More Russian stuff:
Premier Krushchev ended a visit to East Germany today (East Germany is the part of Germany the communists grabbed) with a BLISTERING ATTACK ON YUGOSLAVIA.

He denounced Marshal Tito and said Yugoslavia has "sold its soul for American money." He added: "The Americans don't give out money for nothing. You have to sell your soul to get it."

He concluded:
"The Yugoslavs are even worse now than they were when Stalin attacked them in 1948."

Hmmmmmm.
Krushchev's MAD, isn't he?
That's interesting. Consider this line from Longfellow: "Whom the gods would DESTROY, they first make mad."

This idea that losing your temper is the first step toward destruction is an old one—a very, very old one.

Longfellow cribbed it from Sophocles, who lived back in the fifth century B.C. Sophocles probably cribbed it from Euripides. James Boswell in his Life of Dr. Johnson ascribes the line to Euripides.

Anyway, the idea has been around for a long time that when people get so mad they can't see straight things aren't going any too well with them.

Speaking of the money we Americans have "given out," here are some rather interesting statistics:

Since July 1, 1940, the United States has given to other nations a total of 135 BILLION DOLLARS. This, of course, includes the cash we shelled out as lend-lease, which was help extended by us to our comrades in arms during World War II.

From July 1, 1945 (the shooting in Europe had ended by then) through June 30, 1958, the United States has given or appropriated for expenditure for foreign aid a total of 82 BILLION DOLLARS.

Let's put it this way:
Whatever else we Americans have done, WE HAVEN'T BEEN TIGHTWADS.

TRAINING PAYS OFF
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—University of Tennessee football player Ed Morgan got in some off-season practice at a local store where he's working as a clerk this summer.

When a bandit tried to rob the store at gunpoint, Morgan dived in with a flying tackle and disarmed him.

Gangster Draws Citation For Contempt Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gangster Tony Accardo, who always has been too smart for the law, drew a contempt of Congress citation Friday for trying to "make a mockery" of the constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege.

The poker-faced reputed boss of Chicago's gangland didn't bat an eye as chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) ordered the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee staff to prepare the contempt citation.

"I am hopeful," McClellan said, "the courts... will be conscious of an obligation to society as a whole" and send Accardo to prison. Contempt is punishable by up to a year in prison and $10,000 fine.

Accardo, clad in a carefully tailored blue suit, had just invoked the Fifth Amendment on whether in a single year, he had ordered the murder of one lawyer for the Chicago Restaurant Assn. and been involved in a plot to kill another association attorney.

McClellan sustained Accardo's pleas that answers to questions about these never fulfilled murder

Crazed Prospector, Slayer Of Two Children, Captured

REGINA, N.M. (AP)—A New Mexico state police flying squad Friday wounded and captured a bearded recluse who afterward told authorities he killed two children "to help depopulate an overcrowded world."

Officers described the captured man, Norman A. Foote, 47, as a "paranoid" who once spent six months in an Idaho mental hospital.

Dist. Atty. Paul Robinson said Foote talked incoherently when questioned about the killings.

"He kept saying something about the world being overpopulated," Robinson said, "and that he wanted to do his part to get rid of some of the population."

State police said the slayer was "definitely a paranoid" who had recently been released from the Blackfoot mental hospital in Idaho.

State Police Chief Joe Roach, who said he would direct operations when the posse goes after the fugitive, said, "The man's treacherous and dangerous. It'll be a streak of luck if we take him alive."

The fugitive had been prospecting for uranium in the area for about six months and knows the country well. An old-timer in the area, Sheriff's Deputy Robert E. Thomson, said there were several ways he could slip out of the trap.

The slayer left his camp about noon yesterday and drove to the mountain town of Cuba, a farming village of less than 500, about 75 miles northwest of Albuquerque.

Driving up in front of a grocery store, he stopped and leveled his deer rifle across the car window.

"I thought he was just bringing his rifle in to pawn it," said Vernon, clerk in the grocery store. "Then he fired. I ran out and the little girl was laying there. Then he shot a little boy and drove off as if he weren't in too much of a hurry."

The dead girl was Maria Cebada, 12. The soft-nosed 30-06 slug passed through her back and raked a flesh wound across the stomach of her mother Mrs. Sofia Cebada. Eddie Cebada, 13, nephew of the slain girl, was sitting 45 feet away on the porch of his family's store. The second bullet struck him in the right hip and severed an artery. He was dead on arrival at an Albuquerque hospital.

State police cars took up pursuit. No trace of the slayer was found until dusk.

Then, acting on a tip from Jack Davis, a rancher, a three-man posse went to check a camp where Davis had seen the curi-heard slayer several days before.

"We walked right in on him but didn't know it until it was too late," said Leonard Brasel, a volunteer posse member from Cuba.

Sam Hill was wounded in the shoulder and rushed to an Albuquerque hospital. Police converged on the dish-shaped mountain valley 20 miles north of here.

Planes Scour Atlantic For Secret Cone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Three specially equipped Air Force planes skimmed over the Atlantic early today in a last-resort search for a vital top-secret nose cone and its mouse passenger.

The nose cone, a highly advanced design that may spearhead the missiles of the future, splashed into the Atlantic near Ascension Island after the first successful U.S. ballistic missile flight through space at intercontinental range.

The impact area was 1,000 miles off the African coast and more than 6,000 miles from the Cape Canaveral launching site where a Thor-Able rocket blasted into space Wednesday night.

The Air Force announced that the missile's flight and re-entry into the earth's fiery atmosphere was a complete success, but attempts to retrieve the nose cone had been stymied.

Recovery of the nose cone and "Mia," the mouse, was the main objective of the test.

The mouse was housed in an airtight capsule inside the cone. It was the first living creature to fly so far into space aboard a U.S. missile.

The mouse test, part of the research program to prepare man for space flights, was criticized in London by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Officials said search units had trouble pinpointing the location because a small automatic radio transmitter inside the cone failed to operate rapidly.

Sporadic signals have been picked up, but they were too weak to provide recitation.

Weather Hot In Far West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks like rain across most of the Eastern two thirds of the country today but clear skies and more hot weather was in prospect in the Far West.

Warm and humid weather clung to the Southeast quarter of the country and most of the Atlantic states into southern New England.

Stormy weather pounded sections of the Midwest last night and during the early morning. Strong winds, heavy rain and hail hit the Topeka, Kan., area, wrecking at least two houses. Earlier, severe thunderstorms lashed eastern Nebraska, with wind gusts up to 70 to 80 m.p.h. whipping York, Hastings and Burwell.

Rain in the severe storm belt measured up to nearly 2 inches, with 1-1.3 inches reported at York in 30 minutes. Heavy rain also was reported in parts of Indiana and northern Ohio.

MAD SCRAMBLE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The wreck of a coin vending machine man's car here caused a mad scramble among a number of street urchins who scooped up as many coins as they could before police arrived.

Edward J. Alexander, the vending machine man, with the aid of police recovered $300 in nickels, dimes and quarters which flew into the street. The youngsters made off with $140.

RUB-A-DUB-DUB, three kids in a tub, having a whale of a time. It wasn't Saturday night when photographer Don Kettler happened by 110 Nevada, but he found these three youngsters enjoying a bath in their own backyard pool. Left to right, the three in a tub are Lynette Sudbury, 110 Nevada, and Pat and Artie Couch, 108 Nevada.

State Officials Pondering Emergency Aid To Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is seriously considering 20 to 40 million dollars in emergency aid for revolt-torn Lebanon to help its pro-Western government survive continuing rebel attacks.

At least part of this sum probably will be granted once the Lebanese have provided supporting data requested by the State Department.

Officials said Lebanon appealed for funds for relief projects and for expenses that have piled up during two months of bloody fighting.

Extending such aid would be the third move by the United States to bolster the regime of President Camille Chamoun since fighting broke out May 10. Limited quantities of American weapons and ammunition already are being shipped. About 65,000 tons of emergency wheat shipments were promised two weeks ago.

Confidence mounted among State Department officials that Chamoun's embattled forces would be able to put down the rebellion and keep Lebanon in the pro-Western camp.

Most officials anticipated Chamoun would agree to some kind of compromise bill, allowing him to step down in favor of a successor acceptable to pro-Western as well as opposition elements.

Despite the fighting, officials expect Lebanese parliamentary deputies to meet on schedule July 24 to elect a new president who would take office in September.

The expectation is that he will be less pro-Western than Chamoun but friendly enough to be acceptable to Western nations.

Charles Malik, Lebanese Foreign Minister, is understood to have discussed his country's financial plight with Secretary of State Dulles during the past two weeks.

Dulles is reported to have made it clear Lebanon's request would receive prompt, sympathetic treatment. The Lebanese are now reported assembling statistics and figures to demonstrate the urgency of their requirements.

Meanwhile, Back At The Tavern...

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—An unoccupied boat anchored in the center of Jimmerson Lake, containing a fishing pole baited and ready for use, set conservation officers to dragging the lake.

After two hours of futile work under the hot sun they called for a skin diver. While they were waiting they found the angler drinking beer in a cool lakeside tavern. He said two thirsty friends had rowed past on their way to the tavern, and he had changed boats and joined them.

Officers withheld the fisherman's name while they searched for a charge that would apply.

Team Wishes Girl, 12, Well

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Carolyn Zaleski of Detroit happily declared "I just know I'm gonna pull through" a delicate, four-hour heart operation today.

In her hand she clutched a telegram. It said: "Good luck with your operation. All the Tigers are pulling for you, Billy Martin."

It was the first telegram Carolyn ever got. She was a little skeptical when a University Hospital nurse handed it to her. She hesitated opening it. But when she did, out came a great big: "Wow!"

After that she knew she was "gonna pull through."

You see, Carolyn is a member of the Detroit Tiger fan club. She thinks Detroit shortstop Billy Martin is "the greatest."

She has another baseball love too. It is her neighborhood club and as she prepared for today's long ordeal she was happy it had promised to let her play at least one game "when this valve thing is fixed."

Carolyn was born with a pulmonary valve fault. The valve through which the heart pumps blood to the lungs fails to open completely, forcing a heavy strain on her heart.

Specialists decided an operation was necessary to prevent dangerous permanent damage. A mechanical heart will take over during the operation.

HOTTER IN THE SUBURBS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles is in the clutches of a heat-and-smog attack. The 93 degrees recorded in the city yesterday made it the hottest July 10 in Los Angeles in 74 years. But it was much hotter in many suburbs—104 in Van Nuys—and it was 120 at Palm Springs, on the desert.

Committee's Amendments Defeat Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eisenhower administration officials today pledged a Senate floor fight to defeat Finance Committee amendments which would restrict the reciprocal trade program.

They apparently could count on help from the Democratic leadership. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said he opposed two of the principal amendments.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) said he understood the debate might begin by the middle of next week. A bitter battle was in prospect.

The House had passed a five-year extension by the program in substantially the form President Eisenhower asked. But the Senate Finance Committee, in approving the bill yesterday, added a series of amendments which would limit the President's powers in negotiating lower tariffs with other countries.

The administration indicated today it was not too seriously concerned about one of the changes—to cut the extension period from five to three years. A four-year compromise with the House is possible on this. The same amendment cut from 25 to 15 per cent the maximum tariff reduction.

But Commerce and State Department officials took sharp issue with another amendment designed to protect domestic industries which claim damage from imports. In such cases, the Tariff Commission can recommend import quotas or higher tariffs under what is called the escape clause, but the President now can reject the recommendations if he sees fit.

Under the Senate amendment, adopted 87, he could do so only if both the Senate and House approved by majority vote. The change also would provide that a tie vote of the six-member Tariff Commission should be considered a finding in favor of the industry.

The biggest floor fight promises to center on this amendment. Secretary of Commerce Weeks declared it "is completely unacceptable to the administration and completely emasculates the legislation."

Supporters of the trade program said this would lead to a flood of escape clause cases. So far there have been only about 90 such cases under the trade program, with the commission recommending relief in 30 and the President acting affirmatively only in 12.

Both Eisenhower and former President Truman have overridden the Tariff Commission in escape clause cases. The provision was put in the law after World War II.

The administration strongly opposed another amendment adopted by the committee which would require that, in negotiating new trade pacts, no tariff could be cut more than 5 per cent in any one year.

Men, Chivalry Is Not Dead Yet

COVENTRY, R. I. (AP)—Chivalry took a reverse twist last night. Jerry Ottaviano discovered he had a flat tire in front of police headquarters.

Three teen-age girls came along, took the jack and tools from him and proceeded to change the tire. At the completion of the chore, the girls handed him a card saying they are members of the all-girl Sparkettes' Club dedicated to courtesy on the highway.

Ike Returns To Capital From Parley

OTTAWA (AP)—President Eisenhower wings back to Washington today from an air-clearing Canadian-American summit conference that produced a trio of concrete decisions.

In three days of informal, card-on-the-table talks, the President and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker agreed that:

(1) A joint cabinet committee on continental defense will be created; (2) that two governments will work on plans for safeguards against surprise attacks across the arctic; (3) consultations will be held on lower levels to try to dissolve differences over trade with Communist China by Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. companies.

While time will test the practical value of these agreements, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty pronounced them important and good steps toward.

Hagerty said the closer personal relationship established between the two heads of government "is very good for both our countries." Eisenhower, he said, "believes very much that this was a very worthwhile meeting."

Diefenbaker told the House of Commons a spirit of consideration had been shown for each other's problems that "bodes well for the future."

Eisenhower's visit came at a time when relations between the two countries have been marred by increasing Canadian complaints about various U.S. programs and policies.

Eisenhower was no tremendous magnet for crowds at his public appearances, but there was an utter absence of hostility.

A single scare incident was something of a dud.

A cab driver reported driving a pair of suspicious appearing men, who he thought might have been carrying a rifle and pistol, to the road alongside the golf course Eisenhower played yesterday. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police called up reinforcements, scoured the area, but didn't get any men.

Eisenhower was told about the search and kept on playing. He carded 90 on a par-73 course for the best score of his foursome.

Slow Process Of Freeing GI's Started

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels have begun releasing the American servicemen they kidnaped nearly two weeks ago but it appeared their rate of return from Fidel Castro's mountain hideouts would be slow.

The first of the 20 servicemen, Airman Thomas R. Mosness of Ames, Iowa, was brought back yesterday several hours after the commander of the Atlantic Fleet, Adm. Jerald Wright, flew to the U.S. naval base on Guantanamo Bay and voiced sharp irritation over the prolonged captivity of the men.

Wright said he believes Castro has damaged his cause with Americans because "kidnaping in our country is considered one of the most obnoxious crimes."

U.S. Consul Park Wollam, who has been negotiating for the release of the men, returned with Mosness and said the rebels were moving the sailors and Marines to a place where a Navy helicopter could pick them up, but the rugged mountain terrain was slowing down the operation.

Dig It The Most; Platters Played Near Cool Pool

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Radio station WKAP now offers air conditioned interludes to keep listeners cool in the heat of the day.

Two of the station's disc jockeys, Sammy Anderson and Joe Vargo, began broadcasting special programs yesterday from public swimming pools; and so close to the diving boards you can hear the water splash and the swimmers splutter.

Contempt Charge Levelled Against Bernard Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators accused Bernard Goldfine of contempt Friday but dismissed him until next Tuesday without a vote to cite him.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) of the subcommittee checked Goldfine's relations with presidential aide Sherman Adams and federal agencies recessed for the weekend after a head-on clash during Goldfine's fifth day of testimony.

The committee slapped a subpoena on Goldfine, but the Boston millionaire refused 23 times to answer specially prepared questions about his financial dealings.

Harris warned Goldfine of contempt. But Goldfine steadfastly maintained certain questions had nothing to do with the inquiry as to how federal regulatory agencies carry out the law.

Goldfine did speak freely of his sensation-provoking gifts to officials in high places. He said he had sent presents to John R. Steelman, the man who had the same top White House staff job under former President Truman as Adams does under Eisenhower.

Harris in turn took an obvious poke at the interest Adams has acknowledged taking in a Goldfine's difficulty with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He said testimony shows SEC is not nearly as independent as it is supposed to be but "has subjected itself in certain of its important functions to the will of the executive department."

Harris said the subcommittee "has no present plan" to meet before the hearings resume for possible formal action to cite Goldfine for contempt.

Subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman charged Goldfine was in contempt after the investigators had taken steps toward citing him for not answering questions which they said were pertinent to the inquiry.

During his free-talking moments Friday, Goldfine hotly denied ever saying such things as that he had bought a Washington home for Adams or that Adams never lets his friends down.

Then after the hearing, the 67-year-old industrialist told newsmen he is "not worried one bit" about the threat of a contempt citation.

READY TO HIT THE ROAD in a "Hobo Hike" were these more than 30 youngsters with itching feet who assembled at Veterans Park Thursday morning at 10, complete with traditional stick and hobo pack for a trip down Link River and over the hill to Moore Park. The "Hobo Hike," first in a series of new activities for youngsters by the Park

standing, and Barbara Ward. The hobos hiked to Moore Park, had their lunch, and returned via the same route. However, some of the younger "knights of the road" became tired and were returned from Moore Park by car. A treasure hike will be the next outing, scheduled to originate from the swimming pool on July 24. Others scheduled include a hare and hound hike within Moore Park on August 8, and a breakfast hike on August 21. Youngsters 10 years of age and up can take part in the series, and can register with the supervisor of the playground in their neighborhood.
