

Republican Victory League Set To Promote GOP Win

Fred Heard, Second Congressional district director of the Young Republican Federation of Oregon, announced today that local volunteers have organized a Klamath County United Republican Victory League for the purpose of promoting a complete Republican victory in November.

Heard stated that this GOP venture is completely new and untried in both the county and state. The summer campaign will be financed by the Klamath County candidates and the two state and one national candidates. The league is awaiting word from Mark Hatfield, nominee for governor of Oregon and Lyle C. McCaskey, candidate for labor commissioner, Congressional nominee Marion T. Weatherford announced his intention to join and participate in the league last week.

The headquarters, located at 233 East Main, next to the Family Grocery, was secured to provide a meeting place for the various candidates and their committees. Free coffee and cookies will be available Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Within the next two weeks, the Republican Victory League will have a folder available listing the date of the November election, a biographical sketch and picture of each candidate. The league is planning many events during the months of their intended operation, July and August.

The headquarters will open Monday, July 7. An official grand opening will be held during a "Candidates Night," shortly after July 7. Heard, who will serve as director of the Victory League office, stated that he believed that this would be a definite way of advancing candidates under the banner of the Republican Party. It is his time, he urged, that all interested in the philosophy and the candidates of the GOP should "roll up their sleeves" and go to work. The official league is comprised of Republicans and Democrats. Heard stressed that the Victory League was not a Young Republican project and that it was not under the auspices of the Y.R.'s. "It is open to people of all ages—young and old. There is a job for all and all are welcome," concluded Heard.

One out of every four units coming off the Plymouth assembly line during the 1958 model year has been a station wagon. . . . automobile manufacturers' association figures show that in the first quarter of 1958, the industry average for station wagon production was 13.42 per cent. . . . the percentage is expected to be up to 15 for the entire year. . . . Plymouth expects its percentage to reach 27 by the year's end.

School Facts

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of informative articles dealing with the Klamath Union High School and the forthcoming proposed budget which will be voted on Monday, July 7. The material is presented as a public service by members of the KUHS School Board and Budget Committee.

The purpose of this article is definitely not an attempt to intimidate persons into voting for the budget. The people should by all means vote as they choose, but should at the same time be informed as to the possible consequences.

What will happen if the budget is defeated? The earliest date on which another budget could be voted on would be the mid part of September, or after the scheduled September 8 opening date for the schools.

A budget defeat on July 7 would have the following consequences: The high school would have no money on which to operate from July 1 until a budget is adopted and passed; teachers could not be contracted for the next school year until following the date of budget approval; basic school support money from the state would not be forthcoming because the high school would not meet state standards; warrants could not be issued by the school district without a budget; and . . . in short . . . without a budget, operating funds and teachers the school could not open September 8.

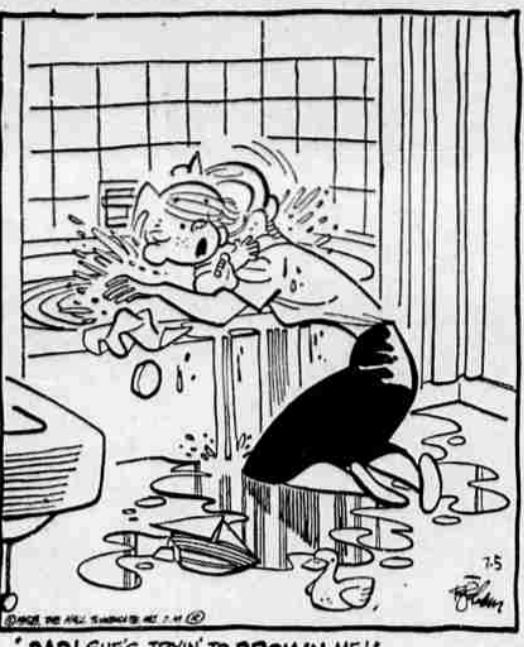

The contention that another budget could not be presented before September is certainly not factual. It is a fact and the voters should be familiarized as to why.

For example, if the revised budget was defeated on July 7, it would require at least a week of continuous meetings of the budget committee before a revised budget could be prepared for filing with the board clerk. It would then require the clerk at least a week before a copy could have the notice of public hearing and the budget ready for publication in the newspaper. It would require the newspaper three days to transform the material into printing metal and have it ready for publication on or about July 25. The law requires that two public notices of the hearing be published, requiring a minimum of two notices of 15 days, that would make the hearing on August 9. At the time of the public hearing changes may be made in the budget, and upon its adoption the calling for a special election to levy a tax in excess of the six per cent limitation. The final revised budget would require a minimum of a week for preparation by the clerk and newspaper for publication of notice of special election. State laws require two public notices must be published with a minimum of 20 days between the first publication and the election. At the inside that would mean that a third budget could not be voted on earlier than September 10, if everything went according to schedule.

The board and budget committee has worked long and conscientiously to present the best budget for maintaining our educational standards at the least possible cost. The groups feel that the budget to be presented July 7 is a sound one and deserving of a favorable vote.

CONTROLLED
McCLOUD — Jack Prevey, McCLOUD ranger with USFS, stated five additional lightning fires were controlled in the district June 29. Two smoke jumpers from Redding controlled one of the fires in the Deep Crater region in the Mayfield Lava Beds. The total of lightning fires to date this year now equals the identical total of 25 for all of last year.

Mamie Van Doren Marriage Fails

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Curvy actress Mamie Van Doren and her handleader-husband, Ray Anthony, have agreed to part ways after less than three years of marriage.

The blonde actress and Anthony, who arranged to have Ohio's legal five-day waiting period waived when they wed in Toledo in Aug. 1955, blamed "conflicting careers" for their marital trouble.

Miss Van Doren issued a statement Friday shortly before departing for a movie-making assignment in Italy, saying that "we regret very much that we haven't been able to make a go of it."

She said they would try "to work out an amicable settlement" upon her return in the Fall from Italy.

It was the second marriage for both. They have one child, Terry, born in March, 1956.

Two Deaths End Impossible Love

ROME (UPI) — It was an ill-starred romance from the first and it ended in death and suicide.

The victims were Angela Soddu, daughter of a rich landowner, and Teodoro Tiroto, a poor farm hand. Angela's father fiercely opposed their marriage for reasons he would not divulge, but when they announced their intention to marry he admitted to Teodoro: "You are actually my son born out of wedlock, Angela is your half-sister."

When Angela learned the news she locked herself in her room. One morning neighbors found her body and it was believed generally she had died "of a broken heart."

Teodoro walked with the mourners at her funeral. Later, in front of the statue of the Madonna of the Fields where he often met Angela, he took poison.
