TAX LEVY YES

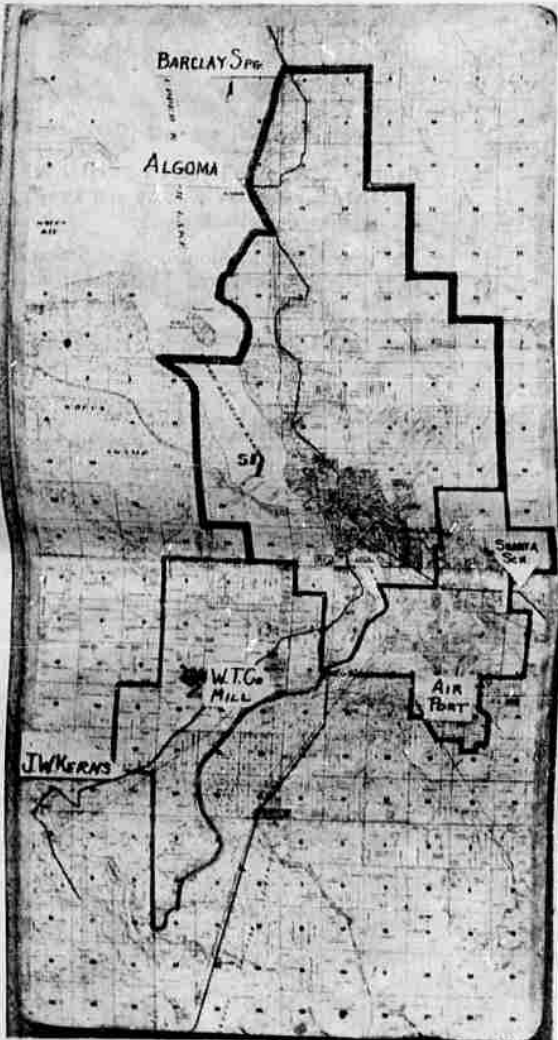

TAX LEVY NO

Shall the proposed REVISED BUDGET of estimated expenditures by Union High School District No. 2 of Klamath County, Oregon for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1958 and ending June 30, 1959, on file in the office of the Clerk of the District, and as advertised and noticed in connection with this special election, be approved?

VOTERS WILL MARK ballot like that above when they go to polls Monday to decide whether 1958-59 high school district budget should be adopted. In fiscal year now ending, budget was $727,892, including $539,540 raised by taxes. For a full expression of opinion, voters should be consistent and mark either two "yes" votes or two "no" votes. We the undersigned members of the Board of Education and Budget Committee for Klamath Union High School District No. 2 urge the adoption of the budget to be presented to the voters on July 7, 1958.

1. The revised budget represents a reduction in the tax levy of $48,511 under the previous budget of May 5, 1958.

Parade Jams Main Street

Main Street was solidly lined from Second Street to the Old Army when the Fourth of July parade started east at 10 a.m. sharp Friday.

The parade, sponsored by the Klamath Jaycees, boasted 53 separate entries, and hundreds of participants, including many mounted riders.

The grand prize for the best all-around entry was awarded to the Daughters of the American Revolution, for their float, "From Martha Washington to Alaskan Statehood."

Theme of the parade was "Pathways to Progress," and the theme prize went to the Klamath Recreation Department, for its float, "From the Old Swimming Hole to the Modern Swimming Pool."

The Klamath Cowbells won the commercial float prize; theme was "From the Cowboy Campfire to the Modern Barbecue."

First award in organizations were to the Rainbow Girls, whose float carried a religious theme symbolized by a cross formed by the girls. There were two honorable mentions in this division, one to the DAR, the other to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, whose float presented Bill Mauldin's World War II cartoon characters, Willy and Joe, eating chicken. (Remember, it was the Fourth of July.)

The musical award went to the Klamath Union High School summer band, and the best mounted group prize to the Klamath County Sheriff posse.

The best costumed award went to the Klamath Reservation Jaycees, who presented three Indian princesses astride painted horses.

Hobby World won the prize for the most unusual entry, with its "From Flying Jenny to Space Missile" entry; and the Grants Pass Cavemen and Cavewomen took the award for the most humorous entry.

In the best marching awards, first place went to the U.S. Naval Reserve drill team, and honorable mentions to the KUHHS rally squad and the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

Jerry's Drive-In won the best matched pair of horses prize, with a Shetland team.

Finally, the Klamath Falls Street Department won everybody's thanks for the efficiency with which they cleaned up after the parade. You might say that the department's mechanical sweepers were the last entry, so closely did they follow the mounted riders.

Young Trujillo Makes Friends

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UPI)—Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., 29-year-old playboy-soldier from the Dominican Republic, rested aboard his luxurious "man-of-war" Saturday after celebrating the Fourth of July in an eye-raising manner that included:

—Snubbing his nose at international protocol by not hoisting full dress colors on his four-masted, 350-foot plush yacht in recognition of Independence Day until leaving Los Angeles Harbor.

—Ignoring the traditional playing of the Star Spangled Banner to custom foreign ships docked in U.S. waters are usually careful to observe on July 4th by having his 12-man Latin band play raucous calypso tunes.

—Sailing to Santa Catalina Island and then refusing to get out of bed when the mayor and chamber of commerce officials went to the yacht to officially welcome the blonde-loving general.

—Topped the day off by sending a wire to have a pilot meet the Angelita, the name of his so-called "man-of-war," on her return to Los Angeles Harbor, then bobbing around the blue Pacific and keeping the pilot waiting for more than one hour.

Trujillo, his crew of 81—which includes the calypso-minded band of 12—and at least two curvaceous Hollywood beauties did not arrive back to their old anchorage at berth as until midnight Friday night, thus ending a joyous, if not patriotic, July 4th.

Nikita Firm On Price Of Vodka

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has threatened fines and arrests if necessary to stop public drunkenness in the Soviet Union.

Touring a Leningrad factory Friday with visiting Czechoslovak President Antonin Novotny, Khrushchev told workers that the old excuse for drinking—no time to rest—was no longer any good.

"It's high time that we step with our heels on the tails of drunken company," he said. "Do you think it is necessary to issue strong decrees and punish those who appear drunk in public with fines?"

Pravda reported Saturday that the workers responded correctly except for a lone voice in the crowd who called out: "It's necessary to lower the price of vodka."

Khrushchev promptly tilted with the lone voice. "To lower prices on vodka means to encourage the people who abuse it and contradict the interests of our society."

He said the government and the Communist party were working toward reducing food prices, but warned that the price of vodka, raised six months ago to discourage drinking, would not be lowered.

Portland To Get Money For Renewal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The city of Portland, Ore., will get a $9,449,946 federal loan and a $2,115,419 grant for its urban renewal project in the south auditorium area.

The Urban Renewal Administration said approval of the loan and grant makes Portland the first Oregon city to reach actual execution of such a project.

The 83-acre area in the southwest section adjacent to Harbor Drive and Civic Auditorium contains 1,707 dwelling units, most of which are described as substandard.

GRAND PRIZE for best all-around entry in the July Fourth parade was won by the Daughters of the American Revolution, with their float symbolizing American history from Martha Washington to Alaskan statehood. The float was built by Mrs. George Paris, DAR holidays chairman, and Mrs. A. O. Roenicke, regent of Eulalona Chapter. It was made possible by the loan of a family heirloom, spinning wheel by John C. Yadon. The wheel was built for the Yadon family in 1834 in Tennessee, by John Walker, whose initials are hammered on the box. "Martha Washington" was Mrs. Roland Wright, the only active charter member of the local DAR chapter, which was organized in 1922. "Miss Alaska" was Linda Bergman, a member of the Schonchin Society, Children of the American Revolution, sponsored by the DAR.

Horse Injures Rodeo Princess

DORRIS—Norma Struble, a princess in the royal court during the Fourth of July observance sponsored by the Basin Celebrations Council, in Klamath Falls, finished the weekend wearing moccasins instead of boots.

She was horesback riding just before the Fourth with her small nephew, Delton Struble, when the youngster's hat blew off. The girl dismounted and stooped to retrieve the hat. As she leaned over in front of her pony, the horse stepped on her foot, severely injuring her big toe. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Struble of Dorris.

California Lad Drowning Victim

DUNSMUIR — Donald Stephen Farrer, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Farrer of Hayward, California, drowned in the Sacramento River about four miles south of here on Thursday afternoon while fishing with his parents.

He fell into the river near the Soda Creek bridge about 2:30 p.m. and was immediately lost to view; his parents reported. They summoned help and about an hour later Lee Clark, Dunsmuir's chief of police, recovered the body about 750 feet downstream with the help of Castella constable, Sam Spataro.

The family had been camping at Castle-Crags State Park.

Troops Excluded; French Ask Why

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The French government demanded an explanation Saturday for Morocco's refusal to admit 23 French soldiers who flew in from Paris in civilian clothes.

The soldiers flew back to France. They had been trying to return to duty here after furloughs.

French Embassy sources said no formal protest would be made until the situation is clarified. Morocco has refused admittance to returning French soldiers several times in the past.

Maurice Schumann, chairman of the French National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee, announced June 30 that France plans to pull all her soldiers out of this former French protectorate in a concession to Moroccan nationalist sentiment. Only naval and air force units will remain. Morocco has demanded the withdrawal of all 30,000 French troops here under the agreement which gave it independence in 1956.

Ranger Tells Restrictions

YREKA — Fire restrictions on Klamath National Forest lands went into effect on July 1, according to C. A. Yates, supervisor. Campfire permits must be obtained from designated agents or forest service stations. There is no charge for the permit.

Smoking on forest land will be allowed at places of habitation, campgrounds and in cars when traveling, but not while hiking unless the smoker stops and clears a circle three feet in diameter to mineral soil. Persons riding motorcycles or in the back of trucks or riding horseback may not smoke while the vehicle or animal is in motion, said Yates.

Fire danger was experienced early in May, but fire danger was lowered during wet weather in June. The unusual amount of moisture has produced an abundant crop of grass, Yates commented, which creates a high fire hazard when it is dry. He recommends that all dry grass be removed from around residences and outdoor incinerators and that extreme caution be exercised when smoking.

12-Foot Totem Pole Swiped In Portland

PORTLAND (AP)—A 12-foot high totem pole that weighs some 700 pounds is missing from the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry here.

Director Douglas Huegli said thieves made away with it Thursday night. A group of high school students had just repaired it and returned it to the museum.

A large brass ball had been stolen two weeks ago from the museum's flagpole as it lay on the ground awaiting installation.

75 Boys Attend Camp Diamond

Seventy five boys, 9 to 14, left here Saturday for the Klamath County YMCA's resident camp at Camp Diamond.

Located at the southwest end of Diamond Lake, 81 miles northwest of Klamath Falls, the camp is the property of the Medford "YM" which makes it available to the local organization for one week a summer. It provides all usual summer camp facilities and there are also possibilities for a number of special out-of-camp trips to nearby points.

Paul Campbell, local YMCA director, heads a staff of 20 at the camp which will last through July 12. There are adult counselors for each of the living units.

Over 30 of the boys attending Camp Diamond have earned all or part of their expenses through the YMCA's self-help, soap sales program.

Parents are welcome to visit the camp at any time, but should make reservations if they plan to stay for a meal.

SHOULD STAY IN BED

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 19-year-old youth Saturday won — and promptly lost — $20 on a bet he could jump from Key Bridge into the Potomac River and swim to shore.

Richard Zimmerman of nearby Arlington, Va., made the 150-foot leap, swam to shore — and lost his $20 as collateral when shore-waiting police charged him with disorderly conduct.
