Alleged Robber Is Poor Man's Houdini

NEW YORK (AP)—Police not only are looking for Albert D. Boyce, they are wondering how, with handcuffs on his wrists, he escaped from a wire mesh detention cage — its door bolted from the outside.
 Boyce, 26, Negro, was seized Friday after he allegedly robbed a grocery store of $27.
 He was taken to a Brooklyn station house and put into the detention cage pending transfer to Manhattan Night Court. While Patrolman Alan Groom, who was to take him to court, was changing into civilian clothes, Boyce disappeared.
