Mrs. Carroll Pittman, Asbland, Mrs. H. F. Houghton, Corning, and Mrs. Lloyd Nicholson, Fort Klamath, presided at the coffee and tea services, respectively. Bonnie Flournoy, Corning, was at the punch bowl; and Barbara Nicholson, Fort Klamath, registered the guests.

Marie was graduated from Union High School, Corning, with the Class of '37; and attended Oregon State College, Douglas, a graduate of Ridgefield High School, Washington, was graduated in June from OSC, where he majored in agricultural engineering.

The couple left immediately after the reception on Saturday afternoon for a week's honeymoon trip through the California Redwoods to Clear Lake and San Francisco. They returned to Corvallis for commencement on June 9, at OSC, and a few days later, on June 14, were at home in Anaheim, California, where the bridegroom is following his chosen career in agricultural engineering.

For travel on the wedding trip, Marie changed to a rose-beige chemise summer suit, white hat, gloves and orchid corsage—and shoes and bag of black patent.

On the eve of the wedding the bride's parents were hosts at their ranch home to 31 guests for the rehearsal dinner. Besides members of the wedding party, the informal buffet was served to several out-of-town guests who were in Fort Klamath the day before the nuptial event.

Out-of-town wedding guests not previously mentioned were Mrs. Guy E. Moore, Mrs. A. H. Sinner, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jory and family, Portland; Ralph Shay, Nels, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Short, Marie's grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Houston and Miss Fern Leever, Medford; Mrs. Myrtle E. Denton, Mrs. Theodore R. Nicholson, Carroll Pittman and Mr. and Mrs. Angus Bowmer, Asbland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bousfield, Union Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Hansford T. (Mike) Williams, Jay and Martha, and Lamoine Savage, Creswell; Martha Black, John Seiberburg, Charles Brown, Robert M. Hosford Jr., Corvallis; Mrs. Pauline Hamilton, Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. Jack Thomas; Mrs. Dennis Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Hannigan and daughter, Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Owens and Ralph Johnston, Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orem, Gary and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McVay and Robert Lyon, Merrill; Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Moore, bridegroom's grandparents, Keno; Mrs. Forrest Doling and Mrs. W. J. (Barney) Cox, Agency Lake District; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Salger, Chiloquin; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Newkirk, H. F. Houghton, Corning; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. George Calvin and son George Jr., San Francisco.

Sandberg-Woodard Rites In Klamath Temple

At an 8 p.m. candlelight service in the Klamath Temple on Saturday, June 7, Shirley Rae Woodard exchanged marriage vows with James Alan Sandberg, Spokane, before 200 relatives and friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Woodard of this city. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sandberg of Spokane.

The service was read by the Rev. Harry Strachan. Organist was Mrs. John Philip who played incidental music before entrance of the wedding party and also was accompanist for soloist, William Slipp Jr.

Shirley, attended by her father as she walked up the aisle, chose for her wedding gown, Chantilly lace and net over white satin. An Elizabethan collar of lace framed her face. The bodice, made with long sleeves of lace, formed a vee at the waistline for the extremely full nylon net floor length skirt of net, enhanced with side panels of the lace. Her fingertip net veil, bordered with lace fell from a pearl encrusted tiara. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white gladioli blossoms centered with pink rosebuds. Stephanotis were tied in the multiple white satin streamers.

Bridesmaids, Betty Pergola, LuReva Adams, Mrs. Donald Crownover, all of Eugene, and Mrs. Mervin Woodard, Klamath Falls, sister-in-law of the bride, wore identical frocks of pink brocade taffeta, princess style in ankle length. Full skirts fell from tight bodices made with Italian necklines. All wore tiny pink net ruffled half hats, starred with tiny blossoms. They carried cascades of Esther Reed daisies and pink carnations.

Candlelighters, Judy Book and Sally Sehorn, wore full-skirted white taffeta, street-length frocks with round necks. Pink taffeta cummerbunds with streamers at the back added color. Headbands were pink taffeta and net.

Karen Sandberg, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Sandberg, Moses Lake, Washington, was flower girl. Young Randy Sandberg, Portland, son of Rev. and Mrs. Norman Sandberg, carried the rings.

Donald Crownover, Eugene, was best man. Other attendants were Launey Schwartzman, Eugene, Mervin Woodard, Klamath Falls, brother of the bride, the Rev. Norman Sandberg, brother of the bridegroom, from Portland and the Rev. Kenneth Sandberg, also a brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony the young couple received in the church annex where they cut the first serving of their five tiered white, pink and silver cake, later served by Mrs. Wilbur Book, Mrs. Harry Sweeney, assisted by Mrs. Ray Norris and Mrs. Cecil Jennings. Mrs. Nolan Arnette was at the coffee service. Mrs. Forrest Lowe presided at the punch bowl. Eileen Woodard was in charge of the gift table. Mrs. James Fehlin assisted Elsie Eastman with the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Woodard chose a pale blue sheer print frock with pink buds predominating in the print. Her accessories were white and her shoulder flowers were pink roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Sandberg wore a deep blue brocade taffeta with white accessories and pink rosebuds and white carnations.

For their wedding trip through the Redwoods and Northern California, the new Mrs. Sandberg wore a pink summer knit suit with pink cartwheel hat and white accessories.

Mrs. Sandberg graduated from Klamath Union High School in 1955 and attended Bible Standard College, Eugene, for two years. Her husband is a graduate this year from that college.

Family Party At Kotthoff Home MERRILL—Children, grandchildren and great grandchildren enjoyed a family "get together" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kotthoff on Fathers Day, Sunday, June 15. Traveling To Europe

Mrs. Marshall Cornett is en route to New York for a European trip. She will tour the continent, British Isles and attend the World's Fair at Brussels.

She will be registered at the Tudor Hotel, New York, until July 4 when she will fly to Bergen, Norway, continuing to Oslo, Stockholm, and Copenhagen. In mid-July she will be present at the fair and at Brussels will be joined by three traveling companions from Yakima. The quartet will then join a Sigma Alpha Iota (musical honorary) tour covering France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, England, Scotland and Ireland, leaving for home in early September.

While abroad Mrs. Cornett will attend musical festivals at Salzburg, Lucerne, Munich, Bayreuth, Edinburgh and the opera in Paris, Rome, Vienna, London and Stratford.

Mrs. Sam Moss New President Newcomer Club

Installation of new officers for Welcome Wagon Newcomers' Club was held June 19 at the Pelican Party Room with Mrs. Walter Barke installing officer. New officers include Mrs. Sam Moss, president; Mrs. John T. Howard, vice president; Mrs. Clinton Mills, secretary; and Mrs. Gerald Wadkins, treasurer. Outgoing and incoming officers were presented with corsages as were membership chairman, Mrs. Reid Merritt and publicity chairman, Mrs. Gene Cox. It was decided that the meeting time be changed to the third Thursday of the month.

Meetings are open to all women new to the Klamath Falls area. Before each meeting there will be notices in the city briefs of the Herald and News. Newcomers are urged to call the number listed then for information regarding the group. During the past six months programs have included talks on the Klamath County Museum, the newspaper, flower arranging, and birds of the Klamath region, as well as travel talks on Hawaii and the Scandinavian countries. Each year the club undertakes a project of benefit to the community, the last being a bake sale with funds going to the Klamath Association for Retarded Children.

At the last meeting, the usual program was dispensed with and at the conclusion of a brief business meeting, cards were played. Prizes were as follows: bridge high to Gerry Montgomery, low to Myrtle Dressell; pinocle high to Barbara Morlan, low to Joyce Ross; canasta high to Wilma Edwards, low to Joan Eays.

Women who make regular visits to a beauty salon may wonder why their hair and scalp are unusually dry. Chances are they had dry or normal hair and too-long sessions of artificial drying continues to steal natural oils from them. Avoid this by shortening sessions under a dryer at home or in the beauty salon and have an oil treatment occasionally.

Ramblings

By RUTH KING

Whisking away to their summer cabin at Odell Lake, hidden, almost, among the towering pines, are Earl and Hazel Whitlock to catch their collective breaths after whirlwind wedding on June 5 of youngest daughter Sharon, and arrival of young Timmy Bockmier, who will spend summer with maternal grandparents. Timmy, 8, is just out of Helen Bush's School for Boys, Seattle. Sharon kept family gasping on decision to wed handsome young Air Force man, Donald Janisch, just one hour after she received diploma from Catlin's, Portland. New bridegroom left soon after Episcopal service for assignment in the land of matadors and fascinating Granada. Sharon will spend few days here before joining sister Dawn, interior decorator of note.

Little green plums bring promise of ruby red fruit on trees in the yard of Ida and Robert Odell up on Ewauna Street, where these garden enthusiasts and bird lovers have watched them grow from tiny seedlings. Surrounding hills protect the trees from late frosts and rarely is there a season when Mrs. O. can't fill numerous jars with the tart goodness of native fruit.

Extra guests at the Sue Ramsby shower at "River House" (yother day were several Pekin ducks whom some folks say originated from Easter ducklings of yesterday. The white aquatic experts came swimming from far side of Link River, straight as an arrow flies, to perch and preen on new rock retaining wall being built by the O. L. Stoners. Later found out that bread crusts are sure way to win feathered friends of duck variety.

Lois Stewart, editor of ship 'n' air news for Honolulu Advertiser, and onetime society editor of H & N sent stupendous letter to longtime "Kaffeeklatschers" friends in K.F. via Winnie Hooker, (Mrs. R. E.) up on Pacific Terrace to relate exciting experiences on a trip to Europe as guest of Canadian Pacific Airlines, a Polar safari that took her to World's Fair at Brussels, in towns famous for night life and to hobnobbing with a count and a countess. Did the markets and little shops, antique-ing on a side street off the Seine.

Trekking mountainward and lakeward are all the lucky folks who have cabins out yorder, getting ready to spend a lazy, three-day holiday, come the Fourth next week. Saw a bulbous pink balloon clinging to a manzanita bush near Klamath Lake one day this week, sure sign that young fry had been passing by... probably a weepy one.

Rack home this weekend from busy session of American Medical Association in San Francisco, are Dr. John Merrymann and Mrs. M. who brought with Dr. Merrymann's family, Mrs. George, the former Mary Jane Jenkins, and growing up young daughter Lindsay to spend part of summer with Lindsay's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins and other relatives. While Dr. George's family basks in summer sun or bakes by an open fire with the whimsies of the weather, Mrs. M. Sr. will bake muffins for Dr. George in Bay Area.
