

Redlegs Catch Giants In Sixth; Yankee's Ford Wins 100th Game

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Whitey Ford, ace Yankee southpaw, hurled his 100th regular season Major League victory Saturday night. His brilliant 3-hit performance gave New York a 2-0 decision over the second-place Kansas City Athletics.

Ford, who struck out 8 and walked only 2, had a 1-hitter going into the seventh. He had given Bob Cerv a single in the second. In the seventh Roger Maris singled, was erased in a double play and Cerv got his second single of the night. In no inning did a runner reach second base.

The victory gave Ford a 9-3 record for this year and put his all-time major record, started in 1950, at 100-36.

Redlegs caught the Yankees in the sixth and single runs in the eighth and ninth frames. It was the second victory for the Tribe under Gordon, and like Friday night, they won it 6-3. Don Mossi won his second straight in relief, to give the lanky southpaw a 6-6 mark.

KUBS LEADER — Manager Irv Whitt of the Klamath Falls Cubs, will be leading his club into action this afternoon at Weed as the Northern California League leaders try to maintain their top position. Whitt, No. 2 hitter among the Kub regulars, may be seeing duty in the Klamath outfield before the game is over. Earlier in the year, Klamath dumped Weed in league play.

The Klamath Falls Cubs face one of their stiffest tests this season Sunday afternoon as they travel to Weed to do battle with the hometown Weed Sons in the featured game of the Northern California League's weekly schedule.

The Klamath-Weed fracas is one of three games billed this afternoon. In other action, Dunsmuir goes to Fort Jones to meet the winless Scott Valley Stars. Second place Yreka is at home to Mount Shasta as the visiting Seals try to get back into the number two spot after being beaten last week by Weed.

Klamath Falls weekend assignment is not an easy one. Weed, always a potent member of the Northern Cal circuit, lashed Mount Shasta 7-2 last Sunday and knocked the Shasta team into third place. The Sons are capable of doing the same thing to Klamath this afternoon should a few breaks fall their direction. In the past, Klamath-Weed ball games have been loaded with lots of good baseball action.

Manager Irv Whitt will have his whole club on hand this afternoon for the first time this year. Mike McKenzie, who has missed three games while at National Guard summer camp will rejoin the team, and is expected to start—no game lots of action—at third base. McKenzie's fielding at the hot corner was brilliant before his tour of guard duty cut in.

Other starters this afternoon for the Cubs will probably include pitcher Dave D'Olivio and catcher Bob Kelly. In the Klamath infield will be George Hanson at first, Jerry Burke at second, Dorm Martin at shortstop along with McKenzie or Scott Hartley at third.

Floyd Linderman, the club's leading hitter, will be in center field flanked by leftfielder Donn Taucher and rightfielder Fran Miller. Whitt, Charlie Bogle and Willie Dunster, another National Guard member, may see outfield action against the Sons before the day is over.

Fraley's Facts, And Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
EAST NORWICH, N.Y. (UPI)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The relatively new practice of sponsoring young players on the pro tour so that they can play without worrying about winning threatens to give golf an answer to the "tennis bum" former PGA and Masters champion Jackie Burke insists.

"It's bad for the players and it's bad for golf," Burke says. "The young players first should learn to teach so that they have something to fall back on when their all-too-short competitive career is over."

Sponsored players are those who get a backer, or backers, who pay them a weekly "salary." In return, the player pays the backer 60 per cent of his earnings for the first year, 50 per cent the second year and on down the scale to 10 per cent the fifth and final year.

"Economically it isn't sound," Burke said. "Even the Hogan and the Sneads have to have club jobs. The young player needs three or four years to become a consistent winner and, when his few good years are over, he's faced with being a golf bum if he can't go back to teaching."

George Bayer's long drives are the breath-taking talk of the current PCL championship. On the 533-yard first hole at Pine Hollow Country Club, his three-iron second shot was over the green. Then former Washington Redskins tackle drove the green on the 363-yard 18th hole and he got home on his second shot with a four iron.

"Playing with him," complained Tony Penna, "I feel like a midget with muscular atrophy."

Big Mike Souchak, the former Duke University fullback, had the measles and resultant complications made him miss five tournaments this spring.

"I'm starting to get my strength back," moaned Mike, who even in his "weak" condition looks like an over-muscled Rocky Marciano.

Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., one of the better young players, turned to golf because he had to give up football. His dad tried to get him interested in golf but only after he injured both knees on the gridiron as a high school freshman did he begin to play seriously "because there wasn't anything else to do."

Bill Ezimick, the Stoneham, Mass., pro who was an ice hockey "bad man" with Toronto, Boston and New York, was cutting up old touches with former National Hockey League referee Bill Chadwick, now manager of Pine Hollow Country Club.

"You weren't really a bad man, unless somebody turned their back," Chadwick kidded.

"Well, you should know," Ezimick grinned, "because that's when he turned his back. Ezimick's stick got the ref in Chadwick's skates and the ref took a terrific header."

Tommy Bolt was in a jam with the putting powers again for getting "abusive" but it will never happen to Herb Deesen of Berkeley, Calif. He reads Hindu poetry even while playing "to keep myself calm," which makes you wonder, how calm can you get?

Chicago starter Jim Wilson was not even close to repeating Billy Pierce's near perfect victory over the Senators Friday night and left in the sixth in which Sievers hit his second homer for a 4-3 Senator lead.

Gordon sent up three pinch-hitters who drove in as many runs.

The Indians wiped out a 5-2 deficit with two runs in the sixth, inning and single runs in the eighth and ninth frames. It was the second victory for the Tribe under Gordon, and like Friday night, they won it 6-3. Don Mossi won his second straight in relief, to give the lanky southpaw a 6-6 mark.

County Five Joins Cagers

Plans to expand the Klamath Falls Park and Recreation Department's summer basketball program were formed this week by coach Dean White as he surveyed an additional 10 to 20 county cagers who evidenced an interest in the sessions which are in progress on Pelican Court.

The program includes full instruction in fundamentals plus work in scrimmages for all interested boys from grade school age through high school.

Originally scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 until 9 p.m., the sessions were first increased to include Monday, and Wednesday play for the younger age group.

The influx of players from Henry and Tulelake has necessitated adding a Friday morning session to the curriculum. Henry was represented by a squad in a Tuesday evening workout which included 45 minutes of fundamentals and two hours of practice games.

Working with White are Bob Niles, ex-KU star, Gary Dawes, Don Sutphin, both members of the Klamath County Officials Association, and Paul Bishop, a Pelican varsity member who is presently suffering from an ankle injury suffered in an American Legion baseball game recently.

Bishop's activity has been restricted to that of a sideline referee during scrimmage games; he also assists in fundamentals coaching as do Dawes and Sutphin. Niles is working with the neophytes in backboard control and shotmaking.

According to Bob Bonney, Klamath Falls park director, more county players have inquired about the course and are expected to turn out for future sessions.

Practices are held from 10 a.m. until noon each Monday, Wednesday and Friday and each Tuesday and Thursday from 7 p.m. until 9.

Denver's three top hitters of 1956 are now with the New York Yankees. They are Tony Kubek, Bobby Richardson and Marv Throneberry.

over from starter Pat Salvadori who had worked himself to a 3-3 tie at the end of seven, to hold the Prineville squad to two runs in the top of the eighth while his teammates collected three runs in the home-half of the inning, to gain credit for the win.

Losing hurler Ray Woodridge and his relief, Gene Bonney, combined to hold the Klamathites to only two hits but saw four errors prove their downfall.

Salvadori issued six hits and gave up seven walks as the Klamath Falls team also committed four errors.

The longest hit of the game was a two-run homer in the fourth inning by Prineville's Jerry Cole. Estin Kiger collected a double for Klamath Falls while Dean Dunson blasted the game winning single in the bottom of the eighth. Klamath Falls got off to a first-inning bulge as leadoff man, Herrera, got aboard by virtue of being hit by the pitcher and then scored on Kiger's two-bagger.

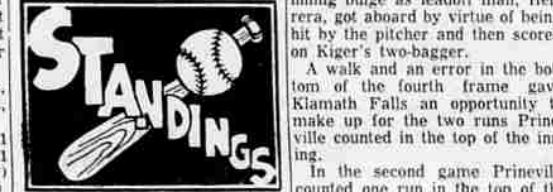

A walk and an error in the bottom of the fourth frame gave Klamath Falls an opportunity to make up for the two runs Prineville counted in the top of the inning.

In the second game Prineville counted one run in the top of the second stanza, picked up two more in the fourth and gathered four in the fifth inning for good measure. The visitors got four hits off loser Ricky Adkins, while the winner, Hall, allowed only one safety, a fourth-inning single by Smiley Herrera.

The Prineville club committed one error in their winning effort while the Klamath nine committed two.

A doubleheader scheduled with Lakeview at Gem Stadium this afternoon was called off Saturday night as it was learned that Lakeview would be unable to field a full team.

UW Oarsmen To Face Reds

HENLEY ON THAMES, England (AP)—The University of Washington crew will make its first appearance in the Royal Henley Regatta against a formidable Russian crew, the Trud (Labor) Club of Leningrad.

Russians and the Washington eight were brought together in the draw Saturday. The regatta starts Wednesday. The race is Thursday. The winner will meet the London Rowing Club in a semifinal Friday.

On the other side of the Grand Challenge Cup draw, the Leichhardt Rowing Club of Australia, will meet the Thames Rowing Club of London in the final.

When the Amateur National Field Trial Championships open Wednesday morning at Point Reyes, California, Klamath Falls will be represented on two fronts—the official and participant.

Two Klamath Falls businessmen who are very active in retriever work will be on hand when the five-day national opens with the first series for amateur handlers and owners. Jim Stilwell will be serving as one of the judges for the meet and Hal Schidler will have his fine black Labrador Hal's Spi-Wize-Zeke entered.

Both Stilwell and Schidler are familiar with national trials. In the past, Stilwell has been entered in two nationals as a participant with the late Oakcreek's Sir Dorchester (Ty). Schidler will be making his third trip to a national test, the second time in the amateur, the other time in the open.

The trial starts Wednesday and will continue over the Fourth of July weekend to Sunday afternoon. An entry list of 59 retrievers from all parts of the nation will be bidding for the national amateur championship. Schidler's Zeke is classed as one of the leading dogs on the Pacific Coast and will probably rank high in the final standings.

In past nationals, Zeke has completed nine of the 10 series in every trial, which is quite complimentary to Schidler and his big Lab.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday Hal played host to several Pacific Northwest retriever handlers who stopped over here on their way south to Point Reyes, which lies 40 miles north of San Francisco on the Pacific Ocean. The handlers go together at the Kerns Ranch on the Keno Highway for a few training sessions to sharpen up their dogs.

Included in the list who worked out here with Schidler were Dr. John Lundby, Boise; Jimmy Bryan, Bremerton; George Dukel, Fossil, Oregon; George Hamilton, Seattle; and Al Benton, Seattle.

Besides Zeke, there will be entered a pair of well-known dogs in this area. The two, both Golden Retrievers, are named Anderson and Red Ruff. The two dogs are owned by C. R. Tobin of San Francisco and are pups from Stilwell's big Ty dog which qualified six different times for the nationals.

Lefebvre, the towering sophomore from Paris.

Lefebvre, by the way, reported to Anderson a few days ago and said he is more than ready to return to the states and complete his education at Gonzaga next fall. There was some worry by Gonzaga athletic officials—namely Anderson—if the big Frenchman would return after getting back to his homeland this summer. But he says he'll be back.

Bucs 7, Cubs 3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates put the skids on a seven game losing streak Saturday, thumping the Chicago Cubs 7-3 with the help of a 4-run fifth inning.

Bob Skinner's bases-loaded single, an error by shortstop Ernie Banks and Ted Kuszewski's double produced the runs in the fifth. Skinner also drove in the Pirates first tally in the first inning with a sacrifice fly after Billy Virdon led off with a triple.

Rookie Curt Raydon won his third game, but needed help from reliever Bob Porterfield.

Dick Drott, who started for the Cubs, was the loser.

Cards 8, Phils 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—St. Louis rookie Gene Green banged out his first Major League grand slam homer and veteran Sal Maglie gave up only five hits Saturday as the Cards trounced Philadelphia 8-1, in a game marked by the season's third Major League triple play.

Green's big blow came in the first inning and put the Cards ahead to stay. Don Blasingame tripled to open the inning and Curt Flood singled him home. Stan Musial's double advanced Flood to third and Ken Boyer was issued an intentional walk by loser Curt Simmons. Then Green cut loose with his big hit, his fifth homer of the season.

Here's how the triple play came about:

Flood beat out an infield hit to third. Wally Post dropped a fly by Stan Musial and Ken Boyer lined to second baseman Solly Hemus. Hemus stepped on third to snare Flood and threw to first to nab Musial.

Don Newcombe, recently traded from Los Angeles to Cincinnati, received a good test on his fear of flying that was supposed to be overcome earlier this year by treatments from a psychiatrist. And from all reports, big Newk passed with "flying" colors.

A plane which Newcombe was riding suddenly began belching smoke from the left engine. Says the Redleg pitcher:

"Once they shut them doors, there's nothing you can do."

The plane and Newk both reached the ground safely.

Gonzaga University, who picked up a 7-3 basketball player in France last year, now has landed a 6-2 sharpshooter in Germany. That's very good cross-country recruiting by basketball coach Hank Anderson.

Anderson, who used to coach at Grand Pass High School, said this past week the latest catch is Fran Burgess, 23, a native of Arkansas who was spotted by a former Gonzaga student in an Air Force tournament in Germany.

Burgess averaged 34.2 points a game last year for an Air Force team at Hahn, Germany. He contacted Gonzaga and has enrolled there in summer school as a sophomore after his service discharge, Anderson said.

He said Burgess has an excellent reputation as a floor leader as well as a scorer and may develop into a feeder for big Jean Claude

Pacific Northwest college basketball and baseball coaches wish there was a rule against signing college athletes to professional baseball contracts.

Oregon State basketball coach Ralph Coleman has lost several prime prospects and now Tippy Dye, University of Washington basketball coach, is weeping as he loses a top notch basketballer via the pro baseball route.

The other day, Brian Bell, one of the leading members of the Washington frosh basketball team last season, announced he had signed a Pittsburgh Pirate contract. Bell is a pitcher in baseball and forward in basketball.

What's Dye crying over? Just because he stands a mere 6 feet, 5-inches tall and weighs 215 pounds.
