Physical Activity Builds Heart Protection Says MD

By RENNIE TAYLOR AP Science Reporter SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It's a long life of physical activity, not the few years of exercise by the athlete, that builds up protection against coronary attacks, a University of Kentucky doctor said today. All three components of the aging process—decline in efficiency, decline in physique and decline in health—are stayed off by sustained physical activity, Dr. Ernest Jokl told the American Medical Assn.

Plane Averts Air Tragedy

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An American Airlines plane with 44 persons aboard and a Navy plane narrowly missed a collision 500 feet above Municipal Airport yesterday. The airliner, piloted by Capt. Ted Kasper of Grapevine, Tex., had just taken off for Dallas when the Navy AD6 swooped out of the 1,000-foot ceiling. The Navy plane passed above the DC7.

Lt. E. V. Thomas, pilot of the Navy plane, said he turned away quickly when he saw the DC7. He said he had been unable to contact the control tower by radio because bad weather had jammed communications.

The weather had also prevented Thomas, flying in from Norfolk, Va., from landing at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Ill., his original destination. The DC7 continued on to Dallas. Its first officer, Kenneth Phelps, Irving, Tex., told a newsman: "It was coming straight at us from about a 45-degree angle. I shouted, Level off, Ted, there's a plane out there." He did it. It wasn't enough. I grabbed the control column and pushed the plane down.

"The other plane passed about 50 feet over our tail. We leveled off, then began climbing again. "I don't think the passengers felt a thing."

Kasper said he did not see the Navy plane and added, "It's a good thing Ken did."

Weather Table

Table with columns for city, high, and low temperatures. Includes cities like Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boise, Boston, etc.

"An exercise regimen that confines itself to a few years of intensive training as usually adhered to by competitive athletes will not thus be effective," he said. The health significance of long-time physical activity as contrasted with the exercise quota of the athlete came out, Dr. Jokl said, in studies made of lumberjacks in Finland, unskilled manual laborers in Great Britain, long-term members of German gymnastic clubs, and mountain guides in Switzerland.

Dr. Jokl said they showed that men 60 years old who have stayed with physical activity perform better in athletics or in their vocations than untrained men of 30. Three British scientific papers and one German research report have shown, he added, that heart and artery disease is much lower in the physically active than in the sedentary individual.

In other papers surgeons reported new progress in coronary operations. Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Montreal and Dr. James H. Walker of Charleston, W. Va., said studies on both dogs and humans had demonstrated the usefulness of routing an artery from the chest and piping it into the heart muscle to give extra blood supply.

This artery normally supplies the breast area. But the breast can get along with other arteries if its one is taken away. Dr. Vineberg and Dr. Walker reported on 107 such operations on coronary patients.

Twenty-four of these patients came too late and were little benefited, they said. But of the remaining 83 patients, 58 returned to work after the operation. In eight years the mortality rate among them has been 17 per cent.

Country Set For U.S. Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Additional U. S. loans for the economic development of neutral Afghanistan appeared assured today as Prime Minister Sardar Mohammed Daud neared the end of an official visit with President Eisenhower.

A joint statement is to be issued before Daud's departure tomorrow on a 12-day tour of the United States. It is expected to announce a long-term U. S. loan and affirm the two countries' desire for world peace.

Daud is known to have asked the United States for further help in developing the Helmand Valley in southern Afghanistan. Some 40 million dollars in U. S. credits have already been expended on this project, designed to irrigate a million acres of land.

Afghan officials say lack of funds has cut this objective sharply. They estimate it would cost an additional 100 million dollars to complete the project. The U. S. loans are expected to total about a fourth of that amount. They would be drawn from Eisenhower's Asian development fund.

MENTALLY RETARDED The Oregon Association for Retarded Children advises all mentally retarded adults who have worked at least five years in employment covered by social security but now are unable, due to their disability, to work in substantial employment should contact their social security district office before June 30, 1958, to protect against potential loss of benefits and to establish a disability freeze.

Martin, M.T., head instructor in medical technology at Oregon Technical Institute, will receive the Distinguished Achievement Award of the American Medical Technologists for 1958 for outstanding service in the field of medical technology. The occasion will be the group's national convention.

His teaching experience dates back to 1923, starting at the station laboratory at Hampton Roads, Virginia, where he was stationed for four years before going to the medical school in Washington for 14 years. He is registered with the American Medical Technologists and the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. In addition, he holds an associate fellowship in the American College of Medical Technology and is a member of the Oregon Vocation Association and the American Vocation Society.

Frohnmayer, who was recently elected treasurer of the Jackson County Democratic Central Committee, has been active in Medford civic affairs and fund drives, and was with the Commercial Finance Company there from 1933 to 1938. After 10 years with the same firm in Klamath Falls he returned to Medford to enter the real estate business.
