Vogt-Berryhill Nuptials In Dunsmuir St. Barnabas

DUNSMUIR—St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, where Betty Joanne Berryhill has attended services since childhood, was the scene of her marriage to Louis Jerome Vogt Jr. of San Francisco on the afternoon of June 14.

Betty Joanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Berryhill of Dunsmuir, is a registered nurse presently employed in San Francisco.

The Rev. Stanley Macgavin officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli with clusters of stephanotis tied with white satin ribbon marking each pew.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white tulle and Chantilly lace fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, double puff sleeves and chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet trimmed with seed pearls. Her bouquet of stephanotis and lilacs of-the-valley was centered with a white orchid.

Barbara Coon, a life-long friend, was maid of honor. Her dress, made with a harem skirt, picture hat and slippers were aqua. Kaye Johnson of San Francisco, bridesmaid, wore a dress similar to the maid of honor's. Both carried pink rosebuds.

Tom Vogt, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Bob Berryhill, the bride's brother, and Don Currier, cousin of the bridegroom.

Helen Climent was soloist; Elta Mae McIntyre, organist; and Roger Glaese, acolyte.

Ushered into the church by her son, Bob Berryhill, the bride's mother wore an asbes of roses street length dress of chiffon and lace. Her flowers were cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Ruth Harris, mother of the bridegroom, wore a beige and blue afternoon frock with a picture hat. Her corsage was of rosebuds.

Four generations were represented at the reception at the Hotel

Tom Vogt proposed the toast which was sipped from an heirloom goblet belonging to the bridegroom's family.

Another heirloom a Battenburg lace cloth, covered the cake table, centered with a multi-tiered cake surrounded with blossoms. After the nuptial couple cut the cake, it was served by Mrs. B. M. Coon and Mrs. Henry Riley with small tea sandwiches and punch.

Judith Lynne Glaese registered the guests.

Kaye Tucker caught the bride's bouquet and a few minutes later, the young couple left for a Southern California honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Vogt attended Dunsmuir schools and is a graduate of St. Luke's School for Nurses. She is currently employed in the office of Dr. Kemp Dowdy in San Francisco.

The bridegroom, a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity, attended Alabama Polytechnical Institute and at present is attending San Francisco State College while employed by the Bank of America. He served two years of army security duty in Korea. His father is Louis Jerome Vogt Sr. of Florida.

For travel, the bride wore a pink and white pin stripe suit with white accessories. The newlyweds will be at home at 1784 Ninth Avenue in San Francisco.

If you take your wife to a party in bad weather, drive up to the door and let her out, instead of parking and letting her walk. Also when it is time to leave, bring the car around for her. Besides making your wife feel protected—you may even save some money by keeping her from ruining a dress or a pair of fragile shoes.

A good, solid foundation base will hide crow's feet, wrinkles and circles around the eyes. But it is only temporary. Sleep and a good diet will help do away with the circles. For the other wrinkles try an emollient cream every night.

Ramblings

By RUTH KING

Tables turned last week and Milly Ramsby, society editor for a span of years at the H & N, found herself in the role of giving information instead of probing for it. Gal in the reporter chair was Pati O'Conner whose previous training on the city desk made her an apt society news seeker. Pati covered the Rambo-Ede wedding when lovely Sue Ramsby took her vows with Bob Ede of Portland, June 28 before the altar in St. Paul's.

Loose ends and last minute ravelings crop up in plans for any wedding and though Mrs. R has written hundreds of wedding stories, probably 2,000, she too found that a society editor wears no coat of mail and finds loose ends to catch up too before the big day. At the 11th hour she was ruffling an organza cloth for a reception table instead of meeting a deadline for the composing room. She's still on vacation, hidden away, we hope, where these new-fangled intercom, telephone buttons can't flash in her eyes.

Winks of sleep were few for days before the nuptials. . . . the afternoon of the wedding bird watchers were in the Jack and Sky Martin garden on Pacific Terrace, scene of the reception, to scoo over two live, white lovebirds that centered one table. Owner, Mrs. Ralph W. Griffith, loaned the beauties. . . . cats watched, too.

Garden was perfect setting for the lovely gowns of wedding party and clouds were pushed back by sunshine. . . . Milly will return some day to dust off the old Underwood and make memorable copy for other Moms whose chicks have flown the nest. . . . Bustlings going on at the Laurence Shaw home on Pacific Terrace where Mrs. J. A. Jensen is spending leisurely days with daughter and son-in-law from her home in Rainier, Oregon. Family has just returned from Bremerton and nuptials of Robert J. Bryan, grandson of Mrs. J's and nephew of Mrs. Shaw, Bob, who will graduate in fall from University of Washington School of Law and his lovely bride, former Cathy Weis, have made marks scholastically and otherwise on campus. . . . Cathy is known to Seattle and other city audiences as an expert in ballet.

Klamath Falls folks, the Kristian Gippus, even Jan. 12, and traveling companion Ronnie Fredricks, were recent guests of Oregon's Senator and Mrs. Dick Neuberger for trip about Washington, peeking in on hard-to-see places. Lunched in the Senate dining room, toured the Capitol Building and said howdy to folks they knew from K.F. tied by duty away from home. . . . all this and then the foursome winged away to Europe for loping about continent until fall when Mr. G will return to his music. Lest you don't know. . . . Ronnie F. is son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Fredricks of our town.

Disneyland. . . . mecca of all small fry and bigger fry too, drew George and Beulah Elliott and twin sons, Charles and John, recently. Side trips, even across the border to Mexico kept them busy for nearly three weeks and now 'twill be only a bunny hop to school for the senior E's and the twins.

Postcard in the mail relates Mrs. Clifford E. McClellan of 1290

Patterson, spent time out to meet with class of 1919 at Connecticut College, in enchanting New London recently. . . . coming, July 7, is onetime traveling companion of Mrs. George Merryman Sr., Mrs. Frank F. Miller, San Francisco for summer visit. The two saw much of world together not so many years ago. Also due are Dr. and Mrs. Robert Shaffer and two young sons Steven and Billy.

Remember the busy Charles Starks who gave up Klamath Falls for Idaho Falls and business with that city's chamber of commerce? Ken McLeod up at Sun Valley Lodge in those mighty Sawtooth Mountains, where we spent dizzy days before Oregon and the H&N, found them vacationing against a backdrop of breath-taking scenery.

Iran. . . . the land that lovely Queen Soraya left, is mecca for Mrs. George Braman, teacher at Altamont School who has gone to join husband, who is on important assignment, setting up sawmills, American way. . . . daughter Elizabeth, first year student at Stevens is traveling too, with Mrs. B. taking in New York, Copenhagen, Helsinki, where they will visit family then on with numerous side trips to greet Mr. B. . . . six months, imagine, away from chalk and erasers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Lov, 1975 DelMoro Street, have returned home from a three weeks' trip to the state of Washington and Canada.

Mrs. Lov's sister, Mrs. Marie McConachie, has returned with them for a visit in Klamath Falls.

Ribbon hats, in the color of your choice, pack flat in a suitcase for travel. They also wash in warm soapsuds and require no blocking.

Cook-Vacknitz Vows Exchange

MALIN—The Wedding Chapel in Reno, Nevada, was the scene for the May 31 wedding of Carol Vacknitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Vacknitz of Malin, and Isaac Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin J. Cook of Tulelake. The morning ceremony was read by the Rev. Raymond Walters.

Carol, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length dress of nylon voile fashioned with an Empire waistline and Sabrina neckline. Around the brief sleeves and the neck were white embroidered flowers. A lace Juliet cap held in place her brief veil of illusion net. A white orchid with stephanotis constituted her wedding corsage.

Attendants were Roxie Vacknitz, the bride's sister, who wore a pink cotton-satin dress and corsage of pink roses, and B. Carpenter of Merrill.

Mrs. Vacknitz chose a nuptial chemise with white accents for her daughter's wedding. A wedding breakfast was in the Coach Room of the Hotel in Reno.

Several bridal showers given for Carol. On June 6, a shower at the community hall were Ellen R. Dorothea Elmora, Marie E. Loretta Van Meter, Blanch and Mary Alice Stastny showers were given by Carol's classmates at Malin School and by members of semby of God Church in lake.

This is the time to invest in seamless hosiery for summer. Nothing else looks quite so open shoes. And this same with the added special color.

YOUR SAVINGS NEED CONSTANT CARE!

WHAT KIND OF CARE should you give your "cash reserves?" To whom would you most readily give the responsibility for the management of your money?

First of all, you would seek the maximum security and safety. You would want conservative financial direction, strong reserves, sufficient liquidity...so that your money would always be there when you need it.

Second, you should look for both immediate and future profit... which you have a right to expect. Your profit here is paid in the highest earnings possible consistent with safety. Our savers receive an above-average return since each one shares directly in profits.

Third, you would want to save conveniently and easily. Here you'll receive friendly counsel in selecting the type account best for your plans...individual, joint or trust account. You can save any amount at any time in person or by mail and you need never worry about fluctuating markets. It's easy to add a few dollars to your investment from time to time.

Finally, the housing market will need an enormous cash supply since the U.S. population is predicted to reach 190 million by 1965. Today we're building this association strong and sound to meet the financing demands of our city in the years ahead.

In our financial report, see how cash and U. S. gov't bonds, when added to monthly loan repayments, stand ready to meet savers and borrowers both. Then note our principal asset—first mortgages on carefully-selected, owner-occupied homes—the backbone of our way of life! Here is the strong protection, the continual care your savings deserve! And here you'll find the "food," the earnings, that make your dollars grow!

Decide your money will enjoy the most constant care.
