

Britons Elect Four Women To House Of Lords Posts

LONDON (AP)—For the first time in British history, four women were named today to the House of Lords.

They will hold special life peerages along with 10 men named by Queen Elizabeth II to put new life into the ancient, all-male chamber.

Like all Britons nominated to the aristocratic upper house of Parliament, the ladies have distinguished themselves in public life. Four of the new male peers were members of the present House of Commons.

The new peeresses, who will take their seats in November are: Barbara Frances Wootton, 61-year-old economist, author and former professor. One of Britain's leading intellectuals, she is a Labor party supporter.

Dame Katharine Elliot, 53, three-time British delegate to the U. N. Assembly, active Conservative party worker, and chairman for the Advisory Committee on Child Care for Scotland.

Baroness Ravensdale, 62, chairman of the National Assn. of Girls' Clubs and a leader in the campaign to put women in the House of Lords.

The Dowager Marchioness of Reading, chairman of the Women's Voluntary Services for Civil Defense, which she founded in 1938.

The wives of the male peers will take the title of lady, and their children can use the prefix "The Honorable." But husbands of the peeresses will get no title.

The new lifetime peers are Sir Ian Fraser, Conservative member of Parliament who was blinded in World War I; Sir Robert Boothby, Conservative member of Parliament and former parliamentary secretary to Sir Winston Churchill; Daniel West and Victor Collins, Labor members of Parliament; Sir Charles Geddes, prominent trade unionist; Victor Noel-Paton, prominent layman in the Church of Scotland, which is not officially represented in the Lords as the Church of England is; Edward Shackleton, former Labor M. P. and son of the antarctic explorer, Sir Ernest Shackleton; Dr. Stephen Taylor, former Labor M. P.; Sir John Stopford, former vice chancellor of Manchester University; and Sir Edward Twining, former governor of Tanganyika.

Youth Admits He's No Burglar

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gerald Thomaszek, 19, admitted to police he was no great shakes as a burglar after:

- Passersby frightened him from a school he was looting.
- Honorless thieves stole $4,000 worth of loot he had hidden in a garage.
- He was unable to peddle $3,200 more in loot.
- Police caught him hiding still more stolen goods in the garage.

Ike Doesn't Want Meet Says Top News Analyst

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Next to an outbreak of war the one thing the Eisenhower administration least wants just now is a summit conference either inside or outside the United Nations.

But an effort to preserve U.S.-British unity and avoid a repetition of the costly division of 1956 during the Suez crisis has forced the President to take a position where Premier Nikita Khrushchev seems to have the last word on whether or not there will be a summit meeting.

This point has been reached moreover at the cost of a sharp disagreement between the United States and Britain on the one hand, and France on the other. For Premier Charles de Gaulle has said what President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles both actually think—according to the word of some of their top aides—that this is no time for a top-level meeting on the Middle East and the U.N. Security Council at New York, with all its excitement, is no place for calm discussion of the crisis.

Administration officials said Wednesday there are several reasons why a summit meeting is highly inadvisable at this time: Khrushchev stands in the position of an accuser and the United States of a defender in the dispute over the causes and possible consequences of American and British military intervention in the Middle East. From the U.S. point of view this is an upside-down situation, one that puts this country at a great disadvantage in trying to deal with the political and propaganda interests at stake in any highly publicized meeting.

There are, in the U.S. government's view, two real villains in the Middle East tragedy. They are Khrushchev and Egyptian Gamal Abdel Nasser. The State Department is convinced they intend to do everything possible right now and in the future to foment as much trouble as they can against all the pro-Western governments in the Middle East.

The risks involved in any summit conference are so great that no such meeting should ever be held without the most careful preparations that diplomacy can devise. These risks include dangers of misunderstanding, or an illusion of progress toward peace, or an exchange of debate which could inflame rather than calm the tempers of governments and peoples alike.

Blonde Is Miss U.S.A.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Lovely Euryline Howell, blonde, blue-eyed Miss Louisiana, reigned today as Miss United States in the 7th annual Miss Universe pageant.

The sweetly drawing coed from Bossier City, La., was chosen Wednesday night from five semifinalists to represent the United States in competition with 34 foreign beauties for the title of Miss Universe.

Choice of the 18-year-old Southern belle, 5 foot, 6 inches of poised loveliness, was popular with the audience of 4,500 gathered in the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium as the field was narrowed from 15 to 5 to Miss Howell.

Poised and dry-eyed after her selection, Miss Louisiana, a Grace Kelly-type measuring a near-perfect 36-23-35½, said she was "very thrilled and grateful."

Miss Howell, a sophomore in speech and dramatics at Centenary College at Shreveport, La., was selected from five semi-finalists — all blondes and all from the South except one.

The others were Miss Alabama, Judy Carlson; Miss Florida, Marcia Valibus; Miss Georgia, Diana Austin; and Miss Illinois, June Pickney.

Miss U.S.A. competes tonight against the foreign beauties in the semi-final round of the Miss Universe pageant. Miss Universe will be selected Friday night.

Scribe Tells The Long And Short Of It For The Fall

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Long earrings and short necklaces—that's the long and short of it in costume jewelry for fall.

Some of the new "slim jim" earrings dangle all the way to the shoulder, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute which keeps tabs on basic beauty and fashion trends. And the short bib, choker and dog collar necklaces, with many strands twisted together, have displaced the long ropes which we women have draped around our necks the past few seasons.

If you still want to use your jewelry supply, double, triple or quadruple it around the neck, so it forms a collar for all those standaway collars showing in fall ready-to-wear.

"Next in importance is color in jewelry," said Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, the institute director. "Jewelry shades go right along with clothing shades. So all the purples, including amethyst and mauve, will be good. So will the combinations of green and blue, red and rose."

BAR PIN RETURNS

Some manufacturers suggest that women blend jewelry colors with suit or dress, but Mrs. Thompson said it'd be up to the individual to decide whether she wanted contrast or coordination of colors.

New for fall is the bar pin, which grandma wore to hold the tabs of her high-starched collar. Today's bar pins are longer, some of them measuring three inches, and splashier, set with colored stones. New way to wear them: blouses.

The old-time headache band, which came back last spring, goes right into fall. It's expected to be especially popular with two major trends in hair-do—the bouffant or fluffy cut, and the empire quadruple it around the neck, so it forms a collar for all those standaway collars showing in fall ready-to-wear.

Some jewelry manufacturers show small, lightweight pins in a series of three, four or five to attach to the hands. Matching clip on suit or dress is all the other jewelry necessary.

MASSIVE STONES

Pins have a new place in fashion, literally. Gone is the long-time placement on the left shoulder; this fall, they come as globes of fobs to be worn smack in the center of a neckline or bodice.

Prof Plans Russian Talk

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — In three weeks Dr. Henry L. Richter of California Institute of Technology has learned enough Russian to deliver a 30-minute speech in that language.

And he's going to deliver his speech in Moscow.

Dr. Richter, supervisor of Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, was assigned to present a paper about Explorer satellites at an International Geophysical Year meeting in Moscow next month.

He read Russian-American dictionaries, listened to Russian language records and used a tape recorder to perfect his accent.

Yesterday a Russian-speaking employe at JPL listened to Dr. Richter's rehearsal and pronounced him ready.

Italy Shows New Fashions

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — How high is high? How far above the waist, how near to the bosom? That is the nuance being determined at the Florence fashion shows now that Italian couture has declared itself in favor of the high demarcation line between bodice and skirt.

Veneziani, whose collections received ovations last night at the historic Pitti Palace, hinged her skirts about the level of the second rib.

Veneziani's models seconded other fashion trends noted here and in the Rome showings: The high unadorned neckline with sleeveless or cupped shoulder, the back decollete, foreshortened front, the flattened, foreshortened long skirt with no middle ground between knee and floor. For evening Veneziani makes them long. And wraps to wear with them are of horizontal mink or ermine. Vertical pelts will never do.

Rumor Names New Queen

LONDON (AP) — Raven-haired Lily Myhra Fallah has been summoned back to Tehran from an exclusive English finishing school, leaving behind a buzz of speculation that she will be the Shah of Iran's next queen.

Friends of the beautiful 18-year-old Iranian girl say she will fly to Paris next week to choose a trousseau for her wedding to the handsome 38-year-old monarch.

The friends say the wedding may be sometime in October.

For weeks, Lily's secret has been kept at the Paddock Wood Finishing School, which lies among rolling heathland and is surrounded by lawns and flowers. There are 48 girls — mostly foreign — at the school.

"Only a few of us knew about Lily and we did not think it good for the other girls to tell them," said the matron last night.

"Two weeks ago a chauffeur-driven car arrived here from the Iranian Embassy and Lily left to catch a plane to Tehran."

Lily is tall, olive-skinned and the daughter of Reza Fallah, wealthy boss of Iran's nationalized oil industry. He reportedly was called to the Shah four months ago and told Lily was among those being considered to become the Shah's wife, succeeding ex-Queen Soraya. The Shah divorced Soraya in March because she had not borne him an heir to the throne.

Demo Given New Term

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Rep. Toby Morris of Lawton today held Democratic nomination for another term in Congress, pending an official tabulation of votes in the 6th Dist.

Complete, unofficial returns from the western Oklahoma district gave Morris a 52-vote victory over former congressman Victor Wickersham — the man he unseated two years ago. The vote was 45,474 for Morris; 45,422 for Wickersham.

If he receives the nomination, Morris will be opposed by Republican Fred Congan of Sayre in the November election.
