

Suggestion for the American League to raise money for the old-timers fund:
Let the New York Yankees go on tour playing a team comprised of ex-Yankees now playing in the circuit with other clubs. And don't kid yourself, there would be more competition in this type of a set up than there is now, in the regular league play.

The Yanks, never known to stand pat with a winner, have picked up and then traded several times over and in the process have given away some pretty good talent. So good that Casey Stengel sometimes wishes he had the boys back on his side.

It would be easy to lineup a well-rounded team to face the Bronx Bombers on such a tour. Take pitchers like Ralph Terry of Kansas City and Gerry Staley of the Chicago White Sox to start a mound staff. If you wanted to include the National League's ex-Yankees, you'd have to give room to Milwaukee's Lew Burdette.

What about an infield comprised of Gus Triandos at first, Billy Martin at shortstop, Bob Martyn at second and Jackie Jensen at third. Martyn and Jensen are outfielders, but have played in the infield. Then in the outfield you'd have to make room for Woody Held, Bob Cerv and Gene Woodling. Two catchers to complete the team would be Lou Berberet and Clint Courtney—Triandos could catch if needed.

Then such utility players as Harry Simpson, Billy Hoffer, Vic Power and Sherm Lollar would hurt the cause.

Pre-season football games with state-wide interest are less than a month away for those of you interested in seeing the pigskin sail into view for the start of another sports season.

Portland's Multnomah Stadium will be the site of a pro football exhibition game and the annual Shriner's all-star game within a seven-day period. Tickets for both these attractions are now on sale through mail orders.

Fans interested in seeing the San Francisco 49ers and Washington Redskins meet August 23 can get tickets—worth more than their weight in gold—by writing to Oregon Sports Attractions, Multnomah Stadium, Portland. All seats are reserved for this game—the only pro game scheduled for Portland this year—and are $4 each. List your preference for seating position. Applications will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Shrine game officials are boasting about a possible record-breaking attendance for their August 13 game at the stadium. Ticket requests for this game can be made by writing game headquarters at 1119 S.W. Park Avenue, Portland, Oregon. Ticket prices for this game are $3 and $2 for reserved seats. Again list your seating preference to help select your favorite position to watch the game.

For those of you planning to take in the pro game, the Portland Beavers are playing an afternoon game Saturday. The baseball-in-the-afternoon and football-in-the-evening program will be lots of fun for the grounds keepers who will have less than four hours to line the field for football play and put up the goal posts.

There are all types of tournaments and championships for every known sport and some things that are questionable as to the degree of sports they claim.

It's going to be interesting to see what happens when the Los Angeles Rams start playing football in the LA Coliseum... before the Dodgers are through with baseball... we can just hear the public address announcer call out "first down and pitcher's mound to go"... the baseball hill might be a handicap to some broken field runner headed for pay dirt.

There is a strong argument going around the majors as to who is the fastest pitcher today... some say the Yankees' Ryno Duran, others say Philadelphia's Dick Ferrrell... a recent check of baseball "people" by NEA shows a 3-to-1 poll favoring Duran.

Those of you who watched Saturday's game of the day television battle between the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox saw a real fine example of throwing at a batter's head... in the late innings, Ted Williams rocketed one of Turk Lown's pitches into the right field stands, but it was foul... on the very next pitch, Wil Hams took a tumble to the dirt to keep from getting beamed... the umpire failed to give a warning to Ted took things into his own hands and stroked a line-drive single to right center for his

North Bend Evens Playoff Cubs Whip Milwaukee, Yanks Win

Klamath Legion Club Beaten By No-Hitter

NORTH BEND—The Tower Motor Company junior league baseball team of North Bend evened their sub-district playoff series with Klamath Falls at one game apiece here Saturday night behind the no-hit, no-run pitching of Gary Wallace, a young righthander who also stopped Klamath last Wednesday night after the Southern Oregon League winners had already sewed up a 6-4 win at Klamath Falls.

The two teams meet in the all-important third game of the best-of-three playoff Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Klamath Falls manager Hal Hatfield announced the team would be leaving for home as soon as the game was completed and would arrive late Sunday evening.

Slated to draw starting pitching chores for the visitors from Klamath Falls in Sunday's crucial game will be righthander Blake Griggs who beat North Bend Wednesday night on six hits. North Bend will probably start Tom Younkers who lost the first game of the sub-district playoff.

The winner will meet Roseburg at North Bend or Klamath Falls next Wednesday in the first game.

of another best of three series that will decide the District 3 championship. The winner of the district final goes straight into the state semi-finals.

Saturday night, Wallace had real fine stuff as he struck out 13 Klamath Falls batters in seven innings and walked only two to keep from hurling a perfect game. Wallace walked Bob Yunck in the second inning and Smiley Herrera in the fourth. Herrera got as far as second on a stolen base, but was thrown out at third attempting another theft.

North Bend scored once in the first, second and third innings to score more than enough to assure them of the win to even the playoff. All three of the scores were unearned. In the first, Colin Rush singled, advanced on a base on balls and scored when Klamath third baseman Estin Kiger was charged with an out that would have ended the inning without a run for the Towermen.

North Bend picked up nine hits off Klamath starting pitcher Dean Dunson in four innings. All were singles with two going to Terry Leiniger and Bob Brown.

Keith Ferrell, Klamath relief pitcher who worked the fifth and sixth innings, turned in a spectacular job in blanking the hosts, winning 14 of 17 games so far this year. Ferrell faced only seven batters in the last two innings, striking out five and walking one.

Wallace proved that his fine relief work last Wednesday night was no fluke. He replaced Younkers who worked four and two-thirds innings before being knocked out of the box in the series opener at Klamath Falls. Wallace faced seven batters in the last two and one-third innings and didn't allow a hit. So in all, he has pitched nine and one third innings of hitless ball against the Klamath Falls club, under the sponsorship of Troyside Electric and Superior Laundry, two Klamath sports-minded business houses.

U.S. Distance Runners Eye Soviets' Best

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. distance runners, never an international feared group, refuse to concede anything to their Soviet opponents in the mammoth dual track and field meet opening Sunday in 100,000-seat Lenin Stadium.

World track experts say the Soviet distance runners will run off and hide from the Americans in the races of more than 1,300 meters.

But the U.S. distance men ran "off in the park somewhere" Saturday, hiding special tactics they were apparently cooking up for the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs and the 3,000 meter steeplechase.

The steeplechase, won by Horace Ashenfelter at the 1952 Olympic Games in Helsinki, was the only distance title Americans have won in the Olympics since 1908.

No American official would elaborate on the brief information about the park. But when the six U.S. distance runners failed to train with the rest of the men and women preparing for the two-day meet, it appeared the United States was trying to match Soviet distance superiority with American ingenuity.

It is expected that the Americans, who have been training vigorously to improve their stamina and sprint finishes, will try to stay with the front-running Russians as far as possible and then try to outkick them.

The first test of the U.S. plan will come tomorrow in the 10,000 meters, the ninth event on the male-female program.

There are 13 events Sunday and 16 Monday, including the 5,000 meter and the steeplechase. The decathlon runs both days.

The American distance entries are Gordon McKenzie of New York and Jerry Smart of Houston in the 10,000; Max Truxton of Los Angeles and Bill Dellinger of Eugene, Oregon, in the 3,000; and Phil Coleman of Champaign, Ill., and Charles Jones of Iowa City in the steeplechase.

But even with Vladimir Kuts, Soviet 5,000 and 10,000 meter Olympic champ, on the sidelines with stomach trouble, the American chances appear slim in the distance events. The comparative times of the Soviet entrants all outdo the Americans' best.

U.S. runners are naturally favored in the sprints and middle distances. Ed Moran of James City, Pa., and Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., the U.S. 1,500 meter duo, feel they can hold their own at that distance.

Basinettes Top Pennants

Klamath Falls' Basinettes pulled out one of the biggest upsets in the state's women's softball season at Gem Stadium Saturday night as they knocked off the touted Dolly Moore Penant Shop club from Portland 5-3 in an exhibition game.

Klamath pitcher Jo Adreon bested Dolly Moore's all-American hurler Doris Barrett in a brilliant pitchers duel. The Portlanders were able to garner only two hits off Adreon's offerings. Klamath's pitched two each by Chris Shearer and Ruth Hagelstein, the latter a former member of the Penant Shop team.

Dolly Moore's team took a 1-0 lead in the first then went back 3-0 with single runs in the third and fourth innings. In the Klamath half of the fourth, two Basinettes scored to cut the margin down to a one run deficit.

In the fifth inning Dec Brown was safe on an infield hit and advanced on a fielding error. Sharon Anderson walked and Darlene Perry singled scoring one run that tied the game at 3-3. Hagelstein came through with another single that scored two more runs as the local girls' softball club moved ahead of their highly favored visitors.

The Portland team got one runner on base in the sixth inning but Adreon stopped any possible rally short by getting the side out without further damage.

Norkus Bows To McMurty

TACOMA (AP)—Irish Pat McMurty chopped out an unanimous 10-round decision Saturday night over tough but stubborn Charlie Norkus of Port Washington, N. Y.

Norkus, a Tacoman, weighed 185; McMurty, 193.

There was no knockdowns, McMurty coming closest in the sixth when he whipped a left hook that staggered the New Yorker. It was the worst remedy for Norkus, who hung on desperately while McMurty, trying for his 27th kayo, punished his man with both hands.

Rights to the head and body shook Norkus was again in the ninth, but Charlie was wary and keeping McMurty at long range.

Both judges and the referee gave McMurty the full count on every round under the 10-point card. The Associated Press card had three rounds even, with McMurty winning the rest.

Braves Dumped 7-4; NY Boosts Loop Lead

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, backed up by the lackluster relief pitching of Marcelino Solis who hurled four-hit, shutout ball for 6 2-3 innings, beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-4 Saturday.

The loss, coupled with San Francisco's 1-0 decision over Pittsburgh, dropped the Braves into a tie with the Giants for the National League lead. Each team has an identical 51-41 record.

A county stadium crowd of 31,450, including Braves' owner Lou Perini, watched the 28-year-old Solis register his first Major League triumph in relief of starter Dick Drott. Solis, a southpaw recently purchased from Fort Worth, has lost one.

The loser for the sixth time without a victory was Gene Conley, who spelled starter Lew Burdette in the second and gave up the Cub's final three runs. Conley clipped Drott for his first Major League homer in the second, Bobby Thomson hit his 12th for the Cubs.

BILLY MARTIN

rough treatment.

The quote of all quotes... Following last Monday's TV fight referee Teddy Martin was accused of threatening welterweight Eddie Lynch. Lynch said Martin told him he would hit him (Lynch) if he and Billy Flaminio wouldn't stop clinching and start fighting the right way... says Martin: "I didn't threaten to hit him, I just told him to cut it out because I'm a pretty good biter myself."

... If that isn't a threat we've yet to hear one... it's probably lucky for Martin that Lynch was rebuffed between the eyes at Flaminio or he might have taken time to pick up Martin's challenge in a little extracurricular action.

Fritzie Zivie said in a recent magazine article that to be champion, you have to fight dirty... Zivie should know, he's an old hand at it... and if his words are correct, young Bobby Scanton will be a real great champion... when Scanton defeated Gale Kerwin in the TV fight a week ago, he used everything in the books except a good straight right or left hand punch... Scanton won the fight, but Kerwin's cause wasn't aided by the "facing" he took in the face of the holding-and-hitting tactics used by the undefeated Irishman...

It could only happen to Yankees... Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford missed the train that carried the New York Yankees to Detroit last Monday evening... manager Casey Stengel said there would not be a fine or official reprimand... says Casey, "I could fine them $100 but they wouldn't miss it, so I might arrange an exhibition game and see that both of them play the whole game."

Last Thursday evening, Buddy Bomar, world famous bowling champion, appeared here in an exhibition at Lucky Lanes... This coming week, Buddy has a novel exhibition scheduled at Spokane... a "baseball" is set Thursday at Spokane's city baseball park... a bowling alley will be set up between home plate and the mound and Bomar and Bill Lillard will meet a pair of local keglers in an exhibition before the baseball game starts... local sponsors of this event also announced the alley will be taken down so as not to hurt the feelings of the pitchers who will take the mound in the Pacific Coast League encounter to follow.
