

Top Bronc Rider Schedules Appearance At Roundup

An outstanding attraction of the July 25-27 Klamath Basin Roundup will be the saddle bronc events, following an announcement made by the Roundup committee yesterday.

Special Meet Results Told

A special meeting of the executive board of the American Legion Auxiliary was called July 15, preceding the regular meeting to fill the office of president, left vacant by the resignation of Eva Bailey who has moved to California.

At a previous meeting Carol Taylor, Klamath Union High School and Michelle Brett, Sacred Heart Academy, who attended Girls State at Willamette University, Salem, June 16-22, gave an interesting account of their work.

Ann Sargent, Sacred Heart Academy senior, winner in the local American Legion Auxiliary essay contest, won the American Legion Auxiliary State Department first place award for the best essay on Americanism among state contestants.

The newly elected officers were installed by Julia Williams, president of District No. 4.

Trujillo Pal Returns Home

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Elta Milan, the "lady in green" who sailed to Ensenada, Mexico, with Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. and discussed marriage, returns to work today, still an unmarried working girl.

The 24-year-old Brooklyn-born actress returned to filmland Monday from south of the border where she and the 29-year-old Dominican Republic general had asked for information about getting married.

They were told by Ensenada Justice of the Peace Miguel Torres that marriage was impossible until the seagoing general produced proof that he had divorced his first wife — mother of his six children.

Trujillo was reported to have ordered officials to go ahead with preparation of papers for the marriage which can be performed at any hour of the day or night here.

What happened, if anything, between Trujillo and Miss Milan that might have changed their plans was still unknown. Miss Milan here zipped into Hollywood Monday, told her producer she was back and was unmarried.

Back in Ensenada, the dashing young general was prepared to leave port in his 350-foot yacht, the Angelita. His papers were in order but it was not known when he would leave.

PICKUP DESTROYED

Fire destroyed a pickup, owned by A. L. Hand, Route 3, Box 421B, and gutted a chicken house on Route 3 at 1 p.m. Monday.

The chicken house was on property owned by Mrs. Lawrence Kirtly, Malin, but currently occupied by J. W. George. Nine firemen answered the call with the Stewart-Lenox fire department.

SEMPER FIDELIS

CAMP PENDLETON Calif. (UPI) — Members of the First Marine Division were on the alert today at this sprawling training camp between Los Angeles and San Diego.

All regular 30-day leaves were canceled Monday. Only emergency leaves will be granted for the duration of the Middle East crisis.

Dress Rehearsals Started At Shakespearean Festival

ASHLAND—Dress rehearsals are in progress at the Oregon Shakespearean Festival as preparations accelerate for the July 28 opening. Through this year's season opening earlier than usual, Angus L. Rowner, producing director, reports that all departments of the theater have been able to meet the problems of the tighter schedule without difficulty.

Each of the four shows will have two complete dress rehearsals over an eight-day period. The shows are now working in their regular performance order, with a full afternoon run-through and an evening dress starting at 8:30.

The first round of dress rehearsals, lasting through Wednesday night, July 23, is closed to all visitors. The second round, Thursday through Sunday, is open only to members of the Festival Association. Members may pick up tickets for each rehearsal by presenting their membership cards at the box office.

Starting Thursday, July 24, and continuing throughout the season, the central box office in Ashland will be open from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily and on Sundays from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. Tickets may also be purchased at several branch box offices located in several Oregon cities and in San Francisco.

The Oregon Shakespearean Festival, America's First Elizabethan Theater, was founded in 1935. Advance tickets, sales for the 1958 season reports William Patton, general manager, are the highest in its history. Approximately 750 celebrants will gather in Ashland's Luthia Park for the opening night banquet on July 28, followed by the premier performance of "Much Ado About Nothing." The season continues with nightly performances through September 4.

from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, to take part in the three-day rodeo. The news is the more sensational in view of the fact that George Menkenmaier, Burns, and Enoch Walker, Farmington, New Mexico, who have already signed up for the Roundup, were, at last reports, in first and second place, respectively, in the 1958 saddle bronc competition. Walker finished up in third place in 1957, and Menkenmaier in eighth. Menkenmaier was ahead of Nelson in 1956, taking second place to Nelson's third.

This competition between champions will be further heightened by the presence on the scene of such other top-flight bronc riders as Les Johnson, Omak, Washington; Bill Ward, Angels Camp, California; Ross Dollarhide, Grants Pass; and Jackie Wright, Dayville.

Johnson is running ahead of the ninth place he occupied at the end of the 1957 season, and is currently in seventh spot in saddle bronc competition.

Ward has a very respectable bronc riding record, having taken fourth place in 1949, third in 1950, fifth in 1953 and fourth in 1955. Dollarhide and he were neck and neck for a time, the Oregon man having topped Ward in 1949, for third place, and trailed him in 1950, for fourth.

Wright took a fifth place in the championship standings as recently as 1956.

Tickets for the Friday and Saturday evening performances and the Sunday afternoon event are going fast at Roundup headquarters in the Willard Hotel, phone TU 2-5991.

One Timber Tract Sold

Only one of the four tracts of timber offered for sale by the Medford District of the Bureau of Land Management was sold at the oral auction sale held on July 17. Schmidt and Crows Logging Company of Glendale was the successful bidder for an estimated 4,385,000 board feet of timber located in the Upper Grave Creek area in northwestern Jackson County.

The high bid was $106,602.45, with a bid for Douglas fir of $25.25 per thousand board feet.

The three tracts that received no bids were all located in the West Fork Cow Creek area in southwest Douglas County. Under the regulations they will remain open for submission of bids for 90 days unless the district manager determines that a re-advertisement is necessary. The three tracts contain an estimated 10,835,000 board feet.

On July 31, an estimated 114,000 board feet located on a road relocation project near the Howard Prairie dam site will be offered for sale.

On August 7, an estimated 682,000 board feet of timber in south west Klamath County which was killed in the Bogus burn last summer will be re-offered for sale.

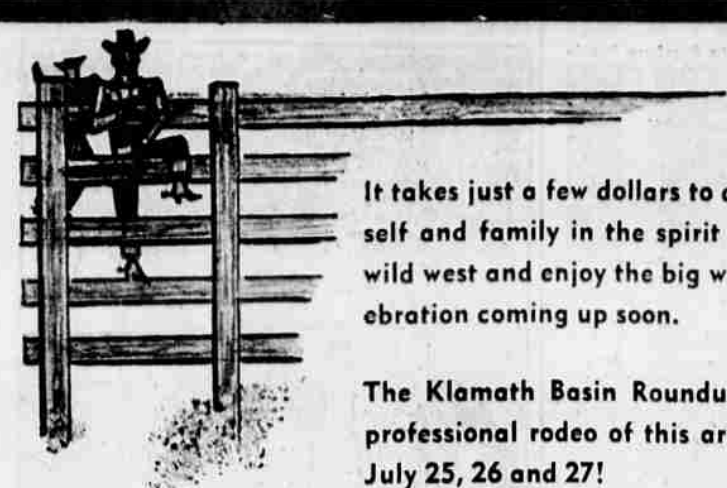

Operators interested in securing information about the future sales or the no-bid sales which are still open for bidding should contact the office of the district manager in the Medford City Hall.

Treasurer Cook Says Bounty Resumed

Payment of a bounty of 50 cents a nose on porcupines was resumed last week, Eva Cook, county treasurer, announces. The bounty will be payable until the annual appropriation of $8,000 is exhausted. Last year, payment began on July 15 and ended on December 9, with 12,000 dead porcupines accounted for.

Persons with a porcupine nose to turn in, should go first to the county clerk's office, where they will be furnished with an affidavit to present at the treasurer's office.

MINING ENGINEER LAKEVIEW—Shigeyoshi Oba, a mining engineer from the Japanese Atomic Energy Commission, spent the past week on a tour of the White King uranium mine near Lakeview and studying geology of the area. He was accompanied by William E. Bales, geological engineer with the Atomic Energy Commission, who is stationed in Lakeview, and Norman Peterson, Grants Pass, geologist with the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries. The Japanese visitor is spending a year in the United States.

It takes just a few dollars to dress yourself and family in the spirit of the old wild west and enjoy the big western celebration coming up soon.

The Klamath Basin Roundup, the big professional rodeo of this area, will be July 25, 26 and 27!
