

Billy Graham Winds Up Long Crusade In San Francisco With Seals Stadium Address

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Billy Graham, styling himself "the messenger boy for Christ," went to bat against the Devil yesterday before 38,000 partisan fans at Seals Stadium.

The North Carolina evangelist ended his San Francisco crusade in the midst of an overflow crowd jammed into the 25,000-seat baseball park, home of the National League Giants.

"I know Willie Mays could fill Seals Stadium," he said from atop a platform at second base, "but I'm glad God can do it too."

"I am only the messenger boy for Christ. Give God the glory for what has been done this day."

Baseball was in the air before the sermon, with the Giants locked in an extra-inning battle with Philadelphia in the Pennsylvania city.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher eased the tension with a brief announcement: "Kirkland hit a home run in the 14th inning and the Giants won."

Turning to Graham, the mayor said, "All of us are so much better off for having had him in our midst," and expressed belief the world should try morality for a change.

"We need moral and spiritual values," Christopher said. "We've tried everything else to find peace."

Graham, who last week concluded his seven-week San Francisco crusade, made a plea against backsliding.

"To those who have made so-called 'decisions for Christ,'" he said, "do not go back to your old ways of living or yield to temptations and old idolatries."

"Some 1,354 stepped forward in 'decisions' yesterday, which were part of a crowd topping by some 12,000 Graham's best attendance in the 16,400-seat Cow Palace, where his regular services were held.

The Baptist preacher, facing an oversized beer glass painted on a stadium signboard, told the crowd, "We should have a new outlook. We have responsibilities to our neighbors and must take a new attitude toward the racial question."

Church workers throughout the area will visit homes in an intensive follow-up to Graham's crusade, which moves on to Sacramento, Calif., next Sunday. A tour of California will follow.

Freight Rams Rear Of Train

THURMOND, W. Va. (AP)—"The brakes just wouldn't stop her," said engineer H. W. Honaker after his 144-car freight train rammed into the rear of a halted luxury passenger train on the Chesapeake and Ohio mainline.

Honaker, 66, was one of four crewmen and six passengers hospitalized after the crash. None of the passengers were seriously injured.

The passenger train, the George Washington, was en route from Newport News, Va., to Cincinnati.

Seven passenger and three freight cars were derailed.

Honaker said there were 50 cars loaded with ore at the rear of his freight, and "the ore shoved the engine."

Honaker was trapped in the cab for about two hours. Workers used torches to cut him out. He suffered a broken leg.

Two other freight crewmen jumped just before the crash. They were brakeman Lonnie Gales, 52, and fireman Dewayne Ransom, about 55. Gales suffered a broken leg and Ransom a cut forehead.

Cheeta, Chimp, Relegated To Wings, Old Talk

DALLAS (AP)—Pity Cheeta, the chimpanzee who once stole scenes from Tarzan of the movies, like many an actor past his prime, he is being reduced to sponging off younger performers more in demand.

Al Antonucci gave Cheeta, 14, the hook last week. The ape was just too old for Antonucci's animal act, now playing here.

He was just fair as an acrobat and too old for still walking, dancing and boxing.

Cheeta was offered to the Dallas Zoo, but they turned him down.

"Cheeta is too old," said Curator Elva Turner. Besides, he added, the zoo already has five chimps.

So Cheeta must hit the road again with the show, watching from the wings as younger chimps take the applause, and no doubt boring them between acts with tales of how he and Johnny Weissmuller once rode elephants and chased villains.

Mackinac Bridge Dedication Set

STRAITS OF MACKINAC BRIDGE, Mich. (AP)—The Straits of Mackinac Bridge, five miles of steel and concrete that connects Upper and Lower Michigan, will be dedicated this week.

The formal ceremonies will be held Saturday in the midst of a festive celebration planned for the area.

Airplanes, marching men, serial bombs, beauty queens, bands, horses, floats and politicians are on the program for the three-day celebration.

Three and a half years in the building, the bridge is the longest single-span structure in the world.

Travelers Notice Wide Difference In Treatment In Two South American Areas

By LARRY ALLEN

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—It's only 781 air miles between this capital city of Colombia and Caracas, Venezuela, but they are worlds apart in the treatment accorded U.S. citizens.

Here there is warmth, sympathy and friendliness. In Caracas there is coolness that borders upon open hostility.

A passenger alighting here walks through two lines of smiling, blue-uniformed customs guards into the airport administration building. Passengers are formed over a loudspeaker: "You will pass through in just a moment, please, after immigration and customs formalities. While you are waiting, this is to welcome you to Colombia. Please have a cup of our fine coffee."

A white-jacketed boy immediately starts serving coffee—backbone of this nation's economy.

There's a quick look at passports and health cards and the passenger is ushered into the baggage reception room. Each passenger opens his suitcase but rarely does a customs official touch any of the contents. There's merely a glance and a smile, the traveler is on his way.

The whole process averages from 5 to 10 minutes, a far cry from what happens to the passenger—particularly a North American—who lands at Maiquetia, the airport for Venezuela's capital city of Caracas.

Soldiers and national guardsmen, wearing steel helmets, carrying rifles, pistols, or even sub-machineguns, are on guard at Maiquetia. They bunch all passengers together and lead them to the airport administration building.

Then comes the long wait—45 minutes to two hours or more—before a traveler is called to present his passport and health card.

Every passport and health card is rigidly inspected. After that

Mail Mistake Causes Alarm

DENVER (AP)—Things weren't the same for hours after an unidentified woman tried to mail a letter in the main lobby at Colorado General Hospital.

Within minutes after she pulled the handle of a conspicuous box, one motorcycle policeman, two squad cars and seven fire trucks careened up. All they found was the wide-eyed woman with the unmailed letter.

The assistant fire chief directed her to the mail box. It's across the lobby from the fire alarm.

Holmes Hopeful For Highway

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Robert D. Holmes said Friday he is hopeful that a new highway will be built between Klamath Falls and Medford. It would replace the Green Springs Highway.

He said that when he was in Washington, D. C., this week a Forest Service official told him that there is a good chance that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads would make a survey of the route soon.

The state Highway Commission and Forest Service have approved the plan, so now it is up to the bureau, the governor said.

He said the new route is badly needed.

Human Cannon Ball Tells Of Early Day Experiences

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—"It takes a lot of what you call guts, nerve and timing to be a human cannon ball."

So says the man who was the first one — Bruno Zacchini.

"All the way in the air you must think, you must have the reflex. An old man can't think like a young man. So I gave up the cannon," said Zacchini in his soft Italian accent.

Zacchini, now in his 50s, stepped from his spine-tingling profession 11 years ago.

With his wife and teenage son and daughter, he travels with a carnival that closed a run this weekend at the Champaign County fairgrounds. He and his wife, Ringling Brothers performer

Something For Nothing Tendency In U.S. Deplored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—America's doctors were told today that there is a growing tendency in this country to expect something for nothing, and that they should fight it.

This attitude already has weakened the United States and if it continues to grow it will destroy it, said Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City in his address as retiring president of the American Medical Assn.

"There seems to exist in too many segments of our society—and especially in our federal government—the unsound philosophy that life owes each one of us all that he desires, and that in the face of these desires a beneficent government should gratify them," he said.

"The resulting imbalance which is developing in every phase of our daily life discourages initiative by imposing heavy and disproportionate burdens upon productive and responsible citizens by granting undeserved profits to the unproductive and the irresponsible."

"As a result it is becoming more popular and frequently more profitable to be idle rather than busy, to be selfish rather than unselfish, and to be mediocre rather than outstanding."

Dr. Allman said the AMA should continue its opposition to this philosophy even though it may be criticized by some people for having a "negative approach" to current socio-economic problems.

Dr. Gunnar Gunderson of La Crosse, Wis., incoming AMA president, said organized medicine is adapting itself to change. He asserted the component societies of the AMA should recruit the best brains available to carry out the program.

Father Held In Shooting

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Police today held Willie Bob Brown, father of a Negro girl expelled from Central High School last March, in connection with the fatal shooting of another Negro man.

Detective Sats. Lester Cranford and Clint McMurphy said Brown, 57, had admitted firing three .45 bullets into Elmer Isaac, 68, when the latter emerged from a private club yesterday morning. The officers said Brown told them that Isaac was mad at him and he saw him reach for a gun.

A .32-caliber automatic was found beneath the dead man's body, Cranford and McMurphy reported.

Brown was jailed on an open charge pending investigation.

Minnijean, Brown's daughter, was one of nine Negro students enrolled in Central High under federal court order last September. After her expulsion, she entered the private, interracial New Lincoln School in New York City under a scholarship.

Mosquitoes On Gain In Portland

PORTLAND (AP)—The spring high water along the Columbia River has made this a year for slapping at mosquitoes—the worst since high water pools provided good breeding grounds in 1954.

John H. Huber, insect abatement chief for the city of Portland, said southwestern Washington had an especially heavy mosquito hatch. The city is keeping two planes busy spraying pools in Multnomah and Clackamas counties, Ore., and Clark and Skamania counties, Wash., he said.

Some 950 hatching sources are being attacked. The usual number is about 500 to 600, he said.

Waiter Finally Nabbed In Theft

DENVER (AP)—Police say it happened this way:

Richard L. Dotson, 23, a waiter, stole $3,500 worth of furniture and cash in a series of burglaries.

He moved the furniture into his apartment.

The apartment house owner began redecorating. He needed help and called in a furniture mover.

He was an employee of one of the stores Dotson had burglarized. He recognized the furniture and called police.

Dotson confessed.
