y., was arrested last night and accused of breaking into an animal shelter. Berkeley's dog, a handsome boxer named Bob, was picked up without a license tag by a dog catcher last Friday. Although Berkeley argued that Bob had lost his tag, the dog was sent to the shelter.

Wednesday morning shelter officials found a window broken and notified police. Bob also was missing.

Police found Berkeley and the dog happily at home last night. Berkeley's only plea when brought to jail here was that Bob be allowed to stay at home.

Good News For Corn Victims; Cut Cures All
DALLAS (AP) — If your feet hurt and it's corns, then hark to good news from Dr. Lester A. Walsh of Midland, Tex.

He says there's a simple new operation that makes corns go away forever. Dr. Walsh told the Southwestern Chiropractic Congress yesterday the surgery consists of slicing open a toe and removing a small piece of bone that isn't needed to support the foot. Pressure on the bone causes the corn to form.

Removal of the bone eliminates the pressure, the corn on top of the toe and any corns between the toe and the next one, he said. The operation takes 15 minutes. Patients are kept off their feet 24 to 48 hours.

"The corn is gone permanently within two weeks," Dr. Walsh said.

The operation, he said, was developed by members of the American College of Foot Surgeons.

Settlement Seen In Labor Tieup
PORTLAND (AP) — A settlement may be near in a labor dispute that has threatened to tie up all heavy construction projects in Oregon and Southwestern Washington.

Chuck Hastings of Longview, chairman for the negotiating committee for the Union of Operating Engineers, said, "We definitely do think we are reaching an agreement" with the Associated General Contractors.

Earlier this week a union spokesman said a strike might start next month unless union demands were met.

California's Population Up
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population today was estimated at 14,752,000, a gain of 562,000 or 4 per cent over last year's estimate.

A spokesman for the Department of Finance, which compiled the figures, said Thursday the population did not move up as fast last year as it has in recent years, perhaps because of the recession. He said the 1956 estimate was 13,594,000, and between 1956 and 1957 the gain was 4.4 per cent.

In the latest figures, Orange County was the state's fastest growing, climbing from 520,600 to 596,800 or 14.6 per cent in one year.

Los Angeles County, the state's largest, increased from 5,500,800 to 5,791,900 or 3.4 per cent. San Francisco showed an increase from 777,300 to 791,100 or 1.8 per cent.

Auto Tax Cut Tossed Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected Friday another move to cut the federal excise tax on automobiles.

It did so after Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) accused the auto industry of "coming to Congress like paupers" for a lift.

The 44-32 roll vote knocked down an amendment by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) to reduce the levy from 10 per cent to 5 per cent, and the tax on auto parts from 8 per cent to 5 per cent. He debated it heatedly with Bush.

The decision came on the heels of Thursday night's surprise Senate vote, in the face of administration opposition, to wipe out excise taxes on passenger tickets and freight.

Ike Okays Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today signed a bill giving classified government employees a 10 per cent pay increase, retroactive to Jan. 1.

The President asked Congress for a supplemental appropriation of unspecified amount to cover the increase for fiscal 1958, which ends June 30.

In a letter to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Eisenhower asked Congress to appropriate such "amounts as may be necessary" to cover the pay increase back to January and through the end of June.

The President signed the bill prior to leaving this morning for a top-level defense conference at Quantico, Va. The announcement was made about 90 minutes after he left by the associate White House press secretary, Anne Wheaton.

The bill grants an estimated $42 million dollars a year in raises to about 1,021,000 federal civil service workers.

Retrospective payment of the raises for this year will cost an estimated 800 million dollars.

Insurgent Patrol Attacks Troops In Lebanon Capital

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Insurgents attacked an army patrol in the Lebanese capital today and shattered what appeared to be a passive truce during the visit of U.N. Secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold.

The U.N. leader met with Premier Sami Es-Sohb today and a government spokesman said Hammarskjold envisioned the U.N. force as unarmed observers.

The rebel attack occurred in the Tareek Jedida quarter. Reports said the first rebel fire inflicted casualties and that the army replied with machinegun fire. The battle lasted about an hour.

In another incident, pro-government Christian Phalange workers shot and killed a workman, allegedly by accident, near the British Embassy.

One report said the man was being questioned on suspicion of having plans to attack the embassy. Another said the victim was a bystander who was watching the questioning.

Elsewhere the city was quiet, with more and more shops opening for business.

Information Minister Clovis El Khazen called newsmen in today to charge that the rebels' heavy equipment, such as their 120 mm mortars, were brought in from Syria and were not bought from the Lebanese army as claimed by Damascus Radio.

Hammarskjold and Solh met in the premier's office in the government's hilltop headquarters, an old Turkish castle overlooking the Mediterranean.

Vale Grazing District Hit By Lightning Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lightning-set fires blackened 2,300 acres of range in Eastern Oregon Friday before firefighters brought them under control.

The fires were a result of thunderstorms Thursday which had brought temporary relief from heat.

More than 125 men, 90 of them Mexican nationals from a Department of Agriculture labor camp, were called in to extinguish eight blazes in the Vale grazing district.

George Lea, Vale fire control officer for the Bureau of Land Management, said that more trouble was expected Friday from "sleeper" fires from Thursday night's lightning strikes.

Lea said the temperature was about 95 degrees, winds were strong and the humidity was falling — increasing fire danger.

Only minor lightning-set blazes were reported in the national forest areas of Western and Central Oregon, where fire danger is listed as moderate.

Little or no precipitation is forecast for most of Oregon in the next five days, except in thundershowers.

Thursday temperatures had dropped from high marks earlier in the week.

Portland, recorded a cool 72. Grants Pass, which had two successive highs of 100, fell to 74 Thursday with a 96 inch rain. Pendleton had a 96 and Baker and Redmond both 89 as Eastern Oregon continued hot.

Made-To-Measure Vicuna Coat Offered As Prize

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Mail Friday offered a $700 made-to-measure vicuna overcoat as a contest prize.

The Mail's columnist Paul Tantiel invited its readers to submit, by June 24, an imaginary 50-word classified ad by an imaginary official wanting to get rid of an imaginary vicuna overcoat in a hurry.

"The funniest 50 words will get my prize," Tantiel wrote.

London columnists and cartoonists continued their barbed remark on President Eisenhower and his chief assistant, Sherman Adams.

The front page of the Daily Express cartooned a girl explaining a sparkling bracelet to her suspicious mother thus:

"Honestly, mommy darling, I promise you it was nothing more than what President Eisenhower calls a tangible expression of friendship."

A cartoon in the tabloid, which describes itself as left-of-center politically, depicted Eisenhower wearing an "I Like Adams" button and carrying a paintbrush, standing on the White House lawn next to a pile of hotel bills and oriental rugs. The caption says: "My house is whiter than..."

Navy Fires Ballistic Missile From Underwater
SAN CLEMENTE ISLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The Navy offered proof today that it is possible to fire a ballistic missile from the ocean depths.

From a launching pad on the bottom of a new sea range established here on a bleak, offshore California island, a bright yellow Lockheed Polaris missile shot upwards Thursday from a submerged launching tube.

It rose only about 100 feet into the air in a "pop-up" test because the propellants of real, operational Polaris, a 1,500 mile missile, won't be added until sometime in 1960 when the necessary atomic powered submarines will be ready.

But the launching, according to the Polaris' ability to come from below the surface, and then to attain "controlled flight conditions" after being airborne.

The Polaris is the Navy's entry into the intermediate range ballistic missile field, but it differs from the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor because the propellant will be solid, rather than liquid oxygen fuel as in the other rockets.

Capt. D.K. Ela told newsmen witnessing the project that the Navy had solved the problem of how to fire the missile vertically from a submerged submarine, enabling it to strike out with a nuclear warhead from an unseen launching site.

Gus, The Orangutan, Dead After Tranquilizer Shot

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gus, the sensitive orangutan who bolted to freedom from his cage in Griffith Park Zoo, is dead—a victim of human kindness.

The 50-pound ape died Thursday less than two hours after he had been put to sleep with a carbon dioxide "gun" and hauled from his sanctuary in an eucalyptus tree.

Veterinarian W.A. Young said the tranquilizer used in the "gun" apparently caused Gus to have a heart attack. Dr. Young spotted the animal as he jumped through the park with other zoo officials.

Discovery of the ape brought an end to a search by police and zoo attendants, carrying tranquilized bananas and sweet soda pop to tempt Gus.

Head keeper Mike Wendt's fears had been realized in Gus' death. When mothers and their children were sent scurrying from the zoo after Gus escaped Wednesday, Wendt complained that people were worried about the wrong thing.

Luxurious Trujillo Yacht Docks In San Pedro Port

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UPI) — Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.'s luxurious, four-masted bark Angelita docked in Los Angeles Harbor today with full military honors—even though its only armament is a line-throwing gun.

As a "man-of-war" vessel, the 350-foot personal vessel of the Trujillo family will have the "courtesy of the port" getting use of all facilities free of charge, it was disclosed by the Harbor Department.

The Angelita tied up at 8 a.m. p.d.t. after a minor accident caused one of its lifeboats to be wrecked. The ship was coming alongside the dock when it veered too close and a gaping, three-foot hole was ripped through the side of a small boat hanging from the side.

The ship, which is Gen. Trujillo's transportation back to the Dominican Republic after flunking a course at the U.S. Army General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., was boarded off port by Rear Adm. Frank D. Higbee, port warden.

Milltown Pupils 'Take It Easy'

MILLTOWN, N. J. (AP)—This community, noted for its production of tranquilizers, has an abundance of over-calm students, says the superintendent of schools.

Figures released by Superintendent Edward Rickards show that 25 per cent of Milltown's eighth grade students—13 out of 52—have failed a school year's work.

Rickards said earlier in the week that the pupils "simply refused to do their work" and that, in some cases, "parents did not cooperate with our efforts to prepare these children for high school."

Parking Meter Fine Called Off

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—R. B. Knollenberg, irked because of a $20 parking violation fine, put up a simple argument in Traffic Court yesterday.

The signs don't specify whether the regulations apply to Central Standard Time or Daylight Saving Time.

Judge L. R. Curtis agreed and the fine was dismissed. Louisville switches to Daylight Saving Time in the summer. There was no indication of whether the sign would be changed.

Bees Take Over In Moving Car

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — R. H. Hackney was driving to his place of business the other morning when he began to realize that a swarm of bees, creeping up from the underside of his car, had found a resting place on his automobile.

They settled on his right front window. But Hackney, who declares that bees won't hurt you if you let them alone, continued to drive his car to work and lunch for a day and a half.

Yesterday Lester Foster, draftsman and amateur beekeeper, put on his hood and bonnet and de-beed Hackney's car. Sure enough no stings.
