

U. S. Attorney Addresses Siskiyou Peace Officers

WEED — "The general public must be reawakened to uphold law enforcement or we will face the annihilation of our democracy," were words of Robert E. Woodward, assistant U. S. attorney, Sacramento, when he spoke before the Siskiyou County Peace Officers Association at the July 10 meeting. Thirty members attended the dinner meeting held at the Fryer Farm Cafe in Etna.

Woodward related the aspects of the U. S. attorney's office activities in cooperation with all law enforcement bodies, and function-

Final Concert Dates Listed

Final dates of the Klamath Community Concert series for 1958-59 were announced yesterday by Andrew Loney Jr., president of the association.

Coinciding with the performance schedule announcement was the naming of Eva Dickson, Klamath Falls businesswoman, as association secretary. Mrs. Dickson succeeds Mrs. James Thornton who has moved from Klamath Falls.

Loney said that the Pelican Theater has been reserved on the following dates for concerts: Thursday, November 6, Albert Da Costa, tenor; Wednesday, January 21, San Francisco Operatic Quartet; Thursday, February 19, Chicago Opera Ballet; Monday, March 2, Gold and Fisdale duo-pianists.

Residents of Klamath Falls who have moved here following the close of the annual membership drive last spring should contact Mrs. Dickson for tickets. Admission is by membership ticket only; priced at $6 for adults and $4.50 for students.

The coming season's performances include a variety of top flight artists. Da Costa is a leading member of the Metropolitan Opera and has had great success at the Berkshire Festival, with New York's American Opera Society and recently appeared seven times at London's Covent Garden in "Aida."

The San Francisco Operatic Quartet is composed of Nancy Cronburg, soprano; Margot Blum, contralto; Jess Thomas, tenor and Ronald Dutro, baritone, under the direction of its founder Maestro Nino Cornel. The group offers seldom-performed operatic masterpieces in addition to the standard repertoire.

The Chicago Opera Ballet, directed by Ruth Page, returns to Klamath Falls by popular demand with a company of 30 and a new repertoire.

The duo-pianists have premiered or discovered new or hitherto unknown works and last season gave premiere performances with the New York Philharmonic.

New Skin Dive Classes Offered

A new swimming class at the municipal pool is starting Monday morning, July 21, from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. and it will be called "introduction to skin diving." The use of flippers and masks will be taught, and anyone with their own equipment can enter the class. The fee is the same as for other classes. This skin diving instruction course will last 10 days and it is necessary that the participants bring their own equipment, according to Ella Redkey, pool manager.

Jim Overdorff is teaching diving from 12 noon until 1 a.m. and anyone who wishes instruction in diving should be there. Regular attendance fee is charged for this, and those participating can swim afterwards.

MISSING HIS PIPES

LONDON (UPI) — Police reported today the statue of Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens is missing its pipes again. A thief has wrenched the pipes from the hands of the little boy for the second time in eight years.

ings with the U.S. district courts and federal courts. He is senior assistant U. S. attorney in Northern District of Northern California and his office is responsible to 32 Northern California counties ranging from Yosemite to the Oregon border. Various court trial cases were related with interest by Woodward and he also stated that he believed that televised trial cases have influenced the public, when seated as jurors in live cases, in expecting the eventual climax of evidence produced in last minute scenes of the fiction trials.

C. W. Champlin, SCPOA president presided and asked for the guest speakers' introduction by William Davis, FBI officer of Redding, an association member and program committeeman.

Champlin appointed new chairmen and committees including: Terry Gilzean, Mount Shasta, Al Gross, McCloud, California Highway Patrol officers and Jim Estell, Redding, State Parole Board officer, membership; O. W. Brown, CHP, Yreka, Richard Borchert, Redding, and Harry Shott, fish and game warden, Mount Shasta, auditing; William Davis, Kenneth T. Stone, Weed Justice Court judge, and Arnold French, Yreka CHP sergeant, program; Mrs. Rose Sheldon, Mount Shasta Justice Court clerk, was reappointed secretary and Mrs. Lucile I. Gaynor, Weed Justice Court clerk, was reappointed publicity chairman.

The group voted for a barbecue picnic August 23 to be held at Etna and with guests to be invited. George Dillman, Etna constable, will be the barbecue chef for the picnic event with Harry Shott and R. L. Fraser, fish and game warden, Fort Jones, assisting.

Britain's National Health Service Observes Birthday

LONDON (AP)—Britain's National Health Service has just had its 10th birthday.

In cost and number of people involved, it is vast and still growing.

If the British didn't have it, their income tax could be cut from a basic 42 1/2 per cent to the prewar 27 1/2. However, the poor and those of moderate income could hardly get the kind of medical care they now have.

The cost of the service this year is expected to reach something more than two billion dollars. If it keeps climbing at the present rate, it will double by 1968.

The service actually consumes around 2.7 per cent of the national income.

Viewed on the evidence of a decade's experience, is it worth all that money?

Most Britons seem to think it is. But quite a few are worried about the mounting cost. Each doctor is permitted a maximum of 3,500 patients, but most have fewer than 2,200.

The ailing are served by 3,000 hospitals, 18,000 pharmacists, 32,000 clerks and administrators, 255,000 nurses and a small army of dentists, opticians and specialists in hearing aids.

For the security this represents, an employed man is assessed 26 cents a week. That is the maximum no matter how many children he may have. Such employee assessments meet about a seventh of the actual cost.

Successive British governments have latched on a charge here and a charge there in an attempt to dam the outgoing flood of tax money from the treasury.

For a man of poor or moderate income the health service is especially valuable.

His wife is entitled to $28 for having a baby. She gets $100 for maternity expenses.

A second child qualifies a married couple for a weekly child allowance of $1.12. Each successive child hikes the allowance by $1.40.

All this is apart from medical and dental care.

Even the scheme's critics concede that it has led to an overall improvement in health. Deaths of mothers and babies at the time of delivery are at a record low level.

Up to 10 years ago many Britons with serious, progressive ailments did not go to the doctor until it was too late. They go without embarrassment now, regarding it as their right, and the state pays.

Many patients and doctors complain that the health service has dehumanized the old patient-doctor relationship. Doctors with big panels of national health patients are apt to find their offices jammed.

There is a growing conviction among doctors that the solution for this is to reduce the maximum number of patients per doctor to perhaps 2,000 and increase the per head annual payment.

Some members of the profession speak of setting up an independent medical service to be financed partly by contributions from patients and partly by government contributions out of general taxation. So far, this is only in the talking stage.

The first payroll to be carried by the independent air freight industry in the U.S. consisted of four tons of grapes flown from California to Georgia in July 1945.

POLICE ON DISPLAY

TOKYO (UPI)—Policemen who want to work in a newly opened, ultra-modern, glass-enclosed police box in downtown Tokyo have to meet one strict qualification. Authorities decreed that all officers assigned to the box must be handsome.
