

SF Giants Take NL League Lead

By United Press International

A city built for an extravagant destiny, a tall tale come true... These words were used to describe San Francisco in its early Gold Rush days but they never applied more than today with an amazing Giant team trying to write the tallest tale of all — a National League pennant for San Francisco in its first season in the major leagues!

It would have sounded impossible a few months ago but who's going to say it is now after the Giants staged a winning ninth-inning rally for the 14th time this year to beat the Milwaukee Braves, 6-5, Sunday? Even the 1911 Giants, who came from 13th place behind on Aug. 11 to win the 1914 Giants, who swept the Indians four straight in the World Series, couldn't top the heroics of the current club.

Giants 6, Braves 3

A crowd of 22,633 at San Francisco saw the Braves take a 4-0 first-inning lead Sunday and lead 4-2, as late as the eighth inning. Then came the sensational late-inning heroics. A homer by Rookie Orlando Cepeda and a two-run pinch single by Bob Speake put the Giants ahead, 5-4. Back came the Braves in the top of the ninth to tie the score on Red Schoendienst's run-scoring single.

And then the final act: A walk to Willie Mays, a sacrifice, an intentional walk to Cepeda and a game-winning single by rookie Felipe Alou. Chalk up another victory for Bill Rigney's "cliffhangers." And put those Giants in first place, a half-game ahead of the Braves.

Mike McCormick, 19-year-old bonus lefty, gained credit for his sixth win while Ernie Johnson suffered his first defeat for the Braves.

It was a great day all-around for underdogs in the N.L. as all three of the other "contenders" lost doubleheaders in a league so tight only seven games separate first and last place. The Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-8 and 8-6, the Chicago Cubs swept the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2 and 2-1, and the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-0 and 3-2.

Bums 3-3, Reds 0-2

Rookie pitchers Stan Williams and Bob Giallombardo, both aided by Clem Labine, gained credit for the Dodgers' victories. Homers by Charlie Neal and Carl Furillo accounted for all Los Angeles' runs off Don Newcombe in the first game and Steve Bilko's eighth-inning homer won the second.

ChiSox 7-4, NY 4-5

The Yankees gained a split on a pinch 10th-inning double by Jerry Lume after N.L. castoff Turk Lown preserved the opening run for Billy Pierce and the White Sox. Lown entered the opener with the bases filled and none out in the seventh inning and got Bill Skowron to hit into a double play and struck out Elston Howard.

Bend Beaten By Basinettes

BEND — The Klamath Falls Basinettes notched their first win of the season Saturday at Bend as they knocked off the Bend girls softball club 13-9 in a single afternoon game.

A nine-run fourth inning supplied the Basinettes with more than enough to win the game after trailing 4-0. Klamath added four more runs in the fifth for the final 13 tallies.

Bend led 4-0 after the first inning when six base on balls went against Klamath starting pitcher Teresa Wickline. Bend scored two more in the fourth and three in the fifth, but was behind Klamath at the end of the sixth inning.

Dorcas Perry led the big inning for Klamath, coming to bat to tie the lead on a home run. Both she and teammate and 19-year-old Lloyd both collected doubles in the nine-run inning.

For the game, Perry had three hits in four trips. Wickline and Hazelstein both chipped in with two hits.

Fraley, Helfer Bow To Top Golf Greats

By OSCAR FRALEY

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—Progress is fine, electric lights are better than kerosene lamps and modern, baseball is a thing of machined beauty — but when it comes to golf, it doesn't mean a thing if you ain't got that swing.

Al Helfer, the jumbo-sized television announcer, and old Fearless proved this to the complete satisfaction of a breathless world today. We did it by absorbing a 10 and 8 shellacking from a pair of golf pros named Jay Hebert and Mike Turnesa at Knollwood Country Club.

Such a rout might be expected under ordinary conditions but we figured we had these two guys on the hip.

Hebert and Turnesa played with the old-fashioned hickory-shafted clubs, most of them 75 years old, and the old-time dead ball. Helfer and old Fearless used those gleaming, polished Spalding woods and irons which look as if they came from Tiffany's.

But, as the old saying goes, you can't make a silk evening bag out of a porker's ear.

SCORES ARE SECRET

In the interest of self respect (and because the 250-pound Helfer held a ham-sized fist under my schnozzle) our scores will forever remain a deeper and darker secret than sign language at the bottom of a well. As one fistic manager remarked after a disastrous bout, "We shoulda stood in bed."

But our hopes were higher than our now depleted funds when we saw the equipment which our two "pigeons" had to play. Those clubs looked as if they had been made about the time Mary Queen of Scots invented the first pair of lady's golf slippers.

The shafts were cracked. The grips were of a leather as slick as a carnival hustler. The heads were rusted like a nine-year-old's ears in potato digger' time and the whole collection looked as if it had been rescued from a hock shop in the Gay 90's.

"It says 'B.C.' on this putter," moaned Hebert, one of golf's top touring professionals. "It wasn't necessary to stamp it because this thing couldn't have been made A.D."

Then, as they wagged their willows, creaking weapons on the first tee, we slipped over what we thought was the clincher.

We made 'em use sand tees, too.

So what happened? Personally, I don't believe it yet.

ANCIENT VS. MODERN

Hebert assumed the honors and cracked that "dead ball" 220 yards right smack down the middle. I can attest to that 220 yards because, after two shots with my modern, high compression pellet, I still was exactly 20 yards behind him and I am known internationally as a 100-yard man.

Things got no better fast. Jay and Mike played those ancient sticks with such precision that Spalding must be thinking today of going back to the hickory shaft. Turnesa added insult to injury on the 363-yard seventh hole when he hit his second shot into the pond and then used a club identified as "something" to hole out for a par anyway. It didn't matter. Hebert knocked in an eight-footer with a pooka masher putter for a birdie.

Heber wound up with a one-over-par 37-35-72. Turnesa shot himself a 38-36-74 and observed that "with good sticks, the way we played today we both would have broken my course record of 64."

As I said, it don't mean a thing if you ain't got that swing.

Klamath 5-1, Grants Pass 1-8 (first game counts in league standings)

Hi Hatfield's Klamath Falls American Legion Junior Baseball club clinched the District 3 Southern Oregon Junior Legion baseball championship at Grants Pass Sunday afternoon by defeating the host Cavemen 5-1 in the first and counting game of a doubleheader.

The win—the second in two days for Klamath—assured Hatfield's nine of the league title regardless of the outcome of next week's Grants Pass-Medford league fray. This is the first legion title for Klamath Falls in three years.

Klamath, under the sponsorship of Eastside Electric and Superior Troy Laundry, now meets North Bend, winner of the District 3 Coast League race. The first of a three-game series will probably be played here Sunday, July 27, with the second game billed for North Bend. If a third game is necessary, it too will be played in North Bend.

Hatfield has two practice games scheduled this week. Wednesday night the Chiloquin Cubs of the Klamath Basin Independent League will be at Gem Stadium for a single game, and Friday night the legion club may face the Babe Ruth League All-Stars from the American League.

Sunday at Grants Pass, Blake Griggs turned back Mel Ingram's club for the second time in as many weeks, this time on a brilliant three-hitter. Outside of a single second-inning run by Grants masher, the Cavemen picked up two of their three hits—Griggs in complete control.

Besides the fine pitching, Hatfield also got a four-for-four hitting show from Estin Grigg and timely base hits by Steve Binney and Griggs.

In the first inning, Kiger and Bill Worlein singled with two out. Binney cleared the bases with a
