MR. AND MRS. JAMES ROBERT COFFMAN (nee Judith Anne Henkelman)

Coffman-Henkelman Rites First in St. Pius X Church

The 2 o'clock wedding of Judith Anne Henkelman and James Robert (Bob) Coffman on June 7 was the first formal wedding to be solemnized in the new St. Pius X Catholic Church. Baskets of salmon-colored gladioli and white stock tied with aqua bows were used as decorations.

Judith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Neil McEachern, 2430 Orchard, was escorted and given in marriage by her father. The Rev. George A. Murphy officiated at the marriage ceremony before 125 guests.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Raymond Jump, 1773 Gary, and E. P. Coffman, Ten Mile, Oregon.

The bride's gown, made by her mother, was of white broadcloth satin, ballerina length, in a princess style. The jacket had a back interest of pleats just below the waist line and long bridal pointed sleeves and stand-away collar. Her fingertip illusion veil was held by a lace and net head dress, encrusted with pearls and sequins. The bride's bouquet was of white stephanotis florets and satin streamers centered around pink rosebuds and a white orchid on top of a white prayer book.

Judy's bridal ensemble included the traditional, "old, new, borrowed and blue." She had a lucky penny, dated the year of her birth, 1940, in her slipper, and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her wedding veil was borrowed from Mrs. Gerald Garrett, the former Marlene Jo Howard, now of Spokane. She wore a blue garter, which she had made.

The maid of honor, and bridesmaids, all classmates of the bride, were respectively Sandra Gurle, Donna Woyak and Carol Mudder. They wore identically styled dresses and white lace headbands with small veils. Sandra, as maid of honor, wore an aqua taffeta princess style gown with bow and front steamer. Donna and Carol wore salmon-colored taffeta. All three honor attendants of the bride carried colonial bouquets of tangerine carnations and blue daisies.

Thomas Hawkins, a classmate of the bridegroom, was best man. Don Coffman, cousin of the bridegroom, and Dave Buckingham, another classmate, were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the parlor of the Church of the Brethren and bouquets of pink and white flowers were used throughout the room.

Pink and white daisies were clustered around the base of the three-tiered cake which was decorated with white bells, pink roses and swans. Miniature figures of a bride and bridegroom topped the cake. Mrs. Arthur Davidson served the cake to the guests after Judy and Bob had cut the first piece.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Utley, was at the coffee service, and Mrs. Earl Adams, the bride's aunt, served the punch. Mrs. May McEachern, aunt of the bridegroom, and Joanne Adams assisted at the reception.

Ginger McEachern, younger sister of the bride, passed the bridegroom's cake in white boxes with Judy's and Bob's names and the wedding date engraved on top.

For their wedding trip to Hedberg, the bride changed to a suit of medium blue with a chemise back jacket. She wore white accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bride's mother chose a pink knit dress topped with a matching jacket and white accessories. She wore a pink orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom chose a green and white suit with which she wore white accessories and a yellow orchid corsage.
