

HEY! IT'S FUN, come on in, yell these kids with obvious delight in the Moore Park wading pool. In fact, you don't even need a suit to splash around and enjoy yourself, as evidenced by two lads in long pants. Recent hot weather has made the Moore wading facility one of the most popular spots in the park. Wading is supervised by an adult from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Gifts To President Of US Not Only Common, But Mostly On Expensive Side

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — While we are on or close to the subject of gifts to the White House, how about this?
Merriman Smith estimates that the number of gifts received each year at the White House for a President and his wife would soar into the thousands!
Smith spent many years covering the White House and traveling with presidents before he switched to the capital economic beat for United Press International.

SGT. NORMAN A. FREI, formerly a student at Klamath Union High School, is now with the Base Materiel Battalion at Camp Pendleton, California, where he recently completed his instructor course, third highest in a class of 21. Norman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frei, 3209 Crest Street, say that he is planning to be home on leave the latter part of June to enjoy a belated 20th birthday cake. He has spent 18 months of his three years' service with the Marines in Japan.

Bishop Gives Youth Praise

MT. ANGEL, Ore. (AP) — Be hopeful about today's teen-agers, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen said here Thursday.
"They have been maligned very much," he told a press conference at this city where he has been holding retreats for Roman Catholic clergy.
The fling they are having, he said, can be blamed on a breakdown of parental discipline, a disrespect for the aged and a disregard for the Fourth Commandment.
Youth is in rebellion, he said, because it feels it is being cheated of the rights it should have.
Turning to another topic, he said it is the duty of newspapers not only to print news but to present truth and not to excite controversy and antagonisms.
"Too much of the news," he said, "is about the breaking of commandments and not enough about the faithful spouse who stays home and does the dishes."

national. He and other White House familiars have seen a room stacked high with Christmas toys, for example.
A Texan long kept the Eisenhower's supplied with a favorite delicacy, chuckle pheasant. There usually is a fairly steady flow of quail, steaks, turkeys and similar food items. Publicity-minded persons or institutions in Maine and in the Pacific Northwest sometimes appear to be contesting for the honor of presenting a President with the biggest and best salmon.
Smith recalls that Harry S. Truman accepted a gift Ford while in office and that his daughter, Margaret, received a Plymouth distinguished by gold plated fixtures. There was no backfire or criticism in either case, both substantiated gifts having been acknowledged publicly and photographed with their owners as received.
During casual conversations with newsmen after the 1952 election and before the Eisenhower Inauguration, Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said firmly that it would be his policy to announce all gifts of substantial value as they arrived and to distribute photographs of them. That has protected White House families before them.
Back there in the Coolidge era a frequent and favorite gift to the President was a radio receiver. They ran into a bit of money then, and Coolidge accepted them willingly along with the free advertising the manufacturer got with announcement of the gift.
Coolidge liked things for free, especially board and lodging. This trapped him occasionally in publicity schemes for real estate ventures in Florida and elsewhere, but there was no great outcry.
Senate investigators in 1950 solved Mrs. Bess Truman of any fault in accepting one of those famous deep freezers. The investigators held that there was a valid tradition in the United States of making gifts to presidential families.

Jetstar Plane Sets New Record

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Border to border and coast to coast in 17 hours and 50 minutes.
That's the record of a Lockheed JetStar, a new utility transport plane.
The plane, piloted by Ray Goudey and Bob Schumacker, took off from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., shortly before midnight Monday. It touched down in Washington, Massachusetts and Florida before returning here yesterday. The actual flying time: 14 hours 50 minutes. Its average speed was 456 m.p.h. for the 6,700-mile flight.
The jet made stops at McChord AFB near Tacoma, Wash., Westover AFB near Chicopee Falls, Mass., and McCoy AFB near Orlando, Fla.

Police Check Beat Alley

"So far it hasn't been a problem which calls for a mass crack down," he said, "but we certainly plan to keep our eye on the situation."
Meanwhile, police filed a straight murder charge against Frank Harris, 32-year-old seaman who confessed killing Miss Sublette.
Miss Sublette's body was found in an alleyway early Wednesday. She had gone to visit her former common-law husband, Albert Sublette. Harris happened by when she failed to find him home and persuaded her to go into the alley. He strangled her when she began screaming.

Doctor Spurns Plea Of Nurse In Paternity Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rose Dunn, 32, a nurse, says she pleaded with the scion of an Oklahoma oil family to marry her so their child could be born in wedlock.
But, she said, Dr. John S. Dunn, 23, handsome bachelor physician now practicing in Santa Rosa, refused and as a result their baby was born in March, out of wedlock.
"I did everything I possibly could to have him marry me," Miss Dunn said. "I talked about all sorts of things like going away someplace or letting him have a divorce the next day, but he refused."
Miss Dunn's attorney, Leslie Gillen, said she had given up her maiden name of Cardella because of the baby and adopted the doctor's name.
Miss Dunn appeared in court Tuesday to demand that Dunn pay $208 a month for the support of the baby, Mary Louise, and also pay her medical and child care expenses of $1,178.
Dunn admitted fathering the child, Miss Dunn said their romance took place while they were both at Stanford Hospital.
In his admission of paternity, Dunn declared that the nurse had harassed him and "threatened his mental well being."
He testified he has been in private practice less than a year and is unable to meet all of the nurse's financial demands. However, he said he is willing to support the daughter.
Superior Judge Theresa Meikle took the case under submission. She ordered the doctor to pay $100 a month child support pending a final decision.
Dunn said his father is Frank H. Dunn of Tulsa, Okla., president of the Wilcox Oil Company.

Campbell dashed into a nearby saloon, grabbed a bottle of beer, snapped off the cap, shook the bottle and let fly at the flaming carburetor. That put out the blaze.
