HOLLYWOOD (NEA) - Exclusively Yours:

"My glow
For Monroe
Now burns
For Bardot."

A Hollywoodman named Alan Wilson is tempus fighting it with those lines but you'll have to admit that Marilyn Monroe's return to Glamourville for her first movie in two years gave the old town a little zip. With dialog, I can spill it today, by her playwright husband Arthur Miller.

It was Miller who gave Marilyn "organic" to describe the tight white dress she was almost wearing when she slithered out of that overnight plane from New York. Miss Wiggle Hips wiggled into her career "comeback" dress in their New York apartment, as I heard it, and asked hubby Miller what he thought.

"Marilyn," he said, "that's what I call a very organic dress."

MM's return to Hollywood for the film, "Some Like It Hot," had reverberations involving three of her rivals. Kim Novak rushed home from New York after it was announced her studio was booking her into a Boy Scout benefit. This left me wondering if a Girl Scout benefit might be safer.

In London Jayne Mansfield rushed into print with news that she and her Mickey have dated the stork. On the home front, two '57 new Brigitte Bardot movies were booked into Hollywood and

Los Angeles theaters. Ah, the long hot summer.

Ricky Nelson made the big decision—no college while his career is at such a high peak. He completes "Rio Bravo" late this month, then goes on a singing tour and starts a new picture and more TV shows in the fall. But when does he have time to count his money?

"I'm tired," Jerry Lewis finally said it. Jerry, the Mrs. and the kids leave in August for a Honolulu vacation, his first in 25 months, when he completes "The Geisha Boy." I'll believe it only after I see his movies of Diamond Head.

Diamonds are a wife's best friend, too. Hubbies of Shirley MacLaine and Carolyn Jones, short on cash when they proposed marriage, just gifted both dolls with diamond engagement rings. Three and a half years late for Shirley, five for Carolyn.

This is Hollywood. Mrs. Jones: Audrey Hepburn has her hair shorn when she becomes a nun in "The Nun's Story." So who played the role of the nun who did the shearing job? It was real sneaky. The "nun" was Audrey's hairdresser, Grazia di Rossi.

Not in the Script: Karl Malden, after working in a scene with Gary Cooper in "The Hanging Tree": "No one underplays Gary and no one steals a scene from him. He's just too natural to beat."
