brilliant young pitcher, Joey Jay, had to be taken out of the game because of a strained right elbow. The 22-year-old right-hander, who had won five in succession, was charged with his fourth defeat. He left after the Dodgers had scored twice in the sixth on a double by PeeWee Reese.

Ray Jablonski's two-run homer with two out in the ninth off Redleg right-hander Willard Schmidt gave the Giants another come-from-behind victory. Schmidt, asked to protect a 3-2 lead fished by Frank Robinson's 18th home run, retired the first two batters in the ninth. Then Willie

A's 7, Yanks 3

Almost all the action in the New York-Kansas City game came in the eighth inning, marked by rhabarbs in which players from both sides and A's Manager Harry Craft were ejected by Umpire Bill Summers for protesting decisions. The players were Harry Chitt of the A's and Hank Bauer of the Yanks.

Held to three hits by Ralph Terry and trailing 2-0, the Yanks tied the score in the top of the eighth only to see the A's score five times in their half. Hector Lopez's double with the bases loaded was the big blow. Murry Dickson, who replaced Terry in the eighth, was the winner. Art Ditmar, who succeeded Whitey Ford, was the loser.

Chi 2, Nats 1

Sherman Lollar's two-run homer with two out in the ninth ruined an excellent pitching performance by Washington right-hander Russ Kemmerer and carried the White Sox to their 2-1 triumph. Bob Shaw, who replaced Dick Donovan in the ninth, was the winner. Washington 001 000 000—1 5 1

SF To Stay In Stadium

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants will have to play in Seals Stadium at least until July, 1959.
Contractor Charles L. Harney said he has "all but abandoned" hope of finishing the Giants' new 45,000 seat stadium at Candlestick Point by April 15, the day the major leagues open the 1959 season.
"I'd say July 15 looks about right, provided we can wind up the paper work in the next few days," Harney said.
That means the Giants will have to start negotiating with Paul Fagan, owner of the Seals Stadium, in the hope of using the old ballpark until midsummer next year.
Fagan, who is now in Hawaii, has indicated he will demolish the 23,000-seat park when the Giants are through with it.

ROY DEVISES RULES
CLEVELAND (AP)—Maybe the college and professional football rules magazines ought to look up 12-year-old Henry Nelson Ross II of Cleveland. He might be able to do something about complicated football rules. The lad was given a game with instructions so that two players could play. He became so adept at the game "Pigskin" that he ran out of challenging playmates. He then devised a set of rules so that one boy could play the game. Henry mailed his one-player rules to Robert B. M. Barton, president of the game company. Henry was told his one-player rules now are part of the game. He also received $100 from the company.

Deorsey Defends Club Shift

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If Congress is bent on keeping the last-place Senators in Washington, then it should be forced to subsidize them, according to attorney C. Leo Deorsey.
Deorsey made the proposal before the Senate anti-trust subcommittee Tuesday in defending the right of club owners to shift a franchise from one city to another.

A bill exempting baseball and other sports from federal anti-trust laws already had been approved by the House and the subcommittee is considering it now.
The subcommittee summoned Deorsey, a former director of the Washington club, to explain his role in recent discussions about transferring the Senators to Minneapolis.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) has offered an amendment that would lift the blanket exemption unless the Washington ball club remains in the nation's capital.
Deorsey, a frequent dissenter against Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick during his 18 months on the Senators' board of directors, claimed the Mundt amendment failed to say "who's going to make up the losses."

He said that if Congress insists on keeping the team here, then "it should suffer the consequences" and subsidize any deficit.
Deorsey made no bones about the fact he was the board member who suggested that club president Clark Griffith find out from other club owners whether they would agree to a shift of the Washington team.
The Washington club, Deorsey said, had been guaranteed a million attendance figure each season for three years in Minneapolis.

If that offer had been accepted, he added, it would increase the club's revenues by two million dollars and place it in a far better position to purchase players it needs.

Wrong Man Dead Says Ex-Phil Star

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—A man who claimed to be ex-major league ball player John Arthur Rowan is being buried in Dayton today while a retired Dayton, Ohio, mailman insists "there must be some mistake."
"I don't know who that fellow is," says the Dayton ex-mailman, insisting he is the authentic John Arthur Rowan, who played major league baseball with Detroit, Cincinnati and Philadelphia from 1906 through 1914. "But he is the real man, why isn't he being buried in Newcastle, Pa., along with the rest of his family?"

The identification of the Detroit man was made first by the Detroit Tigers and then by Win Clark, secretary-treasurer of the Association of Professional Ball Players of America. Clark said in Los Angeles that the Detroit man had received checks for "needy ex-players" for "several years" and that he had been advised Tuesday of the death.

But the still very much alive Rowan in Dayton told United Press International: "That association better check into what they been sending that fellow. I don't know who he is but he isn't a member of my family."
Rowan gave his birthdate as June 16, 1896, as it is listed in the Encyclopedia of Baseball, and then recited off his career exactly as the books shows it. The book also shows he was born in Newcastle, Pa.

"I'm not needy and so I never applied for any checks from any organization," he said. "Since those stories appeared out of Detroit I've been getting calls all day but I'm not mad at anybody."
In Detroit, meanwhile, the body of the man who has been recognized by the Association of Professional Ball Players of America as John Arthur Rowan goes to its final resting place in Mt. Oliver Cemetery.

Jets Bounce Royals Twice

United Press International
The Columbus Jets, taking their hopes for a fourth-place finish in the International League on the road with them, are off to a running start against the northern clubs.
Columbus bounced the league-leading Montreal Royals twice Tuesday night, 4-3 and 7-2, to take a half-game edge over Miami for the fourth and final playoff spot. The Jets scored twice in the seventh inning of the short first game and then rallied for five runs in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Joe Gibbon and Laurin Pepper were the winning pitchers for Columbus as the Royals' first-place lead over idle Toronto was cut to two games.
Elsewhere Tuesday, the cellar-dwelling Buffalo Bisons enjoyed a 14-6 walloping over Miami; Dick Ricketts went all the way and yielded only four hits to lead Rochester to an 8-2 decision over Havana; and the Richmond-Toronto game was postponed by rain.

NEW SKI STAR
SNOW BASIN, Utah (AP)—Beverly Anderson of Mullan, Idaho looks like a strong contender for a berth on the United States Olympic Ski team in 1960. She swept to victory in every event of the National Alpine Ski Championships here.

Wilkinson Denies Charge

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma University football coach, today denied National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell's "wondering out loud" report that Wilkinson had tried to buy into the Chicago Cardinals professional football club.
Wilkinson came home Tuesday after testifying before a Senate Anti-trust subcommittee in Washington where he objected to special legislation for professional sports.

Bell said he wondered how the Oklahoma coach could condemn the pros after trying to buy into the Cardinals.
Wilkinson denied he had gone to Walter Wolfner, Cardinal owner, with the offer to coach the team if he could buy into it for 25 per cent and move the club to Houston, Tex.
"I have never at any time talked to Mr. Wolfner about coaching the Chicago Cardinals," Wilkinson told reporters.

Becoming Sports Capital

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California has become so "major league conscious" that big-time football and baseball franchises in Los Angeles and San Francisco aren't enough.
Now that these cities have proved they can support major league teams in a better manner than that to which they had been accustomed, they want:
1. A National Basketball Association franchise.
2. A National Hockey League franchise.

And, just like in baseball and football, they are laying firm grounds to acquire the franchises. San Francisco is ready now for both basketball and hockey with the Cow Palace, seating between 14,000 and 18,000 fans—without a single post to obscure the view.
Los Angeles is building an edifice that will handle just as many people and it should be ready by 1960.

And that's when the new franchises will come.
NO TROUBLE ANTICIPATED
There will be no trouble gaining the franchises, because the club owners in both basketball and hockey can read—and they have seen the success of both the football and baseball teams in the West. And transportation has proven no problem at all.
Mayor George Christopher openly made a bid for a hockey franchise the other day—but that was not the start. Behind the scenes the work has been going on for more than a year to coordinate the removal of hockey and basketball franchises to Los Angeles and San Francisco when the Los Angeles building is ready for occupancy.
In football last year, San Francisco Forty Niners sold out for five of their six home games in the 60,000-seat Kezar Stadium. This year they have an advance season ticket sale around the 35,000 mark. In Los Angeles, the also-ran Rams played to crowds of 65,000 to 90,000 nearly every game.

RECORD ATTENDANCE
In baseball this year, the Dodgers in Los Angeles probably will set a National League attendance record—with a last-place team.
And in San Francisco, the Giants have been selling out Little Seals Stadium with its 23,000 capacity.
There is no doubt that pro basketball would do just about the same capacity in both cities. Hockey may be a bit different for a few reasons. Hockey is not exactly the national past-time in California. In fact, probably not more than 10 per cent of the populace ever has seen the game. But it is such a fascinating sport that sports-minded people of the state soon would take to it and in the end it probably would be playing to sell-outs, too.

SF After Cagers, Hockey

Summer Cagers Close To Finish

The Fatmen maintained their Klamath Falls summer basketball league lead Tuesday night on Pelican Court despite a 21-18 loss handed them by the Oregon Foods quint. They avoided a tie for the top spot by whipping Hal's Sport Shop 21-12 before the evening was over.
The Hal's five stayed even by dealing Henley a 20-9 trimming in their second game. Henley also broke even as they downed Tulelake 20-17.
Tule came out 1-1, as they blasted Bell's Hardware 21-8. Bell's lost both of their games as the Oregon Food team dumped them 20-9.
Adams of the Tulelakers was top scorer of the night with 11. The next and last scheduled meet of the season will be held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Klamath Union gym.
