SF Wins, Cards Bow; Yanks Blasted By A's

It was fun while it lasted but the honeymoon is over for the pitchers who've been making Hank Aaron and Ted Williams out to be .250-hitters.

Aaron, the National League's most valuable player in 1957, owns a whopping .733 average for his last three games and has boosted his season mark to .292. And Williams, who won the American League batting title with a .385 mark last season, has raised his current average to an even .390.

Braves 10, Bums 6

Aaron smashed four hits, including a grand slam homer, and knocked in five runs as the Milwaukee Braves beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 10-6, Sunday while Williams hit a three-run homer and a single to help the Boston Red Sox down the Detroit Tigers, 10-7.

The Braves' victory increased their first-place margin over the St. Louis Cardinals to 2½ games and the Red Sox' win moved them past the Tigers into third place in the American League.

Aaron's grand slam in the sixth inning, following singles by Bob Rush and Red Schoendienst and a walk to Eddie Mathews, turned out to be the Braves' victory margin when the Dodgers rallied in the late innings. Rush went eight innings to gain credit for his sixth victory while Stan Williams, kayoed in the third, suffered his second defeat. Charlie Neal hit two homers and Carl Furillo and Dick Gray one each for Los Angeles.

Boston 10, Tigers 7

Williams lofted a towering drive off the roof of the third deck of Briggs Stadium in the eighth inning to make the Red Sox' margin, 9-5. The Tigers knocked out Frank Sullivan in the last of the ninth but Mike Focione came in to halt the rally. Jackie Jensen hit his 23rd homer and Gene Stephens also homered for the Red Sox.

A's 12, Yankees 6

The Athletics spotted the Yankees a 5-0 lead and then butchered six pitchers for 15 hits, including homers by Roger Maris and Hector Lopez, to cut New York's A's lead to 8½ games. The Athletics started their assault against 11-game winner Bob Turley and wound it up by scoring four runs in two innings off relief ace Ryno Duren.

Birds 11-5, Tribe 6-2

The Orioles reduced Joe Gordon from a 1,000-manufacturer to a .500-pilot by garnering 13 hits and nine walks in the first game and then getting a four-hit pitching performance from Arnold Porter. Bob Boyd had five straight hits for the Orioles in the opener and had two singles in four tries in the second game.

Phils 5-3, Cards 4-4

Harry Anderson doubled home the winning run for the Phillies in the opener to give Jack Meyer his first victory since Aug. 10, 1956. The Phils had one run, runners on first and third and none out in the eighth when the Philadelphia Phillies scored a 5-4, 13-inning decision over the Cardinals and were rallying in the eighth inning of the cleanup when the Pennsylvania circuit was ahead of the game with the Redbirds suspended, 4-3. The San Francisco Giants beat the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0, and the Chicago Cubs won 8-3, after losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2, in the other NL games.

Phils 5-3, Cards 4-4

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

By United Press International

Nothing personal, you understand, but suddenly Casey Stengel and Fred Haney are trying to out-guess each other with a pair of stratagems that promise to convert the All-Star game from just another exhibition to a World Series-style battle of brains.

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

Stengel packed the first blow when he p u c k e d the American League team with seven of his own Yankees to augment two other Yanks named as starters for the game at Baltimore, July 8.

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

Haney, whose Milwaukee Braves beat the Yankees in the World Series last fall, promptly retaliated with the unprecedented declaration, "If we get out in front, the starting lineup will stay in the game until we win."

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

Both managers make no secret of the fact that they want to win at any cost — Haney, perhaps, because he wants to prove that his victory over Stengel last October was no one-shot fluke, and Casey undoubtedly because he doesn't like anyone to have the upper-hand on him.

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

In any case, Stengel will be able to platoon to his heart's content in the style he is accustomed with Yankee players. Center fielder Mickey Mantle and first baseman Bill Skowron were the two Yankees picked to start by the votes of American League players, managers and coaches.

DETROIT (AP)—Jackie Jensen is enjoying the hottest hitting streak of his career and he says all the American League pitchers "look like they don't have any stuff at all."

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

The Boston Red Sox slugger hit his fourth home run in three games as the Sox outslugged the Detroit Tigers yesterday 10-7, and now leads the American League in home runs with 23 and RBI's with 60.

Case, Haney Vie In Battle Of Wits

"I've always been a streak hitter," the 31-year-old outfielder explained, "but I've never been this hot so long. When I'm going like this, all pitchers look like they don't have any stuff at all. But when I'm going the other way, every one of them looks like a 20-game winner."

Over the last four seasons, Jensen has more RBI's than any other player in the league. "I can't explain it," said Jensen, the American League's 1953 all-star game right fielder. "I know the pitchers are working harder on me now, but I'm using the same type bat, the same swing, the same everything. All I know is that it feels wonderful."
