Things with a local taste:
A big round of plaudits should be extended to Hal Shidler, local sporting goods dealer, who turned in a fine showing in last week's national amateur retriever field trial championships held at San Rafael, California.

Shidler's black Labrador Hal's Spi-Wize-Zeke entered in his fourth "national" and for the first time completed the full number of series required to be a national champion. On three other occasions—twice in the amateur and once in the open—Hal directed his retriever through nine of the 10, but just missed the final go-around. But not so this time.

Zeke did a very creditable job and placed high among those that finished with some very good land and water work. Only a champion is named and no second, third or fourth places awarded. The honor of finishing in a national is a high one indeed.

The trial had a fatal climax for another Oregon retriever handler who looked as if he was on his way to be the state's first national amateur winner. George Dukek had handled his Lab, Kingdale's Shadreck, into a very substantial lead over the first nine series and needed only to do a fair job in the 10th, a long double, but nothing too hard. The dog, which everybody had conceded the title to, failed. He got both birds, but only after a poor showing.

As it was, Dukek's dog missed the title by a slim two points reported an unofficial source. Going into the final series the dog led by a large margin and a four or five rating, which is only average, would have won it for him. That's about as close as you can come to winning, yet not gain the winner's circle.

Also from the annual amateur national comes word from trial committees, owners and handlers and national retriever officials that Jim Stilwell, another Klamath Falls business man, did a very good job in judging the five-day trial. Stilwell was the only Westerner on the judging board of three with the Midwest and East also represented.

The Northern California League is not just a hit and miss semi-pro circuit as many sports fans think. The NCL boasts some very good young ball players who are on their way up and a few "old pros" who still pack plenty of ability for Sunday baseball along with a fair amount of experience.

Going back a few years, league followers will probably remember the name Lary. That name should be familiar since Al Lary, now pitching for the Portland Beavers, was playing with Hill in 1953 before turning to the pro. Lary, one of a family of baseball players, is a top Bevo hurler, and is a leader in the PCL's earned run average department.

Al played with Hi Hatfield, now coaching the Klamath Falls American Legion Junior Baseball team in 1953. Also on the same Hill club was Terry Maddox, former University of Oregon all-Northern Division outfielder and Medford High prep sensation. Maddox is now playing service ball while serving his time in the Army.

Besides Al the Lary family also has brother Frank, pitching for the Detroit Tigers (better known for his Yankee killing efforts) and brother Gene, now pitching for the San Diego Padres in the Coast League. It could come about that Lary faces Lary when Portland and San Diego clash.

Wedding bells will soon be ringing for a local athlete who made good on the University of Oregon basketball floor. We received an announcement through the mail the other day that Ray Bell, ex-Klamath Union High School basketball and football player and Webfoot cager of three years, will be married Saturday, July 19 in Portland.

"Radar Ray" as he was called for his great touch in shooting free throws at Pelican Court in the early 1950s, will marry Jacquelyn Ann Robertson of Portland. The wedding will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian Church. The reception is scheduled for the Portland Yacht Club.

Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bell of Klamath Falls. Klamath Union High School athletic director Jim Johnson is feeling pretty good about his golf game nowadays. Over the Fourth of July holidays, Jim entered in the Hood River Open while visiting his family home. Big Jim rapped the ball over the 27-hole tournament at a clip of 35-35-34. Par is 35.

Johnson's total of 104 gave him a tie for second place in the gross scoring and his 96½ was high in the net totals. Jim won a beautiful golf sweater as low net winner, so he gave up the prize as second high gross to Virgil Mitchell of Portland, who also fired a 104, one under par. Winner of the tournament was Bob Patterson of Portland who shot a 101, four under. Patterson by the way, is the same Bob Patterson representing Oregon in the National Public Links Golf Tournament which ended Saturday. Patterson gained the semi-finals of the PubLinks play, which speaks very good of Johnson's golf game.

The Herald and News sports department is in the middle of a "remodeling" survey, and is asking the help of local readers to help outline the future sports interests. In the recent week's issues of the Herald, you have probably noticed coupons asking you to mark "more, same or less" on features found in the paper's sports section. We are planning to continue this survey for one more week allowing a greater coverage and insure a fair representation. So far the response has been overwhelming. For those of you who have already sent in your suggestions and ratings, thanks. To those of you who haven't your response will be beneficial in planning for future sports space and contents. A survey coupon is carried on page 3-C of today's paper. Look it over then check the items listed to your preference and send it back to us. Any added comments would be appreciated, both pro and con.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rookie first baseman Orlando Cepeda smashed his second game-winning home run in as many days Saturday as the San Francisco Giants beat Milwaukee 5-3, moving within one-half game of the league leading Braves.

A crowd of 22,806 saw the Giants triumph behind the 10-hit pitching of lefthander Johnny Antonelli in the first of a three-game series.

Milwaukee's tallies all came on home runs—a solo smash by Joe Adcock in the second inning and a two-run blow by Hank Aaron in the sixth.

San Francisco's five-run outburst in the fifth, capped by Cepeda's 400-foot homer into the right field bleachers with two runners on base, more than made up for their southpaw's gopher balls.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Little Charley Neal drove in the deciding runs with his second homer of the year into the right field stands as Los Angeles grabbed a 4-3 decision from Cincinnati Saturday in the opener of a four game series at the Coliseum.

Neal's homer, his 15th of the season, curved into the right field stands just inside the foul pole, wiping out a 3-2 Cincinnati lead in the fourth inning.

Lefthander Fred Kipp, who started for the Dodgers, and lasted seven innings, gained his fourth victory in seven decisions. Burly Brooks Lawrence went the distance for Cincinnati and suffered his fifth loss. He has won six.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vinegar Bend Mizell, sidelined two weeks with a sore back, returned to the firing line Saturday and stifled the Pittsburgh Pirates with a six-hit 2-0 shutout.

Mizell evened up his record at 6-6 and gave the Cards their eighth straight victory over the Pirates. Bill Virdon's eighth inning double was the only extra base blow off Mizell.

The Alabama lefthander bested Bob Friend who was trying to notch his 11th victory of the year. Pittsburgh 000 000 000-0 6 1

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Semproch, 27-year-old freshman right hander, Saturday became the first National League pitcher to win 11 games as he pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 12-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Semproch scattered nine hits as the Phillies breezed after a four run first inning, posted their ninth win in the past 11 games.

The Phillies pounded 16 hits against four Cub pitchers, including starter and loser Dick Drott, who ended up with his seventh loss after a second inning kayo. Richie Ashburn paced the Phils with four straight hits after drawing a game-opening walk.

Yanks 10, Skins 0
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees walloped Cleveland 10-0 Saturday in a bizarre game interrupted three times by rain, played under protest by the Indians, and capped by Herb Score's first appearance against the Yankees since his almost tragic accident 14 months ago.

Highlighting the Yanks' fourth victory in the five game set with Cleveland were Andy Carey's two homers good for five runs and a brilliant relief job by Art Ditmar. Ditmar blanked the Indians without a hit in the 4 2-3 innings he pitched.

But it was Score and Gil McDougald who provided the high drama. It was the sore-armed pitcher's first effort since June 14 this year. Ironically the first batter to face him was McDougald and he struck him out on a curve ball. It was Gil's line drive smash to the face that almost cost Herb the sight in his right eye in Cleveland, May 7, 1957.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ossie Virgil slammed out a fifth-inning homer Saturday to touch off a three-run Detroit rally which held up for a 3-1 Tiger victory over the Washington Senators.

The Senators were at bat in the ninth when the game was shortened by a rainstorm. The game reverted to an eight-inning affair.

BIG STRETCH—Klamath Falls legion baseball player Dean Dunson will be putting his long fielding stretch to good use this afternoon when Klamath goes to Grants Pass for a crucial league game. A win for Klamath would clinch the title for the local legion club. Dunson has been one of the team's sparkplugs this season and will be playing his final American Legion league game. This is his second season of legion baseball.

Sunday's Schedule
Klamath Falls at Grants Pass

Manager Hi Hatfield's Klamath Falls American Legion Junior Baseball Club moved into first place for the first time this season Saturday afternoon at Lakeview by beating the Lake County legion team 16-3.

Sunday afternoon will be "S-day"—Snowdown Day for Hatfield's nine. Klamath travels to Grants Pass for a crucial first place battle with Mel Ingram's Cavemen. Grants Pass led the league standings through last Sunday when Klamath dumped Ingram's team for the first time this season in league play. The two clubs were tied with 51 record until Saturday's win over Lakeview by Klamath.

Today's battle shapes to be a knock-down, drag-out affair. Grants Pass will have righthander Dick Hayes in good shape to greet the visitors. Last Sunday, Klamath knocked "No-Hit" Hayes from the mound after three innings, but the Grants Pass athlete traveled all night to get to the game from a trip and was reportedly not in too good of shape. Facing Hayes will be Klamath ace righthander Blake Griggs.

A win in this afternoon's first game would give Klamath the title for the District 3 Southern Oregon race regardless of what Grants Pass does in its remaining league game against Medford. Klamath could still tie for the crown if they lose today, should Medford whip Grants Pass next Sunday afternoon. A playoff game would then be needed to advance one of the two Southern Oregon clubs into the state playoffs.

Should Klamath win the title, it would be the first legion championship here in three years. Hatfield said he would be starting Dick Moore behind the plate receiving Griggs' tosses this afternoon. The infield starters will find Estin Kiger at third and Dean Dunson at first. Steve Binney and Smiley Herrera will draw the nubs at the keystone combination—short and second.

In the outfield will probably be Bob Yuncik, Bill Worlein and either Ken Womer, Glynn Michaels or Keith Ferrell. Ferrell will be Hatfield's first choice should Griggs need relief help.

Oregon Game Commission Approves Unit Hunt System
PORTLAND (AP)—The controversial unit hunt system for antlerless deer was approved Saturday by the Oregon Game Commission. The regular buck season was tentatively set for Oct. 4 through Oct. 26.

The commission will announce final hunting regulations after a public hearing July 25. The unit hunt system, which will replace the hunter's choice system of previous years, stipulates that doe or fawn hunters must apply to the Game Commission to hunt in one of 60 herd ranges. The commission then will decide the number of hunters permitted in each area and permits will be issued after a drawing.

The commission also proposed a liberal bag limit on upland game birds, a sage grouse season for the first time in five years and elk seasons similar to last year. The entire state except for certain refuges and closures would be included in the proposed buck season with a bag limit of one buck with at least forked antlers west of the Cascades and visible antlers in the rest of the state. The unit hunt season will allow permit holders to shoot one deer regardless of sex from Oct. 18 through Oct. 26. The tentative elk season was set from Nov. 1-16 along the coast and Nov. 1-15 in the Cascades and Eastern Oregon with a unit hunt scheduled Nov. 15-25 for hunters missing their elk in the regular season.

The commission set the pheasant season for Oct. 11 through Nov. 16 with a bag limit of 4 cocks per day, 12 in possession. Quail, Hungarian grouse and Chukar grouse would run with the pheasant season except for mountain quail in Western Oregon where the season would be Sept. 17 through Oct. 19.

The 60 herd ranges and the number of deer permits in each for the Oct. 18-25 period follow: Clatsop, 500; Wilson, 1,500; Trask, 3,000; Nestucca, 600; Polk, 1,500; Willamette, 2,500; Santiam, 5,000; Alsea, 6,000; McKenzie, 10,000; Siuslaw, 2,500; Tenmile, 200; Umpqua, 1,000; Douglas, 1,000; Douglas Lake, 500; Coquille, 500; Powers, 500; Evans Creek, 400; Applegate, 400; Butte Falls, 500; Green Springs, 500; Hood River, 200. Wasco, 1,500; Sherman, 300; Maupin, 200; Metolius, 1,000; Grizzly, 300; Ochoco, 1,000; Maury, 700; Deschutes, 1,000; Paulina, 1,500; Klamath, 1,000. Columbia Basin, 200; Wenaha, 600; Chusimus, 600; Catherine Creek, 1,000; Wheeler, 4,000; Keating, 1,000; Lookout Mountain, 500; Baker-Sumpter, 1,400; Northside, 3,500; Murderer's Creek, 3,000. In addition there will be a Nov. 15-16 season in the Polk, Willamette, Alsea, McKenzie, Siuslaw, Powers, Evans Creek, Applegate, Hood River and Wasco units.

SECTIONS FOR AMATEURS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Thirty-three qualifying sections will be held in connection with the 1958 U.S. Amateur golf championship. The tournament proper is set for September 8-13 at the Olympic Country Club's Lake Course here. Entries close August 7 with the United States Golf Association in New York. Amateurs with a handicap of four strokes or less are eligible for the qualifying rounds which begin August 25. The 1957 crown went to Hillman Robbins Jr., of Memphis who best Dr. Frank M. Taylor of Pomona, California, 5 and 4, at Brookline, Massachusetts. Elgin Baylor scored 353 field goals for Seattle last season to better the record 345 baskets made by Johnny O'Brien in 1951-52.

Sunday's Schedule
Klamath Falls at Scott Valley
Yreka at Weed
Mount Shasta at Dunsuir

While the spotlight on Northern California League baseball action is focused on the Yreka - Weed battle at Weed Sunday afternoon, local interest will follow Klamath Falls into play at Fort Jones and the Kubs meet last-place Scott Valley in one of the three weekly league games.

Besides the Yreka-Weed crucial and Klamath game at Scott Valley, the other Northern Cal game pits Mount Shasta at Dunsuir. Klamath will be attempting to shake loose a three game losing streak that has dropped them from two games in front of the pack down to two full games behind the leader in fourth place. All this week place in a period of two weeks while the Kubs were unable to get by Weed, Yreka and Mount Shasta.

Manager Irv Whitt hopes he has the problem solved and will be expecting to get a "new look" from his club in today's game against the Stars at Fort Jones. Klamath beat Scott Valley in the last outing 5-4, but before the Stars threw a last-inning scare into the Kubs via Bob Martin's grand-slam home run.

Martin will be the big gun in Scott Valley's hopes of handing the Kubs their fourth consecutive defeat. Besides his hitting, Martin also resides his team's pitching duty. Whitt wasn't decided as to who will throw today's game against the stars but hinted little Wayne Hironaka might get the call. If Hironaka doesn't throw, it'll be either Dave D'Olivo or Charlie Bogle, a right-hander and lefthander respectively. Whitt also announced that he will have the services of Ron Owings, local baseball product who is home from a short stay in professional baseball ranks this season. Owings was recently released by Las Vegas and the Pittsburgh Pirates who signed him to a bonus contract last spring. He might be starting behind the plate catching.

Other starters for Klamath will be the same, with only one or two changes. At first will be heavy-hitting George Hanson. Second base will be covered by either Jerry Burke or Ron Conner with Donn Martin working at shortstop. Third base chores will belong to Conner if he doesn't start a second. If the ex-Pelican baseball star moves to second, Mike McKenzie will be at third.

In the outfield, Whitt said he will open with Donn Taucher in center field, Linderman, one of the team's top hitters, in right and either himself or McKenzie in left, depending upon how the infield lines up. The Weed Sons will be battling to get into a tie for the league lead on their own base paths today when they host Yreka. The heavy-hitting Weed nine got off to a slow start this year, but in recent weeks has been rapping the league's pitchers with solid and numerous base hits and runs. Mount Shasta is expected to maintain its third place position and possibly move up on Yreka's league-leading position should the Seals top the Dunsuir Merchants and the Indians bow to Weed.

Klamath prepared for the Scott Valley game with a non-league home encounter against Primeville Saturday night at Gem Stadium. Next Saturday evening at Gem, Whitt's club will take on the traveling comics of the baseball diamond—the Cuban Giants. This is one of the special features the Kubs board of directors has planned for local sports fans.

Lakeview seeks to move into a first place tie with the Chiloquin Townies Sunday afternoon on its home field against the visiting Beatty Lakers in one of three scheduled Klamath Basin Independent League baseball battles. While Lakeview hosts Beatty in an important league tussel, the league-leading Townies are idle with the weekly bye.

The other two games will find action at Malin and Alturas. Malin plays host to the Chiloquin Cubs while Alturas hosts Merrill's independent nine. The Merrill-Alturas fray will decide the battle for third and fourth places for these two clubs.

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Fight manager Mary Jensen said Saturday doctors will determine Monday whether former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer can go through with a 16-round bout against Germany's Franz Suzzina July 30. Fullmer had both his eyes cut last week in winning a decision over Jim Hegerle of St. Paul, Minn.

Longacres Set For 25 G Run
SEATTLE (AP)—Count Chic and How Now, a couple of gallopers of wide repute, head a list of 57 nominees for the 1958 running of the $25,000 Longacres Mile.

The purse for the Aug. 24 feature is up $5,000 this year to celebrate the silver anniversary season at Longacres Race Track. Count Chic galloped last year in the Kentucky Derby, finishing fourth. Owned by Dino Lozzi of Seattle he is in light training at the local track.

Owned by George Newell of Seattle, How Now is a handicap star at present on California tracks. The first eight horses to finish in last year's Mile are nominated to go again for the gold. In order of finish, they are Miracle-Escort, Bo-Fran, Tavanna, Postillion, Bar-odier, Cold Steel, English Prince and King Damien. The California entry list includes nine contenders.

British Columbia, which has sent three-Mile winners to Longacres, has a large group of nominees. They are headed by Lord Renraw, winner of three straight handicaps at Vancouver. There are 17 Washington-breds in the lineup, three of them sired by Amble In.

The Amble was the only animal to win the Mile twice—in 1940 and 1942. Weights will be assigned Aug. 10.
