

NL Eyes League Expansion

BALTIMORE (AP)—The National League is going to devote "serious, good sensible thinking" to the idea of expanding from 8 to 10 baseball teams, Milwaukee Braves.

You can take that as gospel since he's been one of the most ardent exponents of increasing the membership. And he has shown the National League, at least, that a change is profitable.

Perini moved the Braves from Boston to Milwaukee six years ago. It was the first time a National League team had lifted stakes since 1900. The Braves hiked the league attendance record last year to 2,215,404 and won the World Series. This year, the Dodgers and Giants were transplanted from New York to California and the scanning of new horizons in baseball resembles the race to shoot rockets to the moon.

Perini is all for it.

"The country is ready for expansion. The question is whether baseball is," he said.

He endorsed action of the National League yesterday in authorizing President Warren Giles to name a committee of three to study feasibility of the expansion.

The resolution was prompted by the appearance before the league of Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City and the chairman of its committee to replace the void left by the Dodgers and Giants.

They assured the league that if it would provide a franchise, the city would come up with 12 million dollars to build a stadium seating 52,000.

"I feel definitely we have to get a franchise back in New York City, if only because it's the nerve center of the world," agreed Perini.

A 10th team would have to be added to avoid complex schedules and leaving one team idle daily if only New York was returned.

Perini said he is heartily in favor of a suggestion that a Canadian location be added, preferably Toronto over Montreal.

U.S. Names Second Line Davis Squad

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States is taking a $60,000 gamble by sending a virtually untried team against Canada in the semifinals of the American Zone Davis Cup tennis competition this weekend.

"I was amazed when I read the makeup of our team while I was at Wimbledon," said Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, who heads the squad leaving for Toronto today. "The pressure really will be on us."

The American Davis Cup Committee has selected a group of bright new faces for the assignment in Toronto Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Besides MacKay, members of the team include Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif.; Sam Giammalva, Houston; Earl Buchholz Jr., St. Louis; and Jack Douglas, Stanford University, Calif.

MacKay, 22, never played before more than 200 people before his selection as a surprise substitute in the Davis Cup Challenge Round last December in Melbourne.

He and Reed, fifth and eighth, respectively, are the lone players in America's top 10 named to the team. Giammalva is ranked 16th, Buchholz and Douglas unranked.

Buchholz, 17, won the junior boys title at Wimbledon last Saturday, but has had no Davis Cup experience. Douglas, runner-up to Peruvian Alex Ornela for the national college crown, is a complete dark horse.

Omitted, for one reason or another, were the country's top four players—Vic Seixas, Herbie Flam, Dick Savitt and Gil Shea—and also Ham Richardson, who was No. 1 in rankings in 1957.

Mundt Bill Faces Owners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt, a sponsor of a Senate sports bill, disclosed today he is drafting an amendment to keep club owners from "thumping their noses at the public" in franchise shifts.

The South Dakota Republican said he has asked the Senate drafting experts — its legislative counsel — to prepare language requiring that executives of professional teams "assume certain responsibilities to the public and consider the public interest" in moving from city to city.

Mundt was the first "legislating senator" to speak out Monday against plans to move the baseball-playing Senators from Washington. He suggested owners of the team "take another look at their obligations."

Mundt said he is not withdrawing his sponsorship of a bill which would grant broad antitrust exemptions to professional team sports.

"But Congress should not extend special treatment for baseball clubs to accept with one hand and let them barter it off with the other for a greedy personal profit," he said.

Senators To Hold DC Stand

BALTIMORE (AP)—American League club owners and lawmakers senators have made it plain they want ball-playing Senators to remain in Washington.

Calvin Griffith, president of the capital's baseball team, broached the possibility of shifting to Minneapolis or elsewhere but dropped the idea after a closed session yesterday with fellow owners here for the All-Star Game.

Griffith wouldn't commit his club to stay in Washington forever. He said no businessman can make such a promise. But for the time, at least, any move is out.

Sen. William Langer (R-ND) declared there ought to be an investigation. Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) said talk of depriving congressmen and their neighbors of big league baseball might cause second thoughts about a sports bill pending in the Senate.

The measure would allow pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey plenty of freedom to operate while subjecting their commercial activities to the antitrust laws.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) whose state borders Washington and furnishes many of Griffith Stadium's customers, sent a message of protest to Will Harridge, league president.

The baseball Senators have become regular basement tenants in the standings. They're also last in home gate receipts.

Word around All-Star headquarters was that Tom Yawkey, president of the Boston Red Sox, and likeminded officials argued baseball as the national pastime belongs in the national capital. They also were understood to have called the timing bad, in view of the Senate hearings on what critics have termed a club owners' monopoly.

In the end Griffith made no request for permission to vacate the capital.

Minor Leagues Eye Majors Money Help

By OSCAR FRALEY

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The minor leagues are sitting hungrily on the sidelines as the major league All-Star Game today wonders where their next dollar is coming from — and figuring that 100 cents of it will have to come from the big leagues.

"Complete subsidization of the minor leagues is the only way the minors can survive," said Dick Butler, president of the Texas League. "And I mean complete."

The situation is so desperate in the minors Butler admits without equivocation that:

"Under the current setup, it is impossible for the Texas League to operate next year."

He also asserts there must be a "general realignment" of the entire minor league setup next year.

NEW TRIPLE-A

Butler eventually would like to see a Southern Association, boosted to Triple-A classification instead of its current Double-A ranking, composed of Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans and Memphis of the present Southern Association; Houston, Dallas and possibly Fort Worth of the present Texas League, and Jacksonville of the Sally League.

"I certainly don't know what is going to happen," he said, "but

SF Stadium Given Board Okay, But Fight To Come

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 15 million dollar stadium project for the San Francisco Giants bore the blessing of the Board of Supervisors today but still may face obstacles before construction can start.

The board voted for the program (7-2) yesterday but one opposing supervisor hinted it may be tested in the courts. In addition, some landowners, who expect to be assessed for road improvements if the stadium area, are not happy.

Most observers expect the 45,000-seat stadium, with radiant heat, will be constructed as planned at Candlestick Point, about five miles south of downtown San Francisco. The present schedule calls for its completion by the start of the 1959 season.

Before voting on the stadium issue, the city's governing body rejected a proposal that it act to take a share of television money if revenues from other sources don't keep the project on a paying basis.

Supervisor Leo Hailey argued unsuccessfully on the television proposal, voted against the entire plan and commented:

"This might be completely upset. Who knows what interpretation a court of law would put on this?"

A taxpayer's suit was threatened early this spring.

Hailey said the television clause, similar to one he said was contained in the Milwaukee club's contract there, should be inserted to protect the stadium from becoming a "television studio."

Board President Francis McCarty declared the city's letter of intent agreement with the club's President Horace Stoneham didn't provide for any TV money going to the city and it would be a "breach of faith" to insert such a clause now.

The Giants have agreed to play in the new stadium for 35 years and to pay the city a minimum of $125,000 a year or five per cent of their gross revenue, whichever is greater. The city also is to receive all receipts from the 9,000-car parking lot.

It was estimated $361,000 would be needed annually to keep the project in the black and revenues and $450,000 per year.

City Atty. Dion Holm declared, "The whole deal is built on the fact that revenue from the stadium alone will be used to pay off the debt. Even if the whole proposition went wrong, you would have delivered to San Francisco probably the most valuable industrial property in the area."

McCarty commented also that the Giants would not have free TV and that any pay-TV franchise would need approval of the Board of Supervisors. The baseball team reportedly received a million dollars for franchise rights one year from Skintron, a pay-as-you-see television corporation.

Property owners on four streets near the stadium site would have a paving and sewer bill of $145,600, City Engineer Reuben H. Owens reported. Some owners already have objected, saying they are being charged for streets that will be used primarily for stadium traffic.

Mayor George Christopher said that most of the streets would have been rebuilt in two years even without a stadium.

San Francisco voters approved a five million dollar bond issue for the stadium project. Contractor Charles L. Harney, who will build the stadium, will invest an additional 3 1/2 million and two Chicago investment firms are to receive bonds totaling an additional two million for money they put up.

In addition, a total expenditure of 4 1/2 million will be necessary for road and sewer construction.

S-Troy '9', Eastside Nab BR Triumphs

Eastside Electric added another to its string of victories as it downed the Moose 10-5 in one Babe Ruth League game at Conger Field Monday night while the Superior Troy nine boosted themselves into a tie for second place on the American League ladder with a 15-5 win over Malin in the five-run lead in the bottom of the first inning as they capitalized on three walks, a hit batter and a pair of timely hits. Joe Cox, Electric centerfielder, moved the first two tallies across the plate with a single with one out. Starting Moose hurler John Bianchi pitched the next batter, hit the next and then faced Mike Gallagher, second base, who lashed a bases-loaded triple.

Bianchi struckout four men, walked 11 and gave up five hits before being replaced in the fifth frame by Benny Gonzales. Bianchi was charged with the defeat as Gonzales allowed only two runs for his two innings.

The Moose aggregation collected six hits off two Eastside pitchers, Ross Paxton who worked four frames and earned credit for the win, and Gary Beber who finished up.

Pitcher Bianchi walloped a third inning triple for the longest Moose blow of the contest, while Gary Leavitt garnered a double that helped account for three Moose runs in the fifth. Beber banded a double for the Eastside nine.

The Superior Troy batsmen blasted 10 hits off Malin's Bob Brown, who went the full distance but saw his teammates commit six mistakes to aid the Superior cause.

Starting Superior pitcher David Spencer earned credit for the win although he worked only 1 2/3 innings before being replaced by John Crawley.

Leading the batters was Troy centerfielder Rich Depew who collected a triple and a single for his night's work although catcher John Webb and Don Gredsel each banded a pair of singles.

Don Johnson, Malin third sacker lashed three singles in four trips to the plate and Verne Cox, Malin catcher nailed a two-bagger.

The linescores:

FORESEEN 20 LEAGUES

"I figure that the time will come when there are 20 minor leagues completely subsidized by the majors," Butler analyzes.

He figures it out this way:

There are 16 major league teams and each one of them will have one farm team in Triple-A ball and one in Double-A ball with two teams in the A, B, C and D classifications. This runs to a total of 160 minor league teams and with eight to a league, a total of 20 leagues. It also means there would only be two Triple and Double-A leagues with four leagues each of A, B, C and D classification.

"The major leagues simply have to take over," Butler explains. "If they don't, there isn't going to be any minor league baseball. The minors simply can't keep on overvaluing losing money because of the invasion of their territories by major league broadcasts and telecasts."

The tragic result is that fans in the minor leagues would rather stay home and see or hear about the Mantles, Musials and Williams than attend minor league games.

"The end result," concludes Butler, "is that the majors will have to subsidize every single minor league team — right down the line — or they won't have any place from which to get their players of the future."

Braves Hold Pitching Edge, All Else Equal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Veteran relief specialist Marv Grissom took an evaluation of the National League clubs today and came to the conclusion that they all "are about equal in hitting, but with Milwaukee having a pitching edge."

"These teams appear to be so evenly balanced that it is impossible to pick among them," said the 40-year-old fireman. "The hitting on nearly every club in the league is just about equal."

J-M, Bob's Sweep Little League Tilts

The Johns-Manville Little Leaguers ran their unbeaten string to seven straight as they pounded out a 10-5 victory over Car-Ad-Co at Wright Field Monday night.

At the other end of the field, Bob's Union Series collected 11 runs in the first inning and forged out to win, 15-9 from the Weyerhaeuser-Dons, to take undisputed possession of third place in the league standings.

Winning pitcher in the J-M-Car-Ad-Co test was Larry Binney, who went the full distance, allowing eight hits, striking out nine men and issuing six free-passes. Loser, Jim Kurth, gave up nine hits, walked 10 and fanned seven.

Despite being charged with the defeat, Kurth banded out the longest hit of the game, a triple in the fifth-inning. Leading the J-M hitters was catcher Johnny Jendzjewski, who collected a double that helped account for three J-M tallies in the second frame.

In the Bob's Union-Don's contest, the winner was Gary Patzke who allowed only four hits and walked 11. The loser, Glenn Jones, was chased in the fateful fifth inning after Bob's had counted 11 runs, and was replaced by Vern Huck who finished the game. Huck held the Bob's batters to four more runs for the balance of the test.

The longest hit of the game was a bases-loaded homer in the first stanza by Bob's centerfielder John Stillwell while Don's catcher John Hammersley contributed a triple.

Valdes After Good Show, Shot At Floyd

SPOKANE (AP)—Nino Valdes, the Cuban heavy, says he "doesn't have much English," but he got the idea across he intends to be mean and tigerish when he meets Harold Carter, the Linden, N. J. Baptist Sunday School teacher, here Wednesday night in a 10-round nationally-televised bout.

"If Valdes knocks Carter out," says the Cuban's manager, Bobby Gleason, "I'm going to the New York boxing commission and put up $5,000 to challenge the winner of the Patterson-Harris fight. Maybe it will convince Gus D'Amato if he show well here, Valdes has to keep fighting. He's 34 now. I'm getting pretty old myself. We're tired of waiting for a shot at the title."

Spokesman for the Carter Camp, manager Gene Holmes said he doubts if a decision would be likely, but he figures Carter will be left standing. Holmes acknowledged, however, his fighter must improve his timing.

Carter is angling for an eventual title shot against Patterson, but Holmes conceded there's little chance of an immediate crack at Floyd. "We've got a lot of work ahead of us in the division. We haven't fought any of the current ranked heavys since the Army."

The fight Wednesday night, in the 8,000 seat Spokane Coliseum, will be Carter's second since his discharge from the Army. He out-pointed German trial horse Willie Besmanoff in 10 rounds June 13. Valdes has won three straight from Wayne Bethea, Mike DeJohn and Johnny Summerlin.

Both fighters plan only road work Tuesday.

The go will be scored under Washington state's 10-point "must" system, 10 points to the winner of a round and a lesser number from nine down to the loser depending on the spread.

The 24-year-old Carter is expected to come in at 193 and Valdes at about 211 for the 10 rounder to be televised nationally (ABC) starting at 6 p.m. PST.
