the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, California. She received her B.S. degree in nursing education with 220 graduates in medicine, dentistry, X-ray technology, school dietetics and medical technology.

ELTON V. FISHBACK

Fishback To Quit Post

Klamath County School Board Thursday accepted "with regret" the resignation of veteran principal Elton V. Fishback who has been with the district since 1935. Trustees expressed great appreciation for the Shasta principal's long and excellent service.

Fishback is leaving to accept a supervisory post in the Polk County superintendent's office in Dallas, Oregon.

He and his wife first taught locally at the Forest Camp School. Later, Fishback was appointed principal at Keno Elementary from where he went to a comparable post at Henley.

In 1944, he assumed principalship at Shasta.

The popular educator and his wife are parents of two daughters. Fishback will be replaced at Shasta by John Heyden, who will leave his present post as district clerk to take the job.

In other administrative changes approved by the board Thursday, Fred Taylor will leave a teacher post at Fairhaven to be principal of Keno.

Principal Stanley Severuk will leave Keno and go to Altamont as principal.

Altamont Principal Max Marvin will become principal of the new Orson Stearns School which opens next fall.

NO LUCK

Ike Remarks On Gift Sword Of Washington's

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, tongue in cheek, wants to know whether George Washington was investigated for accepting a gift sword.

The President laughingly posed the question late Friday in making a surprise 30-minute tour of the historic Washington home at nearby Mount Vernon, Va.

Turning from study of an ornate sword given to Washington by a German admiral, Eisenhower pointed over his shoulder at the weapon and inquired with a grin: "Do you suppose they investigated him for getting a present?"

This was an obvious allusion to the current controversy over gifts from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine to Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief aide.

The President made his unscheduled visit to Mount Vernon on the way back to Washington from a Defense Department conference at the Quantico, Va., Marine base.

Eisenhower had visited the Washington shrine many times before, but this was the first time he did so as president.

The chief executive showed special interest in the bedroom where Washington died in 1799 when he was 67, Eisenhower's present age.

Gazing around the room, Eisenhower said Washington was "a good, strong fellow" but that it was "remarkable he lived as long as he did."
