Nowadays, Actor Can't Sit And Wait For Agent's Call

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Nowadays, an actor can't sit around and wait for his agent to call. He has to get out and hustle for himself."
This is the credo of robust Jon Hall, and it is producing results. For instance:
1. Tahitian-reared Hall has long been a fan of island music. Finding some inspired combos in Hawaii night spots, he made hi-fi and stereophonic recordings. He brought them back to the States and sold the layout to Mercury Records, which will soon bring out "Hi-fi in Hawaii."
2. A veteran of making movies in, under and above the water ("The Hurricane," "South of Pago Pago," "Alma of the South Seas," etc.), he has long recognized the difficulty of filming underwater. The submerged cameras were bulky, required two or three men to handle, could film only a limited time.
So Jon went to work with associates and produced the Samsen-Hall underwater camera, a lightweight affair that one man can easily adjust and operate. It will shoot four minutes of film and is quickly reloaded.
He will exhibit the camera at an engineering convention here and reports that camera makers, the Navy and film producers are interested in it.
3. Having prospered with the amazingly successful "Ramar of

TV'S New Confession Film Shows Crime In True Light

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of months ago, the Sunday afternoon think-and-discuss programs enjoyed a mild epidemic of concern with the delinquency problem, adult and juvenile.
These were well done, understated and, for the most part, more involved with cause, prevention and cure than with the identities of the adults and young people in trouble.
Apparently, however, no one yet seems to have come up with a formula for dealing with such problems on a sponsored, regular basis. Certainly the two or three which have arrived on this year's screen, heralded each time as real life exposes of crime and punishment, have been more on the lurid side than constructive or educational.
One of the most recent, a popular local show in Dallas, Tex., slipped into the summer networks with scarcely a ripple. Where it wasn't ignored, however, "Confession"—even the name of the show is designed for shock purposes—was set on savagely by critics.
Confession's gimmick is that a criminal—a convicted murderer awaiting execution, a prostitute, an armed robber, a forger—is put before a camera and talks about his (or her) crime and background. Last week it was a convicted murderer, who explained that if he hadn't had a gun and got drunk, he couldn't have shot anyone. The week before it was a 34-year-old prostitute and narcotics addict under indictment for performing in a pornographic film.
Jack Wyatt, producer of the series, said that when the latter show was first shown in Dallas, three state legislatures became so incensed they began to tighten legislation against pornography, and the local PTA formed a city-wide newsstand patrol to clean up obscene publications.
"Maybe," But to this viewer's mind, "Confession" fails to accomplish its avowed educational purpose, even with a police chief or clergyman on the show telling people they shouldn't commit crimes.
Wyatt apparently has the cooperation of Texas law enforcement officials in obtaining his "guest stars." But what persuades a prostitute, a murderer, a robber, a narcotics addict to face a camera and tell a story of degradation?
"We pay them a little," says Wyatt, "but it really seems to be some sort of expiation for them."

Diplomat's Recall Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—The chief adviser to President Francois Duvalier of Haiti says his government intends to request the recall of U.S. Ambassador Gerald A. Drew.
Jules Blanchet, Haitian minister of state without portfolio, said Drew has been "going too far in our internal affairs."
Blanchet also said at a news conference yesterday that Haiti already has obtained the transfer of the second ranking officer at the U.S. Embassy, J. Paul Barringer. Blanchet said Barringer, who was embassy counselor, was shifted to a Libyan post after Haiti complained that he had Louis Dejoie for president.
Duvalier defeated Dejoie in the presidential election last year.
Blanchet said his government will ask the U.S. State Department this week to recall other members of the diplomatic staff in Haiti in addition to Drew. He indicated that Drew and the other U.S. officials had openly supported Dejoie.
Blanchet, whose remarks were generally friendly to the United States, said the recall of the American diplomats will be sought "just as we will request the withdrawal of any other foreign government representative who interferes in the government of Haiti."
Haiti will lodge a complaint with the U.S. State and Justice departments asking extradition of Dejoie and former President Paul E. Magloire, Blanchet said. Dejoie and Magloire both are here.
Blanchet alleged that Magloire absconded with $ 19 million dollars from the Haitian treasury and is conspiring with Dejoie and Communist elements to overthrow Duvalier's government.
Magloire and Dejoie last night made separate denials of any conspiracy. They said they had not even communicated with each other. Magloire accused Blanchet of "cynical propaganda."

Tony Perkins Strikes Out At Hollywood Conformism

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The toughest thing in Hollywood is being a seminonconformist, says young Anthony Perkins.
As a result, he no longer goes barefoot or hitchhikes to the movie studios.
Ah, me! Is there no way to stop this thundering rush on the part of Americans toward conformity? Apparently not, if Tony's experience is any example.
Tony came to town as a king of off-beat guy. He spoke his mind and did as he pleased. But the town's conventions began closing in on him, and he had to alter his habits.
"The hardest thing is to try to go halfway in nonconformity in Hollywood," he opined. "Either you have to be a total nonconformist or you might as well conform all the way."
"Only a few can get away with nonconforming. You take a fellow like Marlon Brando. After a while, people get used to his being independent. When he does something that doesn't fit the pattern, people say, 'Well, that's Brando for you.'
"Most of the others merely take the easy way out and conform."
If he's so set against it, why doesn't he fight the system?
"I don't have the guts," he confessed. "You've got to have complete independence to be a nonconformist. But I worry about the consequences."
Tony illustrated with his early experience. He's a guy who likes to go without shoes. No affectation—he just likes being barefoot.
"But I got so tired of people asking me about it and saying I was eccentric, I gave it up," he said.
Tony is back here to star with Audrey Hepburn in "Green Mansions" after his Broadway hit in "Look Homeward, Angel."
I noticed he was wearing normal-type glasses instead of the Air Force-like goggles he used to sport. Once again, conformity—"I got tired of telling people why I wore them."
"Isn't it 'em get you down, Tony. What this town needs is a few dozen more individualists."

Actors Must Be Prepared To Travel The World Over

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — These days, a film actor has to be prepared to travel anywhere, even the headhunter country of the Philippines.
That's where Keith Andes went for a picture called "Blackburn's Guerrillas."
It was originally called "Blackburn's Headhunters," the actor explained, "but the Philippine government prevailed upon us to drop that title. They don't like to admit that there are any headhunters left in the islands."
But there are. They were operating in the area where we were shooting the picture. I noticed a little item in the paper before we left that the natives had captured eight heads."
Fortunately, the natives were not restless while the film troupe was there, and Keith encountered no trouble.
They don't capture heads indiscriminately," he explained. "They always do it with a purpose. — when they have been wronged. They point out that we give medals for soldiers who kill people in war. Well, instead of medals, they collect more tangible evidence."
The picture is the true-life story of Lt. Don Blackburn, an American Army officer who headed for the hills after the Japanese conquest of the Philippines. He harassed the invaders until the liberation, amassing a force of 20,000 guerrillas. Now a colonel serving in South Viet Nam, Blackburn returned to his old haunts to watch the filming and received a hero's welcome.
The film project is an extreme example of the lengths actors will go to find movies in these times. The era of shooting pictures on comfortable Hollywood stages is fast fading.
"We did most of our shooting in the mountains 200 miles north of Manila," Andes said. "We had no electricity, no running water, no newspapers. The area was an hour and a half's jeep ride from the closest airstrip."

Copy Cat Coat Causes Chaos

CHICAGO (AP)—There's really nothing exciting about a man on a fire escape, but when it happens at the Criminal Courts Building and the man is wearing a prison-type jacket, well . . .
The bells rang, the whistles blew and the cops came running. The police got their man, too, innocently waiting at a bus stop. Only I haven't done anything wrong, protested Clint Tave, 41. What was he doing on the fire escape?
It happened this way: Tave had just won dismissal of a burglary charge. Understandably anxious to be off, he walked swiftly to the fourth-floor elevator.
He rang, and rang. No elevator. So he climbed out on the fire escape, walked down two flights and popped into the second-floor law library of the state's attorney. Where's the stairs? he asked. A clerk pointed the way and off he went.
A second later the clerk had second thoughts and notified police.
Spotted at the bus stop, Tave was hauled back to court. A bailiff quickly confirmed his story and said the jacket just happened to look like a prison jacket. Off went Tave again. He waited for the elevator this time.

Japanese Freighter Sinks Off Formosa

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese freighter Keiko Maru sank off southern Formosa yesterday after running aground. All 49 crewmen were rescued.
The 7,613-ton vessel ran aground Sunday 45 miles east of the southern tip of Formosa. It listed to the starboard and the holds took water. It sank before a salvage tug could reach the scene from Hong Kong.

Comic Angry At Imitator

LONDON (AP) — Sid Caesar complained last night there's no room in Britain for two Sid Caesars.
The American television comic charged British comedian Dickie Henderson was not only using his material but also was imitating his personality.
Caesar, doing a 13-show series for the British Broadcasting Corp., said he had complained to the rival Associated Rediffusion Network, which features Henderson in a weekly program.
"I have seen my lawyers about it," said Caesar. "The movements and expressions in the Henderson show are identical to mine. It doesn't seem ethical to me to copy another man's personality."
Between shows at the Prince of Wales Theater, Henderson admitted he had studied Caesar's work "but that was because I wanted to keep as far as possible from his interpretation."
"We're absolutely different types of comics," Henderson asserted. "He pulls faces for which I have the greatest admiration. I'm funny, but I'm no good at pulling faces."

Lightning Kills Two Sailors

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Freak lightning and torrential rains yesterday killed two sailors, shattered a church steeple, plunged a hospital into darkness and caused other damage throughout the city.
Two unidentified sailors were killed by a lightning bolt at the Oceana Naval Air Station when they sought shelter from the rain beneath a tree.
Norfolk General Hospital ran on a small emergency generator for over an hour and only key points in the hospital had electrical service.
Lightning shattered the steeple of the First Baptist Church, spraying broken slate into the street. Heavy rains caused minor flooding in many areas.

Actor Opposes Estate Reopen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Drew Barrymore is opposing a legal move to reopen his father's estate.
After John Barrymore's 1942 death, his estate was finally closed, listed as insolvent. But Gordon Levey, the estate's executor, is now petitioning for court appointment as administrator to reopen it.
Young John said that he was willing to drop his opposition to Levey's petition if Levey, an attorney, discloses his reasons for filing it. But Levey would not discuss the case.
The young actor's attorney said that the estate may be entitled to some revenue from old Barrymore films now being shown on television.

Mountain Fall Kills Youth

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Four young mountain climbers set out to scale the rugged slopes of 18,000-foot Mt. St. Elias, but only three came back.
Leo Slagge, 22, Albany, Calif., arrived here yesterday for treatment of frostbite and told how 23-year-old David Tolland of Grand Rapids, Mich., was killed when snow piled high by a blizzard collapsed their tent.
Ray D'Arcy of Boston and Ritter Walling of Philadelphia dug away the snow but not quickly enough to save Tolland, who suffocated.
The four were camped at the 12,000-foot level of the peak on the Alaska-Canada border about 275 miles northwest of here.
The climbers made their way over rugged terrain to the fishing village of Yakutat 79 miles away—a trip that took them eight days. There, Slagge was picked up by a Coast Guard plane.
The mountaineers were former members of the Harvard Mountain Climbing Club.

PERU SEEKS LOAN

LIMA (UPI)—Informal sources said today Peru will seek a loan from the U. S. Export-Import Bank to solve the problems created by the fall in prices of Peruvian exports. President Manuel Prado told Congress that Peru hopes to negotiate a foreign loan to bail it out of its current economic difficulties, but he did not indicate the amount or the expected source of the foreign aid.

PANTS BURGLAR CAUGHT

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—Absent-minded Frederico Maggio, 27, stole a pair of pants from the apartment of Herbert Rappaport and then made the mistake of going back to inquire about a rooming vacancy. Rappaport's wife Wanda recognized her husband's trousers on Maggio and called police who arrested him. He confessed.

CONCERTED EFFORT

FRANKEN, Germany (UPI) — The local fire brigade, resorting to desperate remedies for desperately needed funds, circularized the villagers: "If not enough money for the new house can be collected we may find ourselves forced to stage a concert." They got their money.

INDIGESTION

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Indigestion may have killed a big Mackinaw trout found dead on the shore of Middle Piney Lake in Wyoming Game and Fish Department officials said the stomach of the 28 pound fish contained a large ball of fish line, several large lead sinkers, three spinners, one minnow hook, two regular hooks, one swivel and several bones.
