

BILL RILEY was just getting into practice when this picture was taken so he would be able to pull out the big ones when Ron Phair and Dick Howard get their fishpond set up today at the Big Y Market, 4710 South Sixth Street. The fishpond will operate this afternoon and all day Friday and Saturday as a feature of the last weekend of the month-long ninth birthday anniversary of the store.

THE BIG Y

Nearly all of the food representatives who regularly call on Southern Oregon supermarkets have been in Klamath Falls this week to insure all of the stores having plenty of merchandise for the long Fourth of July weekend.

They also came over to help the Big Y Market set up its final weekend celebration which has gone on all during June in observance of the ninth anniversary of the Big Y Market.

The weekend of the Jet Pups, the salesmen helped out and more than $100 was netted at the store which Ron Phair turned over to the Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, YMCA and Boy Scouts to provide a camping trip for youngsters to each of the four youth summer camps.

Last week a great many shoppers enjoyed the fun provided by the Wheel of Fortune. Starting today, you are invited to the Big Y Market's Fish Pond.

Bill Riley, of Maillard and Schmiedel of Portland, came over from Medford (and says he got the last room in town because the three firemen's organizations meeting here in convention brought in hundreds of extra visitors). He promises to be on hand for the weekend promotion at the Big Y.

CUTTING CALORIES

Sour cream is the answer to the calorie counter's passion for desserts she otherwise might have to refuse. This delicious topping contains only 18 per cent butterfat—no higher than the least rich coffee cream.

If you want to enjoy the season's strawberries, but can't include luscious sweet whipped cream in your day's calorie total, just substitute sour cream. You'll be surprised at the tang this adds to strawberries and other fruits. Try it on orange slices, blueberries, pineapple, or melon.

Incidentally, remember that sour cream is not "sour" at all. It is not sweet cream "gone bad." It is commercially prepared. Sour cream is a sweet cream inoculated with a culture of lactic acid and allowed to develop acidity under controlled atmosphere.

If you'd like to add sour cream to cooked foods, this is entirely possible. Simply avoid any tendency it may have to curdle by adding sour cream just before serving, or when the food is cooled down.

NEW IN KLAMATH FALLS are Armour's two frozen pies in individual serving size. The pies are eight-ounce size, flash frozen, and require just about 30 minutes in a 400 degree oven before serving.

Frozen Meat Pies

If the pies should become defrosted, the cooking time is reduced by about one-fourth. Do not refreeze.

The little pies are a complete meal served with tossed green salad, a big glass of milk (for June Dairy Month even if it is in July) and a light dessert, if you wish. The pot pies contain vegetables in addition to the meat.

A hot meat pie sounds like wintertime fare, doesn't it? However, eating is just as important in the summertime as it is during the colder months. Your resistance to heat is maintained by making sure of complete nourishment, so you need hot entrees in July, August and September, too. That's where the advantage of frozen foods is so keenly appreciated. All the preparation has been done for you and they are a true labor saver. They also cut down on the cooking heat which heats the house and they are wife-savers, too.

NUCOA MARGARINE, a product of The Best Foods, Inc., has come out in a gay, new box. The manufacturer calls it the new "flip flap box" because a flap opens to permit taking out one cube at a time from the pound package. The new Nucoa Margarine package is on your grocer's shelves.

COTTON ON PARADE

An idea for the women who sew: Trim spring cottons with a new ruffled cotton lace that launders beautifully and needs no ironing.

If you are making new cotton draperies, the tedious job of sewing in pinch pleats is no longer necessary. You can buy a special heading for draw draperies and slipping hoods. All you do is stitch the heading onto the draperies and slip prongs of the pines into the casings. The pleats form themselves.

It's a good idea to dry no more than two double cotton sheets at a time in an automatic clothes dryer. A light load will give the sheets a chance to tumble freely and fluff the wrinkles out.

Cotton sheets and pillowcases will last longer if allowed to rest between use periods. It's a good idea to put your laundered sheets at the bottom of your linen shelf and use those from the top.

Save the washing directions which come with your new cottons. The directions on the tags are the result of tests and research. By following them, you can lengthen the life of your cottons, save money and enjoy them longer.

When hanging a cotton chenille bedspread on the line to dry, turn the tufts inside so they will rub
