Peru Blaming Financial Troubles On Lack Of U.S. Buying, Too High Tariffs

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Peru, the Andean Mountain land of the once powerful Incas, is facing financial crisis. Officials blame the United States.

Steelworkers Get Pay Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Basic steelworkers receive a wage increase tomorrow that likely will be felt by most Americans before too long.

The increase is the final installment in a three-year contract. The union estimates the package boost at 13.2 cents hourly, the companies at 16 cents.

U.S. Steel Corp. normally sets the steel price pattern, but it has said it would make no decision until the economic situation clarifies.

All are agreed an increase in the price of steel will be necessary. None of the major producers has said just how much.

U.S. Steel Corp. normally sets the steel price pattern, but it has said it would make no decision until the economic situation clarifies.

The present composite price of steel is estimated at $155 a ton. Steel price increases often are followed by boosts in the costs of steel-made consumer goods.

Steelmakers, who had hoped the union would forego the final increase, estimate the boost will add up to 25 cents hourly to the cost of production.

Peru already owes 140 million to the Export-Import Bank for economic assistance. U.S. investments here total 450 million.

The right-of-center government of conservative President Manuel Prado inherited debts from the previous administration estimated at 45 millions. Struggling for a balanced budget, Prado has tried to trim expenses to liquidate this sum.

Prado, long has been beset by agitation for wage increases for the nation's workers. Despite attempted price controls, costs of living have risen steadily.

To halt the wage boost demands, the government recently approved a general 15-20 per cent rise and then decreed there would be no more pay hikes for a year.

There are other problems facing the government of Peru — roughly shaped like California, but three times as big.

There is much unemployment. As in many Latin-American countries, no government official seems to know just how much. The per capita income is only $120 yearly.

Over half of Peru's 10 million people can neither read nor write. Poverty is widespread among the Incas and other Indians who make up more than 60 per cent of the population.

There's a deep feeling among many Peruvians that, while they blame the United States for financial and economic troubles, amends can easily be made.

They figure it out simply—all the United States has to do is to buy just about everything Peru wants to sell—and everybody here will be happy to clasp hands with Americans in warm friendship.

They contend that since the United States spends billions of dollars on foreign aid for Europe, Africa and Asia, South America should get more.

Points like these and all economic complaints imaginable provided the ammunition for the hostile anti-American demonstrations staged here by Peru's Communists against Nixon.

The Communist party technically is illegal in Peru, but it operates openly. Prado's government has shrugged aside the Communists as a threat to Peruvian democracy. Apparently that attitude is based on the fact that the Reds supposedly have only 6,000 members and 40,000 to 50,000 sympathizers.

But they are wielding power and influence in labor unions, universities, student organizations, and among the peasants.

Many Peruvians believe the government should curb Communist activities.

New Fiscal Year Will See Uncle Sam Pushing Deeper And Deeper Into Huge Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—For Uncle Sam, tonight is New Year's Eve. He won't be celebrating, though, because the new fiscal year will carry him deeper into debt than ever before.

Red ink spending caused by the business recession and the Soviet scientific-military menace threatens a fiscal 1959 deficit of about 11 billion dollars — possibly closer to 12 billion. That is more than at any time since World War II.

The national debt is sure to push past its December 1955 record high of $280,621,000,000.

Planes Set New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Air Force jet tankers beat the east-west speed record between London and New York City yesterday.

Alpha, the first of the two U.S. planes, flashed over Idlewild Airport at 2:20 p.m. It had made the 3,460 miles nonstop flight from London in 5 hours 51 minutes 24.8 seconds.

The plane landed minutes later at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn.

Right behind Alpha streaked its sister ship Bravo, which took 5 hours 53 minutes 21 seconds. It landed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., its home base.

Swept from the record books was British Capt. J. W. Hackett's mark of 7 hours 29 minutes established Aug. 23, 1955.

The U. S. planes, four-engine KC135s of the Strategic Air Command, set new marks of less than 5½ hours for the New York-London flight last Friday. A third jet tanker crashed just after takeoff Friday at Westover. Fifteen men were killed, six servicemen among them.

Memorial services for the victims were held at Westover yesterday.
