Watch the interest and rivalry grow between Oregon and Oregon State College this coming football season. Both schools are fresh from big-time trips to the Rose Bowl as representatives of the Pacific Coast Conference and both have "rosy" futures ahead of them from the looks of the talent.

At Corvallis, coach Tommy Prothro's Beavers are already attracting wide interest through an early rush on season tickets and what's more, OSC's talent picture looks very good. So good in fact that it could be another bowl year for the Aggies.

Len Casanova, who's Webfoots inspired the nation last New Year's Day in a narrow 10-7 loss to the Buckeyes of Ohio State, isn't saying much as to the coming season, but his publicity man Art Litchman and other Duck backers aren't down in the mouth because of the graduation losses of such stars as Jack Morris, Jim Shanley, Harry Mondale and quarterback Jack Crabtree. There will be missed, but there are other bright prospects coming up that will go along ways in filling the holes left by the departure of last year's seniors.

The big question around Corvallis these days is the possibility of Paul Lowe returning to Oregon State. Lowe, the brilliant grinder from California, had trouble with grades a year ago, but is now working hard in summer school trying to bring up his credits to enroll at OSC for the fall term. You can bet your last dollar that Prothro, regardless of how much talent he has on hand now, would buy coffee for the house if Lowe should return. That's what you call icing the cake.

OSC athletic news director Johnny Eggers reported this last week that as of Tuesday afternoon, the advance season ticket sale for this fall's home games was nearly equal to the total of requests for the Webfoots' four home games. Litchman said it is surprising the number of "bulk" ticket orders that have already been received.

Art points out that Casanova and his staff of assistants are looking forward to another good year, possibly a little better than last. The loss of top backfield stars may be felt, but where the size and ability in the line looks very good. "We are looking forward to getting a great deal of help from your boy from Klamath Falls this fall," Litchman remarked about ex-KUHS and Shasta Junior College star Donn Taucher, who is busy this summer rapping out base hits for the Klamath Kubs.

Litchman passes on the report that Taucher, a quarterback in high school and junior college, was moved over to a halfback to get quick service out of him. "McKay (Johnny McKay, Oregon backfield coach) says Donn has too much ability to hold him up while learning all of the complicated parts of our quarterbacking system, so they moved him to halfback where he will be learning his plays quicker and be able to help the club out," Litchman added. "With his passing ability and great speed, Donn could be one of Oregon's best on Cas' pass-run optional play."

Still on the Oregon college scene, both OSC and UO athletic departments seem happy over the number and quality of Oregon high school graduates they are getting for next year's fresh teams. Both schools claim they are getting the best of the deal, but regardless of who is leading in the recruiting race, it's good to see Oregon athletes going to school in their home state.

Eggers says the Beavers are very pleased over their football and basketball prospects planning to enroll in September. Oregon has had real good luck this spring and summer in snaring prize prep stars. Says Litchman, "basketball is sensational, track is better than we hoped for and football is very, very good."

And to top off the news of getting the leading prep graduates from the state, both schools maintain their out-of-state recruiting is on the upswing. All of which means some good college football, basketball, track and other sports ahead for the state's sports followers.

Klamath Union High School and Medford High are having troubles with football scheduling. Both schools are holding four home games, but need the fifth to help "pay the bills."

Medford coach Fred Spiegelberg is looking for a game September 26. Klamath coach Andy Knudsen has hopes of getting a game on October 10. Neither of the two schools has given up on filling their "five-game" home schedule, but with the season just around the corner it's almost impossible to get something lined up.

These two schools were trying to get together on a home-and-home series this year, but neither of the two could arrange the schedule to make the date match.

The same problem came about in District 5-A-1, the Midwestern League. But Springfield and North Bend solved the issue by scheduling a home-and-home meeting with only one game counting toward league standings.

MISS BABE RUTH OF 1958 — From among this sextet of cuties, Klamath Basin baseball fans will pick Miss Babe Ruth of 1958 to reign over the Pacific Northwest Babe Ruth League Regional Tournament, which is slated for Klamath Falls, August 6-10. Miss Babe Ruth will be chosen on the basis of ticket sales, one vote to every ticket sold. The lovely contestants, from left to right, front row, Vicki Fairchild, Margaret Gallagher, Sue Phair, and back row, left to right, Toni McKibbin, Yvonne Leavitt and Dolores Lummus, will make a number of public appearances between now and the start of the tournament. Tickets to the games may be purchased from each of the girls or from Babe Ruth Headquarters in the Winema Hotel starting Monday July 21.

Klamath Falls Preps For Regional Meet

Preparations for the Pacific Northwest Regional Babe Ruth League Tournament to be held in Klamath Falls August 6 through 10 began yesterday as Mayor Lawrence Slater officiated in the drawing of the pairings of the eight Northwest Babe Ruth League teams that will participate.

To compete in the tournament, awarded Klamath Falls by the National Babe Ruth League, are teams representing Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Wyoming, British Columbia, Alaska and Klamath Falls. The host team for the gigantic five-day double elimination meet is the American League All-Stars, a team picked by the local coaches to represent Klamath Falls.

A possibility of a second Klamath Falls entry depends partly on the outcome of the National and County League All-Star game which is scheduled for 8 p.m. this Thursday night at Gem Stadium. The winner of this game becomes the Klamath Falls entry in the state playoffs which commence in Portland, Sunday, July 27. The champion from the state playoff automatically becomes the Oregon entry in the regional tournament.

Pairings for the first round of play, Wednesday, August 6, see Wyoming and Idaho clashing in the first contest at 2 p.m. at Gem Stadium. The second game will start at 4 p.m. and pairs Washington and Alaska while Wednesday night the Oregon team and British Columbia are scheduled for 7 p.m. Wrapping up the first day's activity Montana and Klamath Falls (the American League All-Stars) will vie at 9 p.m.

The second day's contests will see the losers of the Wednesday tests meeting in the afternoon while the winners clash in a pair of evening games.

An added highlight of the regional tourney will be the announcement Wednesday, August 6, of the results of the voting for the choice of Miss Babe Ruth of 1958, who will reign over the five-day festivities.

Miss Babe Ruth will be chosen from among six young ladies who represent the local Babe Ruth League teams with voting being credited to each sale of a tournament admission ticket.

The candidates for the title of Miss Babe Ruth are Sue Phair, who represents Superior Troy, Toni McKibbin, picked by the Gun Store nine, Margaret Gallagher, the choice of the East Side Electric team, Yvonne Leavitt for the Moose club, Dolores Lummus, representing M. L. Johnson and Vicki Fairchild, the pick of the Henley Sporting Goods squad.

The sextet will make a number of personal appearances throughout the period prior to the tournament. Saturday night they were the guests of the Klamath Kubs, the local semi-pro baseball team who played host to the Cuban Giants in an exhibition game played at Gem Stadium.

Monday at 4:30 p.m. the group of beauties will appear as guests on the broadcast of the American League-County League All-Stars game televised directly from Gem Stadium by Station KOTV-TV.

The following Friday the girls will be the guests of the Rotary Club at a noon luncheon at the Willard Hotel.

Saturday, July 26, the group will be the guests of the Klamath Basin Rodeo Association and Wednesday, July 30, the girls will be honored with a swim and luncheon party at Reames Golf and Country Club.

Tickets to the regional tournament may be procured at Babe Ruth League headquarters in the Winema Hotel lobby beginning Monday, July 21, at 1 p.m. or from any of the Miss Babe Ruth candidates.

General admission prices are $3 for season tickets covering all 15 games, $1.25 for reserved seats (per game), $1.50 for box seats (per game) or a daily general admission price of $1.

and between them issued 16 base-on-balls by Byron Ferrell. Ferrell was lifted in the second and replaced by Dick Springer. Springer lasted until the third when he was relieved by Bill Kerr. Kerr didn't finish the inning and was replaced by Gordon Malcomb who went the rest of the way. Malcomb and Springer collected the two Gun Store hits. Six errors were committed by the Gun Store squad.

Leading the M. L. Johnson attack was thirdacker Earl Brinson who poked two singles and a triple. Brinson, to all intents and purposes, stretched his three base blow to a home run as the Gunner catcher, Springer, bobbed the throw in from left field allowing him to score.

Sherm Allen, the M.L. Johnson shortstop, pounded out a triple and a double.

Both Allen and Brinson played on the American League All-Star roster in the feature game between the Stars and the Legion.

Bears, Eugene In Near Riot
YAKIMA (AP)—The first-place Yakima Bears tied a 3-1 Northwest League defeat on the Eugene Emeralds Saturday night in a game marred by a near-riot in the eighth inning.

The ruckus started at third base when Yakima's Maury Lerner went head over heels after stealing third. Lerner bounced up and immediately became engaged with fisticuffs with Eugene's Mel Krause.

Players from both squads joined in the unscheduled show and the umpires, outnumbered and ignored, had to call on reinforcements from the Yakima Police Department and the Yakima County sheriff's office.

After tranquility had been restored Lerner and Krause got the thumb.

The Bears wrapped it up in the third frame with two runs on Rocky Colombo's single. Don Gannus' triple and Pepper Thomas' single. Walter O'Neill singled and later scored on Herm Lewis' single to give the Bears their third run in the fourth.

Eugene's lone run came in the eighth on Bailey Brem's single, an error and John Keller's single. Eugene 000 000 010-1 8 0 Yakima 002 100 00X-3 10 1

Giants Maintain NL Lead Home Runs Break Up Games

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two home runs parlayed with Ramon Montant's effective relief pitching Saturday sent San Francisco to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh, maintaining the Giants' one-half game hold on first place in the National League.

A crowd of 19,665 watched the power-hitting home club collect four of its runs on homers—a solo blast by rookie Willie Kirkland in the second and a three-run shot by Ray Jablonski in a fourth-inning pinch hit role.

Montant, the slim right-hander from Venezuela, came on in the fifth to blank the Pirates for four innings. The Giants broke a 4-4 deadlock in the last of the fifth on singles by Orlando Cepeda and Kirkland plus a sacrifice fly by Daryl Spencer.
